

Mark Scheme for June 2013

OCR (Oxford Cambridge and RSA) is a leading UK awarding body, providing a wide range of qualifications to meet the needs of candidates of all ages and abilities. OCR qualifications include AS/A Levels, Diplomas, GCSEs, Cambridge Nationals, Cambridge Technicals, Functional Skills, Key Skills, Entry Level qualifications, NVQs and vocational qualifications in areas such as IT, business, languages, teaching/training, administration and secretarial skills.

It is also responsible for developing new specifications to meet national requirements and the needs of students and teachers. OCR is a not-for-profit organisation; any surplus made is invested back into the establishment to help towards the development of qualifications and support, which keep pace with the changing needs of today's society.

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and students, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which marks were awarded by examiners. It does not indicate the details of the discussions which took place at an examiners' meeting before marking commenced.

All examiners are instructed that alternative correct answers and unexpected approaches in candidates' scripts must be given marks that fairly reflect the relevant knowledge and skills demonstrated.

Mark schemes should be read in conjunction with the published question papers and the report on the examination.

OCR will not enter into any discussion or correspondence in connection with this mark scheme.

Subject-specific Marking Instructions

Before you commence marking each question you must ensure that you are familiar with the following:

- the requirements of the specification
- these instructions
- the exam questions (found in the exam paper which will have been emailed to you along with this document)
- levels of assessment criteria *1 (found in the 'Levels of Assessment' grid at the back of this document)
- question specific indicative content given in the 'Answer' column*2
- question specific guidance given in 'Guidance' column*3
- the 'practice' scripts*4 provided in Scoris and accompanying commentaries

- *1 The levels of assessment criteria (found in the 'Levels of Assessment' grid) reflect the expectation of achievement for each Assessment Objective at every level.
- *2 The indicative content in the 'Answer' column provides details of points that candidates may be likely to make. It is not exhaustive or prescriptive and points not included in the indicative content, but which are valid within the context of the question, are to be credited. Similarly, it is possible for candidates to achieve top level marks without citing all the points suggested in the scheme.
- *3 Included in the 'Guidance' column are the number of marks available for each assessment objective contained within the question. It also includes 'characteristics' which a response in a particular level is likely to demonstrate. For example, "a level 4 response is likely to include accurate reference to all 5 stages of x with supporting detail and an accurate link to the source". In some instances an answer may not display all of the 'characteristics' detailed for a level but may still achieve the level nonetheless.
- *4 The 'practice' scripts are live scripts which have been chosen by the Principal Examiner (and senior examining team). These scripts will represent most types of responses which you will encounter. The marks awarded to them and accompanying commentary (which you can see by changing the view to 'definitive marks') will demonstrate how the levels of assessment criteria and marking guidance should be applied.

As already stated, neither the indicative content, 'characteristics' or practice scripts are prescriptive and/or exhaustive. It is imperative that you remember at all times that a response which:

- differs from examples within the practice scripts; or,
- includes valid points not listed within the indicative content; or,
- does not demonstrate the 'characteristics' for a level may still achieve the same level and mark as a response which does all or some of this. Where you consider this to be the case you should discuss the candidate's response with your supervisor to ensure consistent application of the mark scheme.

Awarding Assessment Objectives 1 and 2

To award the level for the AO1 or AO2 (some questions may contain both AO1 and AO2 marks) use the levels of assessment criteria and the guidance contained within the mark scheme to establish which level the response achieves. As per point 10 of the above marking instructions, when determining which level to award start at the highest level and work down until you reach the level that matches the answer.

Once you have established the correct level to award to the response you need to determine the mark within the level. The marks available for each level differ between questions. Details of how many marks are available per level are provided in the Guidance column. Where there is more than one mark available within a level you will need to assess where the response 'sits' within that level. Guidance on how to award marks within a level is provided in point 10 of the above marking instructions, with the key point being that you start at the middle of each level and work outwards until you reach the mark that the response achieves.

Answers, which contain no relevant material at all, should receive no marks.

Aw * Remember: when awarding the level you work from top downwards, when awarding the mark you work from the middle outwards.

RubricWhat to do for the questions the candidate has not answered?

The rubric for G151 instructs candidates to answer four questions (both parts) from either:

- 2 x Section A + 2 x Section B
- 3 x Section A + 1 x Section B

For the questions the candidate has not answered you should record NR (no response) in the mark column on the right-hand side of the screen. Do not record a 0.

What to do for the candidate who has not complied with the rubric either by answering more than four questions or by answering more or less Section A or B questions than is permitted? This is a very rare occurrence but must be picked up to ensure the candidate is not unfairly advantaged or disadvantaged.

Mark all questions the candidate has answered. Then work out the combination of questions which gives them the highest mark whilst conforming to the rubric. Do not 'violate' the rubric and do not submit the script. Send your supervisor the script number and combination of questions you are proposing for the script to give it the highest mark which conforms to the rubric. Your supervisor will then view the script in your 'Open' items and will check and confirm the correct combination for this candidate.

Once your team leader has confirmed the correct combination you will need to amend the marks on the script to ensure the candidate receives the correct overall mark. To do this reopen the script and for the response(s) which are not included in the correct combination change the marks to NR (no response). Do not remove the annotations – the annotations will demonstrate that the response(s) has been marked but is not included in the correct combination.

Once you have submitted this script, contact your supervisor. Your supervisor will then double check in your closed items that you have correctly processed this script.

Blank pages and missed answers

Sometimes candidates will skip a few pages in their answer booklet and then continue their answer. To be sure you have not missed any candidate response before you submit each script you must review the whole script and check every page of the script and annotate any blank pages with:

SEEN

This will demonstrate that every page of a script has been checked.

You must also check any additional pages eg A, A1 etc, which the candidate has chosen to use. Before you begin marking, use the Linking Tool to 'link' any additional page(s) to the relevant question(s) and mark the response as normal.

Annotating and awarding marks

All part (a) questions only have AO1 marks available so credit cannot be given for any AO2 points. Any AO2 points should be marked as not relevant. The main discriminator between the levels will be the level of detail and the level of understanding demonstrated in the answer.

Section A part (b) of questions require discussion. Each point should be annotated as follows:

P

for point = 1 mark

DEV

for developed point = 2 marks

for a well-developed (extended) point = 3 marks

for a very well-developed (extended) point = 4 marks (be careful not to use this where a response is merely restated the same point)

It is important to ensure that the discussion is based on the question asked.

If there are only simple points, no matter how many points are made, a maximum of top Level 2 (5 marks) for AO2 can be awarded as if there is no development the answer does not meet the descriptor for Level 3.

If there are only developed points and no well-developed points only top Level 3 marks (7 marks) can be awarded for AO2 as such an answer would not meet the criteria for Level 4.

Section B part (b) of questions are marked differently as these questions require application. Identification of a relevant point should be annotated as follows:

P for a point = 1 mark

APP for a point applied to the situation = 2 mark

If there is no application but relevant points have been identified only top Level 2 marks (5 marks) for AO2 can be awarded as the answer does not meet the descriptor for Level 3.

(b)*	Potential answers may: Assessment Objective 2 – Analysis, evaluation and application Discuss the advantages of using lay magistrates in criminal cases: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Good cross section of society sitting on the bench when compared to judges. Lord Chancellor points out that the magistracy is diverse in terms of occupation, gender equality and good representation of ethnic minorities. However lay magistrates tend to be older than judges • There are three lay magistrates making a decision rather than one judge. This means that there is less likely to be prejudiced • Public involvement in the criminal justice system, sign of a democracy – not just the state charging, convicting and sentencing. Lay magistrates are able to express society's disapproval of defendant's actions when they convict • Local knowledge. Lay magistrates must live or work in the local justice area. This, in theory means that they should have awareness of local events, local patterns of crime and local opinions which a judge is unlikely to have. This ensures local justice is dispensed by local people. However, most magistrates come from professional and managerial classes and it is questioned whether these people do actually have any real knowledge of the problems in certain areas of the justice system eg poorer areas • Magistrates' training has improved over the years. Training is now detailed and closely supervised by the Magistrates' Committee of the Judicial Studies Board. This means that all lay magistrates follow the same syllabus and must achieve the same competencies. This in turn leads to less inconsistency in sentencing. If they need any legal advice during a case a legal adviser is on hand at all times 	9	<table border="1" data-bbox="1384 220 1839 400"> <thead> <tr> <th>AO2 Level</th> <th>AO2 Marks</th> </tr> </thead> <tbody> <tr> <td>4</td> <td>8–9</td> </tr> <tr> <td>3</td> <td>6–7</td> </tr> <tr> <td>2</td> <td>4–5</td> </tr> <tr> <td>1</td> <td>1–3</td> </tr> </tbody> </table> Responses will be unlikely to achieve the following without: Level 4 - A Level 4 response will require at least one well developed point illustrating a real ability to focus on the question (the advantages of using lay magistrates in criminal cases). Some candidates may put the same point in several different ways and this should only be credited once. There will be no credit for any discussion relating to the use of lay magistrates in civil cases. Credit will also be given for a discussion of the advantages of using lay magistrates instead of jury trial.	AO2 Level	AO2 Marks	4	8–9	3	6–7	2	4–5	1	1–3

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • There are relatively few appeals against magistrates' decisions. This demonstrates that despite the amateur status of lay magistrates they do a very good job. Very few cases are appealed against conviction or on an error in law. However, one argument against this may be that a person appealing from the Magistrates' Courts risks having their sentence increased • Lay magistrates are unpaid and are therefore cheap for the government. It would take several District Judges (Magistrates Court) to replace lay magistrates and this would cost the government an enormous amount of money. Also they would need to find sufficient qualified lawyers to do the job • Lay magistrates work part time – they are only required to commit to 26 half days per year. They are not sitting in court everyday seeing the same types of cases and defendants. This means that they are not as case-hardened as judges. Credit any other relevant comment(s).

For those that do not reoffend it could be said to be successful in preventing crime • All the requirements that can be attached to a Youth Rehabilitation Order are aimed at preventing further offending and the fact that it is possible to mix and match allows the court to pick the most appropriate for each offender • A curfew requirement should prevent a young person from further offending in the short term as it makes it difficult to offend without getting caught • A supervision requirement may help prevent offending so long as the person supervising has a reasonable workload. If they have too many people to supervise it is not very effective • Any of the requirements that deal with substance abuse may be effective in preventing further offending but only if the young person wants to give up the drugs or alcohol • Reparation Order aimed at making the young offender realise the impact of their offending and empathise with the victim which could prevent further offending • Fines do not tend to be very successful as it is often the parents who pay the fine. Credit any other relevant comment(s).	9	<table border="1"> <thead> <tr> <th>AO2 Levels</th> <th>AO2 Marks</th> </tr> </thead> <tbody> <tr> <td>4</td> <td>8–9</td> </tr> <tr> <td>3</td> <td>6–7</td> </tr> <tr> <td>2</td> <td>4–5</td> </tr> <tr> <td>1</td> <td>1–3</td> </tr> </tbody> </table> Responses will be unlikely to achieve the following without: Level 4 – at least one well developed point illustrating a real ability to focus on the question and discuss the arguments referring to different types of sentence. (b)*	Assessment Objective 2 – Analysis, evaluation and application <ul style="list-style-type: none"> The nature and seriousness of the offence will be a consideration. As Polly has been charged with the serious offence of murder the court will need to consider whether the public need protection from a potentially dangerous person therefore she may not receive bail. However, assisted suicide may not warrant protection of the public As Polly has one previous conviction for theft the likelihood of her re-offending whilst on bail will need to be considered. However as the previous conviction was many years ago and unrelated to this crime she is likely to be granted bail The fact that Polly previously complied with her bail conditions would mean that there is no reason to think that she will not do the same again and therefore bail is likely to be granted The fact that Polly has no ties in the area and has family in Australia would mean that she is likely to be considered at risk of absconding before the trial. For this reason it may be decided not to grant Polly bail Conditions could be attached to her bail to enable bail to be granted for example a curfew, surrender of her passport, condition of residence and reporting to the police station Someone accused of murder must see two mental health professionals before being granted bail. Credit will be given for mention of any other relevant factors or conditions. Advanced Subsidiary GCE Law Levels of Assessment

There are four levels of assessment of AOs 1 and 2 in the AS units. Level 4 is the highest level that can reasonably be expected from a candidate at the end of the first year of study of an Advanced GCE course. Similarly, there are three levels of assessment of AO3 in the AS units.

Level	Assessment Objective 1	Assessment Objective 2	Assessment Objective 3 (includes QWC)
4	Good, well-developed knowledge with a clear understanding of the relevant concepts and principles. Where appropriate candidates will be able to elaborate by good citation of relevant statutes and case-law.	Ability to identify and analyse issues central to the question showing some understanding of current debate and proposals for reform or identify most of the relevant points of law in issue. Ability to develop clear arguments or apply points of law clearly to a given factual situation, and reach a sensible and informed conclusion.
3	Adequate knowledge showing reasonable understanding of the relevant concepts and principles. Where appropriate candidates will be able to elaborate with some citation of relevant statutes and case-law.	Ability to analyse most of the more obvious points central to the question or identify the main points of law in issue. Ability to develop arguments or apply points of law mechanically to a given factual situation, and reach a conclusion.	A good ability to present logical and coherent arguments and communicates relevant material in a clear and effective manner using appropriate legal terminology. Reward grammar, spelling and punctuation.
2	Limited knowledge showing general understanding of the relevant concepts and principles. There will be some elaboration of the principles, and where appropriate with limited reference to relevant statutes and case-law.	Ability to explain some of the more obvious points central to the question or identify some of the points of law in issue. A limited ability to produce arguments based on their material or limited ability to apply points of law to a given factual situation, but without a clear focus or conclusion.	An adequate ability to present logical and coherent arguments and communicates relevant material in a reasonably clear and effective manner using appropriate legal terminology. Reward grammar, spelling and punctuation.
1	Very limited knowledge of the basic concepts and principles. There will be limited points of detail, but accurate citation of relevant statutes and case-law will not be expected.	Ability to explain at least one of the simpler points central to the question or identify at least one of the points of law in issue. The approach may be uncritical and/or unselective.	A limited attempt to present logical and coherent arguments and communicates relevant material in a limited manner using some appropriate legal terminology. Reward grammar, spelling and punctuation.
