INSULATION

It is very (obvious, important, exceptional, worth) to insulate homes to prevent the loss of (draughts, heat, pets, noise). Heat can be lost through many parts of a house and this not only (keeps, wastes, costs, leaks) heat and energy but adds to our fuel bills. The amount of fuel used can be reduced by (keeping, insulating, insulation, closing) the home properly.

(No, Most, All, Warm) heat is lost through walls and insulating these can save a lot of money each year on a family's (energy, water, rates, food) costs.

Insulating walls can be expensive and is a specialised job which should be undertaken by (keen, expensive, professional, punctual) workmen.

Wherever possible the loft of a house should also be insulated to further (keep, maintain, reduce, help) heat loss.

Punctuate the following sentences with inverted commas etc.
Rewrite the sentences on the lines.
