Mark Scheme

2008 examination - June series

Mark schemes are prepared by the Principal Examiner and considered, together with the relevant questions, by a panel of subject teachers. This mark scheme includes any amendments made at the standardisation meeting attended by all examiners and is the scheme which was used by them in this examination. The standardisation meeting ensures that the mark scheme covers the candidates' responses to questions and that every examiner understands and applies it in the same correct way. As preparation for the standardisation meeting each examiner analyses a number of candidates' scripts: alternative answers not already covered by the mark scheme are discussed at the meeting and legislated for. If, after this meeting, examiners encounter unusual answers which have not been discussed at the meeting they are required to refer these to the Principal Examiner.

It must be stressed that a mark scheme is a working document, in many cases further developed and expanded on the basis of candidates' reactions to a particular paper. Assumptions about future mark schemes on the basis of one year's document should be avoided; whilst the guiding principles of assessment remain constant, details will change, depending on the content of a particular examination paper.

Further copies of this Mark Scheme are available to download from the AQA Website: www.aqa.org.uk

Assessment Objectives One and Two

General Marking Guidance

You should remember that your marking standards should reflect the levels of performance of candidates, mainly 18 years old, writing under examination conditions. The Potential Content given in each case is the most likely correct response to the question set. However, this material is neither exhaustive nor prescriptive, and alternative valid responses should be given credit within the framework of the mark bands.

Positive Marking

You should be positive in your marking, giving credit for what is there rather than being too conscious of what is not. Do not deduct marks for irrelevant or incorrect answers, as candidates penalise themselves in terms of the time they have spent.

Mark Range

You should use the whole mark range available in the mark scheme. Where the candidate's response to a question is such that the mark scheme permits full marks to be awarded, full marks must be given. A perfect answer is not required. Conversely, if the candidate's answer does not deserve credit, then no marks should be given.

Levels of Response for Essay Marking

When reading an essay it is useful to annotate your recognition of the achievement of a response level. This will help the Team Leader follow your thought processes. Levels of response marking relies on recognition of the highest level achieved by the candidate. When you have finished reading the essay, therefore, think top-down, rather than bottom-up. In other words, has the candidate's overall answer met the requirements for the top level? If not, the next level?

Citation of Authority

Candidates will have been urged to use cases and statutes whenever appropriate. Even where no specific reference is made to these in the mark scheme, please remember that their use considerably enhances the quality of an answer.

Assessment Objective Three

Quality of Written Communication

The Code of Practice for GCSE, GCSE in vocational subjects, GCE, VCE and GNVQ requires the assessment of candidates' quality of written communication wherever they are required to write in continuous prose. In this unit, this assessment will take place by marking the candidate's script as a whole, by means of the following criteria:

- Level 3 Moderately complex ideas are expressed clearly and reasonably fluently, through well linked sentences and paragraphs. Arguments are generally relevant and well structured. There may be occasional errors of grammar, punctuation and spelling.
8-10 marks
- Level 2 Straightforward ideas are expressed clearly, if not always fluently. Sentences and paragraphs may not always be well connected. Arguments may sometimes stray from the point or be weakly presented. There may be some errors of grammar, punctuation and spelling, but not such as to detract from communication of meaning.
4-7 marks
- Level 1 Simple ideas are expressed clearly, but arguments may be of doubtful relevance or be obscurely presented. Errors in grammar, punctuation and spelling may be noticeable and intrusive, sufficient to detract from communication of meaning.
1-3 marks
- Level 0 Ideas are expressed poorly and sentences and paragraphs are not connected. There are errors of grammar, punctuation and spelling, such as to severely impair communication of meaning.
0 marks

NOTE

In the mark scheme which follows, there are two standard mark band descriptors:

- The substantive law question mark bands – question parts (a) and (b)
- The evaluative question mark bands – question part (c).

The substantive and evaluative question mark bands are supplied for both a 3 Potential Content and a 2 Potential Content mark scheme, to be applied as appropriate. These mark bands are set out at the beginning and are to be applied to each relevant question part. They are not repeated for each question part.

Except where otherwise indicated, ‘sound’, ‘clear’ and ‘some’ refer to both explanation and application/evaluation. Where, for any element of potential content, one is achieved at the higher level but the other at a lower level, the overall description for that potential content will tend towards the lower level.

Substantive law question mark bands (3 potential content)

- 21 - 25 the candidate soundly explains and applies the rules of law in two of (A)-(C) (max 21), and clearly explains and applies the rules of law in the other (max 23 for some explanation and application of rules of law in the other) or the candidate soundly explains and applies the rules of law in one of (A)-(C) and clearly explains and applies the rules of law in the other two (max 21).
- 16 - 20 the candidate soundly explains and applies the rules of law in one of (A)-(C), and clearly explains and applies the rules of law in another or the candidate clearly explains and applies the rules of law in any two of (A)-(C) (max 18) and presents some explanation and/or application of the other or presents some explanation and application of the rules of law in all three of (A)-(C) (max 16).
- 11 - 15 the candidate soundly explains and applies the rules of law in one of (A)-(C) or the candidate clearly explains and applies the rules of law in one of (A)-(C) and presents some explanation and/or application of the rules of law in any other one of (A)-(C) or the candidate presents some explanation and application of any two of (A)-(C) (max 13) or the answer focuses on explanation of rules of law with no significant application (max 15 if sound on two, max 13 if clear on two, max 11 if some on two) or the answer focuses on application to the facts with no significant legal framework (max 12 where the answer displays a sound and comprehensive understanding of the elements of the analysis).
- 6 - 10 the candidate presents some explanation and/or application of any of the rules of law in (A)-(C).
- 1 - 5 the candidate merely introduces fragments of information or unexplained examples from which no coherent explanation and application can emerge or though the candidate attempts to explain and/or apply rules of law, the explanation and/or application are so fundamentally undermined by error and confusion that the answer remains substantially incoherent.
- 0 the candidate presents no information relevant to the question.

Descriptors

Level	Explanation	Application
sound	The answer correctly identifies and accurately explains the relevant rule(s) in the central aspects of the potential content. Where appropriate, the explanations are supported by relevant statutory and/or case authority and illustration (which is adequately developed where necessary to explain the ratio and/or assist in the application to the facts). Where there are more marginal aspects of the rules, there may be some minor omissions or inaccuracies in the explanation of the rule(s) and/or supporting statutory/case authority and illustration.	The answer selects and emphasises the relevant facts from the scenario and makes close reference to them when explaining how the rules (including any supporting statutory and/or case authority) apply to afford a solution. Where appropriate, the application explores the effect of different interpretations of the rule(s) and/or of conflicting rules and/or of different interpretations of the facts. The solution suggested is clearly based on the explanation and application of the rules and is sustainable.
clear	The answer correctly identifies and accurately explains significant parts of the rule(s) in the central aspects of the potential content, though there are omissions of some part(s) of the rule(s), or errors in the explanation, in those central aspects. There may be a little over-emphasis on marginal aspects of the rules at the expense of some of the more central aspects. In the higher part of the level, statutory and/or case authority and illustration are used but there may be a little confusion and error in selection and/or explanation or the explanation may be limited. At the lower end of the level, there may be little evidence of statutory and/or case authority and illustration or more evident inaccuracies.	The answer selects and emphasises some of the relevant facts from the scenario and makes reference to them when explaining how the rules (including any supporting statutory and/or case authority) apply to afford a solution. The application, though otherwise persuasive, may fail to canvass credible alternative solutions (based on alternative interpretations of the law or of the facts) or there may be a little error or confusion in the application to the facts. The solution suggested is broadly based on the explanation and application of the rules, though there may be some evident weakness.
some	The answer correctly identifies and accurately explains a very limited part of the relevant rule(s) in the central aspects of the potential content. There may be a very evident imbalance between explanation of central and of more marginal aspects of the rule(s). Alternatively, the answer explains a more substantial part of the relevant rule(s) in the central aspects of the potential content but the explanations suffer from significant omission, error or confusion. Explanations may emerge only out of attempts to introduce relevant case authority and illustration. If introduced at all, statutory and/or case authority and illustration may be of marginal relevance or the explanation may be highly superficial or subject to significant inaccuracies or not properly used to support the explanation of the relevant rule(s).	The answer selects and emphasises one or two relevant facts from the scenario and makes reference to them without being able to suggest a coherent application. More broad-ranging attempts to identify and make reference to relevant facts display confusion or error. Alternatively, the answer tends to make simple assertions or assumptions about the way in which the rule(s) apply to the facts, so that application is general and unspecific, being unrelated to particular facts. The application fails to canvass credible alternative solutions (based on alternative interpretations of the law or of the facts). Little use is made of whatever statutory or case authority and illustration is incorporated in explanations. The solution suggested is only imprecisely related to the explanation of the rule(s).

Criminal Law (Offences against Property)

Total for this question: 75 marks

- (a) Discuss Alex's possible criminal liability for property offences arising out of the offer to buy the painting and the bathwater incident. (25 marks)

Potential content

- (A) The fraud issue – fraud by false representation/failure to disclose under the Fraud Act 2006, in relation to his attempt to obtain the painting cheaply.
- (B) Criminal damage issues – recklessly damaging property (in relation to the bathwater) and possible aggravated criminal damage in being reckless as to endangering life (on account of damage to the electrical fittings).
- (C) The defence of intoxication in relation to the criminal damage offences. The notions of specific and basic intent offences in relation to voluntary intoxication.

- (b) Discuss Alex's possible criminal liability for property offences arising out of the incidents in the room which he entered the next day. (25 marks)

Potential content

- (A) Possible constituent burglary offences: criminal damage (the forced drawer) and theft (and attempted theft, the conditional intention in relation to the various items in the drawer, the paperweight).
- (B) Burglary and robbery offences: entry as trespasser (but with what intent?), possible subsequent theft of the paperweight and attempted theft from drawer, and infliction of grievous bodily harm; force used as robbery (at time of theft/in order to steal?). Self defence can be regarded as relevant to gbh and/or robbery/force discussion.

- (c) Choose any one property offence and consider what criticisms may be made of its elements. (25 marks)

Potential content

- (A) Actus reus issues in any offence – for example, in theft, nature and time of appropriation, consent and appropriation, extent of the definition of property, confidential information, person to whom property belongs, theft by an owner of his own property, extensions in s5(3) and s5(4).
- (B) Mens rea issues – for example, in theft, dishonesty and the statutory beliefs, the issue of dishonesty at large (the Ghosh test), the nature of intention permanently to deprive (conditional intention, the scope of s6).

Note: (A) and (B) can be interpreted as aspects of either actus reus or of mens rea, where the candidate engages in a detailed critical analysis of the actus reus of an offence but not of the mens rea, or vice versa. In such a case, some depth and range of discussion of either element must be apparent

- OR
- How satisfactory is the law concerning compensation for economic loss? (25 marks)
- OR
- How satisfactory is the law on vicarious liability? (25 marks)

Potential content

Psychiatric injury/ Economic loss

- (A) Evaluation of the relevant rules in the light of the issue of how satisfactory they are in achieving recovery of compensation (in psychiatric injury – meaning of psychiatric injury, distinction between kinds of victims, need for ‘shock’, proximity in relation to event (‘aftermath’), sufficiently close ties; in economic loss – distinction between words and acts, consequential and pure economic loss, rules in relation to misstatement).
- (B) Discussion of the broader issues concerning policy in either case, as they contribute to the assessment of whether rights to recovery of compensation are satisfactory – floodgates, chance incidence of liability as against need to ensure compensation (general issue of distribution of losses).

Vicarious liability

- (A) Evaluative comments on the requirement for the relationship of employer and employee and for commission of a tort within the course of employment.
- (B) Evaluative comment on the rationale for vicarious liability.

Credit will be given for framework explanations where appropriate.

- (A) Explanation and evaluation of the importance of the protection of privacy and of freedom of expression and of the extent to which existing domestic law actions (for example, confidentiality, defamation, harassment) fail to protect (or protect) privacy and restrict freedom of expression.

Or

Explanation and evaluation of the importance of the preservation of public order and of the protection of freedom of expression, and of the extent to which existing domestic law rules in relation to public order (for example, control of marches and demonstrations, breach of the peace, stop and search, harassment) fail to protect (or protect) the interest in preservation of public order and restrict freedom of expression.

- (B) Explanation and evaluation of the effect on the above of the provisions of the European Convention on Human Rights (Articles 8, 10 and 11).

Credit will be given for framework explanations where appropriate.

- (a) Ignoring the Human Rights Act 1998 and the European Convention on Human Rights, discuss the rights and remedies, if any, available to Eros and to Gerry. (25 marks)

Potential content

- (A) In relation both to Eros and Gerry (if the story is true): the duty of confidentiality – possibly imposed upon Fran, Dave and Spotlight; nature of potential breach (disclosure to Dave and proposed publication), conditions for imposition of obligation of confidence, detrimental disclosure, public interest, injunction to restrain publication.
- (B) In relation to Gerry: the tort of defamation (libel) – issue of truth and whether injunction to restrain publication can be obtained. Damages if publication goes ahead and the story is untrue.
- (C) Possible actions such as harassment arising out of Dave’s activities.

- (b) Discuss the effect of the Human Rights Act 1998 and of the European Convention on Human Rights on your answer to (a) above. (25 marks)

Potential content

- (A) The requirements of the Human Rights Act 1998 in relation to domestic law and the European Convention on Human Rights – taking into account the jurisprudence of the Convention, public authorities and private bodies/individuals.
- (B) Article 8 implications in relation to the rights and duties discussed in (A)-(C) in part (a) above.
- (C) Article 10 implications in relation to the rights and duties discussed in (A)-(C) in part (a) above.

Note though discussion of either (B) or (C) may be classified as sound, discussion of both can be classified as sound only if the discussion at some point analyses the relationship, and particularly the balance struck, between them on the facts of the scenario.

(c) EITHER

Discuss the suggestion that English law (including the Human Rights Act 1998 and the European Convention on Human Rights) has established an acceptable balance between the protection of freedom of expression and the protection of interests in privacy. (25 marks)

- (a) Referring both to criminal and to civil law in relation to the dealings between Howard and Imtrex, and to civil law in the dealings between Howard and Jim, discuss the rights, duties and remedies of the parties. (25 marks)

Potential content

- (A) In relation to the statement about the free supply of washing liquid: the criminal law rules on misleading price indications – general conditions required to establish an offence (for example, business/consumer, meaning of ‘misleading’, meaning of ‘price’).
- (B) In relation to the purchase of the washing machine by Howard from Imtrex: formation of contract issues – offer and acceptance, terms of the contract to include free supply (?), interpretation of any such term, breach and damages.
- (C) In relation to the installation of the washing machine for Howard by Jim: Supply of Goods and Services Act 1982 issues in relation to the requirement for reasonable care and skill, breach and damages.

Note: marks of 21-25 can be obtained only where the candidate deals with both civil and criminal law obligations.

- (b) Consider the rights and remedies of Matt against Imtrex and against Brightclean, arising out of the problems with the washing machine purchased by Karen and the damage caused to Matt’s floor. (25 marks)

Potential content

- (A) In relation to Matt and Imtrex – the issue of privity and the operation of the Contracts (Rights of Third Parties) Act 1999.
- (B) In relation to Matt and Imtrex– the terms as to satisfactory quality and fitness for purpose under the Sale of Goods Act 1979 (as amended) imposed on the seller of goods. The remedies of rejection and damages.
- (C) In relation to Matt and Brightclean – the issue of privity and the alternative action under the Consumer Protection Act 1987 – damage to property of relevant value. Remedy of damages. Possible alternative in negligence.

(c) EITHER

Discuss the suggestion that the law has not succeeded in striking an appropriate balance between the interests of consumers of goods and services and the interests of those who supply them. (25 marks)

OR

Discuss the suggestion that, in its approach to the control of exclusion clauses, the law has not succeeded in striking an appropriate balance between the interests of consumers of goods and services and the interests of those who supply them. (25 marks)

Potential content

Rights of consumers

- (A) Evaluation of the protection provided by statutes such as the Sale of Goods Act 1979 and the Supply of Goods and Services Act 1982.
- (B) Evaluation of the remedies available, including an evaluation of protection provided by statutory and common law restrictions on the use of exemption clauses, and issues of enforcement (including knowledge of rights, access to, and funding of, advice and other assistance).
- (C) Evaluation of the contribution of the criminal law to the protection of rights available to consumers.

Exclusion clauses

- (A) Evaluation of the common law approach.
- (B) Evaluation of the statutory approach in UCTA and UTCCR to liability which cannot be excluded.
- (C) Evaluation of the statutory approach in UCTA and UTCCR to liability which can be excluded subject to a requirement of reasonableness

Note:

- (1) credit will be given for framework explanations where appropriate;
- (2) answers to this question can be marked according to the 3 potential content or the 2 potential content scheme. Answers which deal with all three of (A)-(C) can, therefore, be marked as 2 potential content with the treatment of the third enhancing the treatment of either or both of the other two. In any case, answers which deal with all three of (A)-(C) may be expected to be a little less detailed in the treatment of all or any than those which deal with two only.
