Section A: Commentary Questions

Answer either Question 1 or Question 2.

- 1 Read the passage and answer the questions.

Vibídius turned to Bálatro:

"If we don't drink him out of house and home we'll die in vain."

And he called for larger tankards. At this a ghastly pallor appeared on the host's face; he detested strenuous drinkers, whether because their scurilous humour gets out of hand or because a fiery wine dulls the palate's edge.

Vibídius and Bálatro proceeded to tip whole jug-fulls of wine into mugs of the type made in Allíafe. The rest followed suit except for the host's clients, who refrained from hitting the bottle.

'Then a lamprey arrived, stretched on a dish, with prawns swimming around it, at which his lordship remarked "This one was caught while she was pregnant; after spawning the flesh is inferior.

The sauce has the following ingredients: Venafran oil (the first pressing of course), liquamen (from the guts of the Spanish mackerel), wine that is five years old, but grown in Italy (this to be added in the course of boiling; after boiling, Chian is better than anything else), white pepper, and one mustn't forget the vinegar, made from fermented Methymnaean grape.

/ pioneered the practice of boiling sharp elecampane and green rockets with the sauce. Curtillus uses sea-urchins – unwashed, for the liquor provided by the shell-fish is better than brine."

Horace, Satires 2.8 lines 39-53

[trans. N. Rudd, Horace: Satires and Epistles and Persius: Satires; Penguin]

- (a) Briefly describe the event at which Vibídius is talking to Bálatro. [10]

- (b) To what extent do you think 'his lordship' (line 11) is showing off in this passage?
In your answer you should refer to Horace's use of language. [20]

You are reminded that marks are awarded for the quality of written communication of your answer.

- (c) To what extent do you think that Horace was sorry to miss the event?
In your answer you should refer to other Satires of Horace you have read. [25]

You are reminded that marks are awarded for the quality of written communication of your answer.

Do not answer this question if you have already answered Question 1.

2 Read the passage and answer the questions.

Pliny to Trajan

While I was visiting another part of the province, a widespread fire broke out in Nicomedia which destroyed many private houses and also two public buildings (the Elder Citizens' Club and the Temple of Isis) although a road runs between them. It was fanned by the strong breeze in the early stages, but it would not have spread so far but for the apathy of the populace; for it is generally agreed that people stood watching the disaster without bestirring themselves to do anything to stop it. Apart from this, there is not a single fire engine anywhere in the town, not a bucket nor any apparatus for fighting a fire. These will now be provided on my instructions.

Pliny, Letters 10.33

[trans. B. Radice, The letters of the younger Pliny; Penguin]

- (a) Briefly explain who Trajan was and Pliny's purpose in writing this letter. [10]
- (b) How does Pliny use language to achieve what he wants? How successful was he in persuading Trajan? In your answer you should make reference to Trajan's reply. [20]

You are reminded that marks are awarded for the quality of written communication of your answer.

- (c) To what extent do you feel that Roman society relied on people such as Pliny? You should refer to your knowledge of Roman society including the letters of Pliny that you have read. [25]

You are reminded that marks are awarded for the quality of written communication of your answer.

[Section A Total: 55]

Section B: Essays

Answer one question.

Start your answer on a new page.

You are reminded that marks are awarded for the quality of written communication of your answer.

3 Discuss the advantages and disadvantages of being a freedman in Roman society.

In your answer, you should:

- consider who freedmen were in Roman society;
- include analysis of the advantages and disadvantages of being a freedman;
- support your answer with evidence from the works of at least two of Juvenal, Pliny and Petronius.

[45]

4 According to Juvenal, life in Rome was very dangerous. What were the dangers of living in Rome, and to what extent do you think that Juvenal was telling the truth?

In your answer, you should:

- consider a range of dangers of life in Rome;
- include some analysis of how reliable Juvenal's information is;
- support your answer with evidence from Juvenal's Satires.

[45]

5 'The Romans were obsessed with money and wealth.'

To what extent do you agree with this statement?

In your answer, you should:

- consider how the Romans displayed their wealth;
- include analysis of the Romans' use of money;
- support your answer with evidence from the works of at least two of Juvenal, Pliny, Petronius and Horace.
