Candidates are reminded of the synoptic nature of this Unit. Answers are required to demonstrate understanding of the processes of historical continuity, development and change across the full breadth of the period studied.

Theme: English Government and the Church 1066-1216

- 1 Assess the view that reasons for rebellion remained the same in the period from 1066 to 1216. [60]
- 2 'They were never fully in control of the English Church.' How far do you agree with this view of the archbishops of Canterbury in the period from 1066 to 1216? [60]
- 3 How far was the impact of the papal reform movement in England from 1066 to 1216 characterised more by change than by continuity? [60]

Theme: Rebellion and Disorder under the Tudors 1485-1603

- 4 'Tudor rebellions were essentially the responses of local communities to local grievances.' How far do you agree with this view on the causes of Tudor rebellions? [60]
- 5 'English rebellions were far more successful than those in Ireland.' How far do you agree with this view of the period from 1485 to 1603? [60]
- 6 Assess the role of the nobility in maintaining political stability in Tudor England. [60]

Theme: England's Changing Relations with Foreign Powers 1485-1603

- 7 'The aims and methods of Tudor foreign policy were characterised more by change than by continuity.' How far do you agree with this judgement? [60]
- 8 Which presented the greater threat to England's security in the period from 1485 to 1603: Scotland or France? Explain your answer. [60]
- 9 Assess the ways in which Spain affected English domestic affairs during the period from 1485 to 1603. [60]

Theme: The Catholic Reformation 1492-1610

- 10 'The success of the Catholic Reformation in the period from 1492 to 1610 depended mainly on secular rulers (emperors, kings and princes).' How far do you agree with this view? [60]
- 11 To what extent was the Catholic Reformation more concerned with continuity than change in the period from 1492 to 1610? [60]
- 12 'The Inquisition and Index did little to advance the Catholic Reformation in the period from 1492 to 1610.' How far do you agree with this view? [60]

Theme: The Development of the Nation State: France 1498-1610

- 13 'The nobility strengthened rather than weakened royal power in France in the period from 1498 to 1610.' How far do you agree with this view? [60]
- 14 To what extent did the French government overcome its economic problems in the period from 1498 to 1610? [60]
- 15 'The Catholic Church held back the development of the French nation state in the years from 1498 to 1610.' How far do you agree with this view? [60]

Theme: The Ascendancy of France 1610-1715

- 16 'The development of absolute monarchy in France owed more to Louis XIII than Louis XIV.' How far do you agree with this judgement? [60]
- 17 Assess which minister contributed most to France becoming a major European power in the seventeenth century: Richelieu, Mazarin or Colbert. [60]
- 18 Which social groups in France gained most and which lost most during the period from 1610 to 1715? Explain your answer. [60]
