Questions 1.1 to 1.5

Read the following article and answer Questions 1.1 to 1.5 which follow.

Provocan un atentado ecológico en Teruel al soltar 13.000 visones

Unos desconocidos 'liberaron' a animales capaces de arrasar el ecosistema de la zona

ZARAGOZA – Los vecinos de la localidad turolense de La Puebla de Valverde se pasaron ayer todo el día cazando visones. No es que estos vistosos animales se críen en sus montes y que se hubiera abierto la veda. La causa de la cacería se debió a que unos desconocidos forzaron, de madrugada, la valla de protección de una granja y abrieron todas las jaulas donde había unos 20.000 visones, de los que se escaparon casi 13.000.

El Servicio de Protección de la Naturaleza de la Guardia Civil investiga los hechos, que pueden ocasionar graves daños ecológicos, pues buena parte de los animales se adentraron en un coto de caza próximo.

Los expertos advierten el daño ecológico que esto puede suponer, pues el visón es un depredador que ataca a otros animales de los que se alimenta. «Se meten en los agujeros y madrigueras como los hurones, atacan a los conejos, las perdices y otras especies. Cuando tengan hambre lo harán».

Uno de los empleados que duerme en la granja, ubicada a las afueras del pueblo, se despertó pasadas las 3.00 de la madrugada al escuchar los ladridos de los perros. Avisó a los dueños del criadero de visones y pronto se dio la voz de alarma. El alcalde de la localidad, Alejandro Cercós, difundió un bando en el que solicitaba ayuda a los vecinos al tiempo que les indicaba las precauciones que debían adoptar.

Vecinos, Guardia Civil, empleados y dueños de la granja, provistos de palos, redes, guantes y otros utensilios y acompañados por algunos perros, se dedicaron a la caza y captura de los visones.

Las carreras tras los visones se sucedían por doquier: unos eran capturados a mano tras algún matorral o en algún agujero mientras que otros caían como moscas en cazamariposas. Los animales, acostumbrados a estar en cautividad, andaban despistados por las inmediaciones de la granja. Sus perseguidores consiguieron devolver a sus jaulas, sin daño aparente, unos 6.000 visones.

Questions 1.16 to 1.20

Read the following article and answer Questions 1.16 to 1.20 which follow.

Greenpeace aborda un barco con madera de Brasil para denunciar las talas ilegales

Salvar el Amazonas desde Marín

Treinta activistas de Greenpeace rompieron ayer la monótona descarga de madera del barco «Wouri» en el puerto de Marín. Llegaron a media mañana en dos furgonetas y, sin previo aviso, abordaron el mercante. En pocos minutos, sobre cubierta desplegaron siete grandes hinchables que representaban otros tantos animales salvajes. Comenzaba así su campaña en defensa de la selva amazónica.

Siete grandes hinchables, representando un oso, un ciervo, un jaguar, un tigre, un lobo, un orangután y un elefante, simbolizaron durante dos horas las regiones del mundo donde aún existen bosques sin explotar por el hombre. Ése fue el golpe de efecto utilizado por los ecologistas que ayer asaltaron el Wouri en Marín. Tras subirse a la madera que cargaba el mercante, algunos activistas pintaron la leyenda «ilegal» sobre los palés, mientras otros portaban pancartas en portugués, inglés y castellano. «España, destruye la selva amazónica», rezaba una de las consignas.

Pero, «isto, que ten que ver con Marín?», se preguntaban curiosos muchos camioneros, pescadores y obreros en la explanada del puerto. Mucho, según Greenpeace. La selección de Marín no fue arbitraria. Los ecologistas detectaron descargas de madera sospechosa y decidieron actuar.

Soto denunció que el cargamento del Wouri consistía en madera talada de forma presuntamente ilegal en Brasil. Su comercialización en España por la firma marinense Cointer suponía, para los ecologistas, un «robo» a la economía y a la biodiversidad de ese país. El 80% de la madera talada en Brasil es ilegal y la mayoría se destina a Europa. La supresión de su comercialización aliviaría el Amazonas, según Greenpeace.

Greenpeace justificó sus acusaciones contra la carga del Wouri con datos de la organización en Sudamérica sobre la empresa brasileña Estancia Alecrim, de Santarem, suministradora de las 3.760 toneladas de madera del buque. «Éste es un acto de denuncia», espetó el portavoz ecologista. «Queremos hacer una llamada al consumidor y a los empresarios sobre qué tipo de comercio estamos haciendo con la madera que consumimos», añadió.

El control permanente de los agentes de tres cuerpos de seguridad distintos intentaba poner una nota intimidatoria.

Apuntaron las matrículas de los coches, hablaron en susurros y poco más. Incluso llegaron a intercambiar saludos y conversación con los activistas de Greenpeace.

La policía estuvo en la explanada desde el primer momento. Los agentes, entre confusos y expectantes, no sabían a qué atenerse ante la acción ecologista. Incluso acudió el comisario jefe de Pontevedra, pero parecía tan desconcertado como sus subordinados, hablando por el móvil y dando vueltas. Los activistas lograron la autorización del capitán para seguir con su trabajo. Este permiso pareció desarmar a los agentes. No hubo denuncias, ni detenidos.
