

Suggested Reading List

GCE AS Law

As the areas of law covered by this course are subject to constant change it is important to use the most up to date textbooks available. The list below is currently regarded as the most suitable for the course and includes internet sites which are constantly updated.

Main Student Textbook

---

The English Legal System	Jacqueline Martin	Hodder Arnold	2005
--------------------------	-------------------	---------------	------

Other Texts Useful for Additional Classroom Material

---

Looking at the English Legal System	Jacqueline Martin		2003
OCR Law in Focus AS Level	Simon Jackson	Causeway Press	2003

A Selection of Useful Internet Sites

---

- www.e-lawstudent.com an alternative to a textbook that can be purchased by a centre with individual licences for students.
- www.lawteacher.net a free site with a variety of resources including good links to other useful sites.
- www.timesonline.co.uk law section on a Tuesday often has useful articles on topics for this course.
- www.directgov.uk offers a direct link to all government departments.
- www.homeoffice.gov.uk particularly useful for updates on police and sentencing changes.
- www.lcd.gov.uk site for the Department of Constitutional Affairs offers updates on personnel including reforms to the judiciary and legal funding.