INTRODUCTION

This marking scheme was used by WJEC for the 2016 examination. It was finalised after detailed discussion at examiners' conferences by all the examiners involved in the assessment. The conference was held shortly after the paper was taken so that reference could be made to the full range of candidates' responses, with photocopied scripts forming the basis of discussion. The aim of the conference was to ensure that the marking scheme was interpreted and applied in the same way by all examiners.

It is hoped that this information will be of assistance to centres but it is recognised at the same time that, without the benefit of participation in the examiners' conference, teachers may have different views on certain matters of detail or interpretation.

WJEC regrets that it cannot enter into any discussion or correspondence about this marking scheme.

Marking guidance

Deciding on the mark point within a level

The first stage for an examiner is to decide the overall level and then whether the work represents high, mid or low performance within the level.

Quality of written communication

This issue is determined by the quality of written communication as described in the level descriptor in which the answer has been placed. Examiners should place the response at the appropriate sub-level. If the quality of the written communication descriptor is warranted, then the highest mark within that sub-level should be awarded.

ASSESSMENT GRID FOR SECTION A ESSAYS

Target: AO1

Total mark: 40

Focus: Recall, selection and deployment of appropriate historical knowledge; demonstrate understanding of the past through explanation, analysis and arriving at substantiated judgements about key concepts

Level 1

Generally at this level, the candidate's response will be brief and / or irrelevant to the question set. They may recall some historical knowledge and they will show some accuracy in spelling, punctuation and grammar

Award 0 for incorrect or incomplete answers.

Level 1	Assessment Objective 1(a)	Assessment Objective 1(b)
	(1 mark)	(1-3 marks)
	The candidate is able to recall some historical knowledge and there is some accuracy in spelling, punctuation and grammar.	Low Level 1: 1 mark The answer will be limited to generalised comments on the topic with little understanding of the concept set in the question and is generally irrelevant. High Level 1: 2 -3 marks The answer will be limited to some comments on the topic with little understanding of the concept set in the question.

Level 2

Generally at this level, candidates will show evidence of understanding in their explanation of the key concept set in the question. They will show evidence of understanding through limited analysis and explanation. They will offer some judgement about the key concepts. They will be able to recall, select and deploy some relevant historical knowledge appropriately. The candidates will convey meaning with some clarity and with appropriate vocabulary, although there may be errors in spelling, punctuation and grammar.

Level 2	Assessment Objective 1(a)	Assessment Objective 1(b)
	(2-3 marks)	(4-11 marks)
	Low Level 2: 2 marks The candidate is able to recall, select and deploy some general knowledge of the period with some appropriate vocabulary, spelling, punctuation and grammar. High Level 2: 3 marks The candidate is able to recall, select and deploy general knowledge of the key issues in the period set with mostly appropriate vocabulary, spelling, punctuation and grammar.	Low Level 2: 4-7 marks The answer will begin to show some evidence of limited understanding and explanation of factors. It will offer some comments about the relationships between the key issues and features of the historical period. The answer will be generally focussed on the topic area and has some basic explanation of something in the question; these answers may well be a narrative account with little attempt to provide a judgement on the question set. High Level 2: 8-11 marks The answer will begin to focus on the set question and will show some limited analysis and explanation of the concept set in the question. It will offer some judgement about the relationship between the key historical features and characteristics in relation to the question set. The answer will be relevant and valid but with a weak or sketchy focus on the key concept in the question; a largely topic based response with little specific judgement offered on the question set.

Level 3

Generally at this level, candidates will show evidence of understanding through analysis and explanation. They will reach a judgement about the key concepts supported by the arguments they deploy. Candidates will recall, select and deploy relevant historical knowledge and will convey meaning clearly and with appropriate vocabulary, organisation and spelling, punctuation and grammar.

Level 3	Assessment Objective 1(a)	Assessment Objective 1(b)
	(4-6 marks)	(12-16 marks)
	Low Level 3: 4 marks The candidate is able to recall, select and deploy some relevant historical knowledge with some appropriate vocabulary, spelling, punctuation and grammar. Mid Level 3: 5 marks The candidate is able to recall, select and deploy some relevant historical knowledge with reasonable organisation and with appropriate vocabulary, spelling, punctuation and grammar.	Low Level 3: 12 marks The answer has some focus on the key concept in the question set and is able to show evidence of understanding by valid analysis and explanation. The candidate is able to offer some valid discussion about the relationships between key features and characteristics in relation to the key concept set in the question such as causation, consequence, continuity, change and significance. The answer may well be a largely narrative account but with some attempt to provide a judgement on the question set. The judgement, though present at some point in the response, tends not to be supported by the argument being made though it may well have factual support. Mid Level 3: 13-14 marks The answer has an appropriate focus on the key concept in the question set and is able to show evidence of understanding by valid analysis and explanation. The candidate is able to offer a valid discussion about the relationships between key features and characteristics in relation to the key concept set in the question such as causation, consequence, continuity, change and significance. The answer may well contain some narrative but there will be an attempt to provide supporting arguments to reach a judgement on the question set. The judgement, though present at some point in the response, tends to be partially supported by the argument being made in the response. The responses may follow a listing approach but there will be some focus and judgement on the key concept in the question set.

	High Level 3: 6 marks The candidate is able to recall, select and deploy generally relevant historical knowledge and the response will be clearly expressed with appropriate language and structure and appropriate spelling, punctuation and grammar.	High Level 3: 15-16 marks The answer has a clear focus on the key concept in the question set and is able to show evidence of understanding by valid analysis and explanation. The candidate is able to offer a valid and broadly balanced discussion about the relationships between key features and characteristics in relation to the key concept set in the question such as causation, consequence, continuity, change and significance. The answer may well contain some narrative but there will be an attempt to provide supporting arguments to reach a broadly balanced judgement on the question set. The judgement, though present at some point in the response, is generally supported by the argument being made in the response. These responses may well discuss the key issue in the question set when coming to a judgement by considering factors for and against, often as two half essays.

Level 4

Generally for this level, candidates will show understanding through analysis and explanation to reach a substantiated and mostly sustained judgement about the key concepts. They will recall, select and deploy accurate, relevant and precise historical knowledge. Candidates will communicate accurately and fluently with appropriate spelling, punctuation and grammar.

Level 4	Assessment Objective 1(a)	Assessment Objective 1(b)
	(7-10 marks)	(17-22 marks)
	Low Level 4: 7 marks The candidate is able to recall, select and deploy mostly accurate, relevant and precise historical knowledge; the answer shows organisation, appropriate language and structure and appropriate spelling, punctuation and grammar. Mid Level 4: 8 marks The candidate is able to recall, select and deploy mostly accurate, relevant and precise historical knowledge; the answer communicates clearly with appropriate language and structure and appropriate spelling, punctuation and grammar.	Low Level 4: 17-18 marks The answer has a focus on the key concept in the question set and is able to show evidence of understanding by valid analysis and explanation. The candidate is able to offer a valid and meaningful discussion about the relationships between key features and characteristics in relation to the key concept set in the question such as causation, consequence, continuity, change and significance. The answer will include specific supporting arguments to reach a substantiated judgement on the question set so that the judgement is substantially supported by the arguments being made in the response. These responses will demonstrate valid analysis and explanation of the key issues to reach a substantiated judgement regarding the key concepts though there may be some lack of focus in sustaining the judgement. Mid Level 4: 19-20 marks The answer has a focus on the key concept in the question set and is able to show evidence of understanding by valid analysis and explanation. The candidate is able to offer a valid and balanced discussion about the relationships between key features and characteristics in relation to the key concept set in the question such as causation, consequence, continuity, change and significance. The answer will include specific supporting arguments to reach a substantiated and sustained judgement on the question set. The judgement is substantially supported by the arguments being made in the response. These responses will demonstrate valid analysis and explanation of the key issues to reach a substantiated and sustained judgement regarding the key concepts.

	High Level 4: 9-10 marks The candidate is able to recall, select and deploy accurate, relevant and precise historical knowledge; the answer communicates accurately, clearly and fluently, using appropriate language and structure, using spelling, punctuation and grammar generally with a high degree of accuracy.	High Level 4: 21-22 marks The answer has a focus on the key concept in the question set and is able to show evidence of a thorough understanding by valid analysis and explanation. The candidate is able to offer a valid and balanced discussion about the relationships between key features and characteristics in relation to the key concept set in the question such as causation, consequence, continuity, change and significance. The answer will include specific supporting arguments to reach a substantiated and sustained judgement on the question set. The judgement is substantially supported by the arguments being made in the response. These responses will demonstrate valid analysis and explanation of the key issues to reach a substantiated, supported and sustained judgement regarding the key concepts.

Level 5

Generally for this level, candidates will show understanding through analysis and explanation to reach a substantiated and fully sustained judgement about the key concepts. They will recall, select and deploy accurate, relevant and precise historical knowledge. Candidates will communicate accurately and fluently using appropriate language and structure, and using spelling, punctuation and grammar with a high degree of accuracy

	(11-12 marks)	(23-28 marks)
	Low Level 5: 11 marks The candidate is able to recall, select and deploy accurate, relevant and precise historical knowledge. Answers will be fluent and well-organised with a high degree of accuracy in the use of spelling, punctuation and grammar, and showing appropriate language and structure. High Level 5: 12 marks The candidate is able to recall, select and deploy accurate, relevant and precise historical knowledge is recalled, selected and deployed. Answers will be lucid and coherent, fluent and well-organised with a high degree of accuracy in the use of spelling, punctuation and grammar and demonstrating appropriate language and structure.	Low Level 5: 23-25 marks The answer has throughout a specific focus on discussing the key concepts in the question set. The answer will include supporting arguments covering most of the period set in the question. Understanding is further shown through well focussed analysis and evaluation of the key features and characteristics of the historical period which leads to a substantiated, sustained and integrated judgement regarding the key concepts such as causation, consequence, continuity, change and significance. High Level 5: 26-28 marks The answer sustains a specific focus on discussing the key concepts in the question set. The answer will include supporting arguments covering the whole of the period set in the question. Understanding is further shown through well focussed analysis and evaluation of the key features and characteristics of the historical period which leads to a substantiated, sustained and integrated judgement regarding the key concepts such as causation, consequence, continuity, change and significance.

INDICATIVE CONTENT FOR SECTION A QUESTION 1

NOTE: This content is not prescriptive and candidates are not expected to mention all the material referred to below. Each answer will be assessed on its merits according to the generic mark scheme as well as the indicative content.

'Napoleon III was a progressive reformer at home but a reckless opportunist abroad.' Discuss.

Candidates are expected to consider and debate, over and within the given period, the full range of issues that affected the key concept in the question – in this case, the regime of Napoleon III. They will consider a range of key concepts such as causation, consequence, continuity, change and significance where appropriate and also the relationship between the key characteristics and features associated with the issue in the question.

Candidates will offer an analysis and evaluation of Napoleon's domestic reforms and foreign policy in the context of progression and opportunism. In order to reach a substantiated judgement about his domestic reforms and foreign policy candidates may consider and debate a range of issues such as:

- the domestic reforms were designed to heal the divisions in French society and to promote economic and social well being
- Napoleon was an idealist who genuinely believed in his attempts to secure social justice
- arguably however, the political reforms were not progressive enough because they did not alter the basic features of the regime. He may have created the impression that he wanted to extend political freedom yet his constitution was a compromise
- the social and economic reforms were merely paternalistic palliatives, which suggests that they were not progressive
- the liberalisation and welfare policies were only skin deep and there were only limited positive economic achievements at home. His economic policy did increase prosperity but it was ultimately only skin deep. The paternalism of the regime was little more than sentiment
- for some the Second Empire represented repression, reaction and stagnation and this represented a hiatus rather than progression in the development of France
- his adventures in foreign policy were an attempt to build upon the Napoleonic tradition and could be seen as reckless opportunism and secret diplomacy e.g. he supported Piedmont in 1859 and then abandoned her; he lacked a sense of realism and perspective
- his record was badly damaged by the collapse of the Mexican adventure and his failure to strengthen the French position before the Franco-Prussian war
- it can be argued that his regime was undermined by a series of ill thought out policies both at home and abroad.

INDICATIVE CONTENT FOR SECTION A QUESTION 2

NOTE: This content is not prescriptive and candidates are not expected to mention all the material referred to below. Each answer will be assessed on its merits according to the generic mark scheme as well as the indicative content.

'The reforms initiated in the period 1906-1914 were far too little and far too late to prevent the collapse of the Tsarist regime in 1917.' How far do you agree with this judgement?

Candidates are expected to consider and debate, over and within the given period, the full range of issues that affected the key concept in the question – in this case, the impact of the reforms initiated in the period 1906-1914 in the context of the collapse of the regime in 1917. They will consider a range of key concepts such as causation, consequence, continuity, change and significance where appropriate and also the relationship between the key characteristics and features associated with the issue in the question.

Candidates will offer an analysis and evaluation of the reforms initiated between 1906-1914 in the context of other factors that caused the collapse of the regime. In order to reach a substantiated judgement about the Tsarist regime, candidates may consider and debate a range of issues such as:

- the extent of the reforms of the period 1906-1914 including land reform; educational opportunities and the Duma
- that the reforms were too little too late to save the regime in the long term
- Liberalism had no power base in Russia, and the Duma was largely ignored by the Tsar; the reforms were superficial and did not address the real problems within the Tsarist regime or Russian society
- the recovery of the regime had little real substance after 1914
- however, Russia arguably was in a more stable state before the outbreak of war in 1914 which made revolution unlikely
- between 1905 and 1914, Russia was evolving into a more modern European state; Russia had recovered remarkably since 1905 and the prospects of stable evolutionary government were good as a result of constitutional changes
- the opposition to Tsarist Russia was much less dangerous in 1914 than in 1905 because of Witte's concessions
- Stolypin's reforms were the only serious attempt to tackle peasant backwardness and rural overpopulation
- the regime seemed willing to adapt and this was not too late in 1914
- no one could foresee the results of Russian entry into the First World War
- in 1917 the fate of the regime was decided by the First World War and not the failure of the reforms initiated between 1906-1914
- the war merely speeded up the collapse of the regime because the regime had not reformed itself
- the war heightened social and economic problems which in turn weakened its resilience in the face of revolutionary threats especially in the context of a regime which refused to reform itself.

Level 4

Generally for this level, candidates will show understanding through analysis and explanation to reach a substantiated and mostly sustained judgement about the relationships between the key features and characteristics of the period studied. There will be a mostly sustained attempt at an historical overview. There will be a mostly sustained focus to make historical connections and show an appreciation of the complexities of change and continuity, drawing together developments from across the period study and from across a range of different perspectives. They will recall, select and deploy accurate, relevant and precise historical knowledge. Candidates will communicate accurately and fluently using appropriate language, structure, spelling, punctuation and grammar with a high degree of accuracy.

Level 5

Generally for this level, candidates will show understanding through analysis and explanation to reach a substantiated and fully sustained judgement about the relationships between the key features and characteristics of the period studied. Candidates will use an evaluative synoptic approach which draws together developments from across the period study and from across a range of different perspectives, as appropriate. There will be a fully sustained focus on providing an historical overview, to make historical connections and show an appreciation of the complexities of change and continuity throughout the full period set. Candidates will recall, select and deploy accurate, relevant and precise historical knowledge. Candidates will communicate accurately and lucidly using appropriate language, structure, spelling, punctuation and grammar with a high degree of accuracy.

The answer will include supporting arguments covering change and continuity and other key characteristics and concepts within the period set to reach a highly substantiated and sustained judgement. The response offers a meaningful discussion of the key issue in the question and comes to a balanced judgement that is sustained and integrated; fully focussed on the key issue in the question and covering the full period set.

INDICATIVE CONTENT FOR SECTION B QUESTION 1

NOTE: This content is not prescriptive and candidates are not expected to mention all the material referred to below. Each answer will be assessed on its merits according to the generic mark scheme as well as the indicative content.

To what extent was the impact of war the main influence on international relations in the period 1815-1914?

Candidates are expected to analyse, evaluate and explain over and within the given period, the interconnections and relationships between the full range of key features and issues that affected the key concept in the question – in this case the impact of war on international relations 1815-1914. This will include a range of historical perspectives and key concepts such as causation, consequence, continuity, change and significance, as appropriate. In order to reach a substantiated judgement, candidates should discuss and debate the extent to which there was continuity as well as change during and over this period.

In order to reach a substantiated judgement about whether the impact of war was the main influence on international relations 1815-1914 candidates may consider some of these issues, historical perspectives, key characteristics and themes in their discussion:

- the impact made by war across the whole period 1815-1914
- specific wars would include the Napoleonic wars, the Greek war of independence, the Crimean war, and other localised conflicts up to the outbreak of WWI
- war led to mistrust, political insecurity and the development of alliances mutual spheres of influence. This in turn affected the balance of power.

INDICATIVE CONTENT FOR SECTION B QUESTION 2

NOTE: This content is not prescriptive and candidates are not expected to mention all the material referred to below. Each answer will be assessed on its merits according to the generic mark scheme as well as the indicative content.

How far was the growth of Prussian militarism mainly responsible for the development of Germany in the period 1815-1914?

Candidates are expected to analyse, evaluate and explain over and within the given period, the interconnections and relationships between the full range of key features and issues that affected – in this case the impact of the growth of Prussian militarism upon the development of Germany 1815-1914. This will include a range of historical perspectives and key concepts such as causation, consequence, continuity, change and significance, as appropriate. In order to reach a substantiated judgement, candidates should discuss and debate the extent to which there was continuity as well as change during and over this period.

In order to reach a substantiated judgement about whether Prussian militarism was mainly responsible for the development of Germany 1815-1914, candidates may consider some of these issues, historical perspectives, key characteristics and themes in their discussion:

- the influence of Prussian militarism upon the development of Germany both political and economic
- the influence of the Prussian army
- Prussian expansion and the Prussian military class influenced the development of Germany and Prussian conservatism became the backbone of the Reich
- Prussia's ability to challenge Austria and thus influence the development of Germany depended upon its military and economic strength
- the influence of the Prussian Zollverein in forging economic unity in Germany and Prussian industrial growth; the Erfurt union and the humiliation of Olmutz may be discussed to show the lessening influence of Prussia and the restoration of Austria power
- the role of Bismarck the Prussian Junker
- Prussia's role in unification - the Kleindeutschland
- Prussia inspired a wave of patriotic German support and Bismarck inspired popular nationalism
- the extension of the Prussian constitution
- political leadership also influenced the development of Germany
- the different attitudes of those in authority and government to the development of Germany. By 1871 Germany had been transformed from a loose confederation of states into a continental power
- the experience of the Napoleonic era of defeat, occupation and liberation politicised Germany
- the Kaiser reinforced and extended the work of Bismarck; and transformed Germany into a world power.
