Composed Upon Westminster Bridge Sept. 2, 1802

Earth has not any thing to shew more fair:
 Dull would he be of soul who could pass by
 A sight so touching in its majesty:
 This City now doth like a garment wear
 The beauty of the morning; silent, bare,
 Ships, towers, domes, theatres, and temples lie
 Open unto the fields, and to the sky;
 All bright and glittering in the smokeless air.
 Never did sun more beautifully steep
 In his first splendor valley, rock, or hill;
 Ne'er saw I, never felt, a calm so deep!
 The river glideth at his own sweet will:
 Dear God! the very houses seem asleep;
 And all that mighty heart is lying still!

Christina Rossetti

- 2 ‘A horror of great darkness at broad noon—’

Discuss ways in which Rossetti presents powerful emotions in ‘Good Friday’.

In your answer, explore the effects of language, imagery and verse form, and consider how this poem relates to other poems by Rossetti that you have studied. [30]

Good Friday

Am I a stone and not a sheep
 That I can stand, O Christ, beneath Thy Cross,
 To number drop by drop Thy Blood's slow loss,
 And yet not weep?

Not so those women loved 5
 Who with exceeding grief lamented Thee;
 Not so fallen Peter weeping bitterly;
 Not so the thief was moved;

Not so the Sun and Moon 10
 Which hid their faces in a starless sky,
 A horror of great darkness at broad noon—
 I, only I.

Yet give not o'er,
 But seek Thy sheep, true Shepherd of the flock;
 Greater than Moses, turn and look once more 15
 And smite a rock.

Wilfred Owen

- 3 'And thud! flump! thud! down the steep steps came thumping
 And sploshing in the flood, deluging muck,
 The sentry's body ...'

Discuss ways in which Owen presents the experience of trench warfare in 'The Sentry'.

In your answer, explore the effects of language, imagery and verse form, and consider how this poem relates to other poems by Owen that you have studied. [30]

The Sentry

We'd found an old Boche dug-out, and he knew,
 And gave us hell; for shell on frantic shell
 Lit full on top, but never quite burst through.
 Rain, guttering down in waterfalls of slime,
 Kept slush waist-high and rising hour by hour,
 And choked the steps too thick with clay to climb.
 What murk of air remained stank old, and sour
 With fumes from whizz-bangs, and the smell of men
 Who'd lived there years, and left their curse in the den,
 If not their corpses... 5

There we herded from the blast
 Of whizz-bangs; but one found our door at last, —
 Buffeting eyes and breath, snuffing the candles,
 And thud! flump! thud! down the steep steps came thumping
 And sploshing in the flood, deluging muck,
 The sentry's body; then his rifle, handles
 Of old Boche bombs, and mud in ruck on ruck.
 We dredged it up, for dead, until he whined,
 'O sir — my eyes — I'm blind, — I'm blind, — I'm blind.' 10

Coaxing, I held a flame against his lids
 And said if he could see the least blurred light
 He was not blind; in time they'd get all right.
 'I can't,' he sobbed. Eyeballs, huge-bulged like squids',
 Watch my dreams still, — yet I forgot him there
 In posting Next for duty, and sending a scout 20
 To beg a stretcher somewhere, and flound'ring about
 To other posts under the shrieking air.
 Those other wretches, how they bled and spewed,
 And one who would have drowned himself for good, —
 I try not to remember these things now. 25

Let Dread hark back for one word only: how,
 Half-listening to that sentry's moans and jumps,
 And the wild chattering of his shivered teeth,
 Renewed most horribly whenever crumps
 Pummelled the roof and slogged the air beneath, —
 Through the dense din, I say, we heard him shout 30
 'I see your lights!' — But ours had long gone out. 35

Robert Frost

- 4 'We wear our fingers rough with handling them.
Oh, just another kind of outdoor game,
One on a side.'

Discuss Frost's treatment of work in 'Mending Wall'.

In your answer, explore the effects of language, imagery and verse form, and consider how this poem relates to other poems by Frost that you have studied. [30]

Mending Wall

Something there is that doesn't love a wall,
That sends the frozen-ground-swell under it
And spills the upper boulders in the sun,
And makes gaps even two can pass abreast.
The work of hunters is another thing: 5
I have come after them and made repair
Where they have left not one stone on a stone,
But they would have the rabbit out of hiding,
To please the yelping dogs. The gaps I mean,
No one has seen them made or heard them made, 10
But at spring mending-time we find them there.
I let my neighbour know beyond the hill;
And on a day we meet to walk the line
And set the wall between us once again.
We keep the wall between us as we go. 15
To each the boulders that have fallen to each.
And some are loaves and some so nearly balls
We have to use a spell to make them balance:
'Stay where you are until our backs are turned!'
We wear our fingers rough with handling them. 20
Oh, just another kind of outdoor game,
One on a side. It comes to little more:
There where it is we do not need the wall:
He is all pine and I am apple orchard.
My apple trees will never get across 25
And eat the cones under his pines, I tell him.
He only says, 'Good fences make good neighbors.'
Spring is the mischief in me, and I wonder
If I could put a notion in his head:
'Why do they make good neighbors? Isn't it 30
Where there are cows? But here there are no cows.
Before I built a wall I'd ask to know
What I was walling in or walling out,
And to whom I was like to give offense.

Something there is that doesn't love a wall,
That wants it down.' I could say 'Elves' to him,
But it's not elves exactly, and I'd rather
He said it for himself. I see him there,
Bringing a stone grasped firmly by the top
In each hand, like an old-stone savage armed.
He moves in darkness as it seems to me,
Not of woods only and the shade of trees.
He will not go behind his father's saying,
And he likes having thought of it so well
He says again, 'Good fences make good neighbors.'
