

RECOGNISING ACHIEVEMENT

FAO: Law department
Date: February 2010
Subject: GCE Law (H534) – re-sitting special study units

IMPORTANT

Please pass a copy of this Notice to the Heads of Department responsible for:
GCE Law

Please note that as stated on page 23 of the approved specification the following units' theme and resource material are only valid for two series (January and June of the same academic year) and are changed on an annual basis.

G154 Criminal Law special study

G156 Law of Contract special study

G158 Law of Torts special study

An implication of this annual change for candidates is that those who sit their special study unit in one year and then wish to re-sit the unit in a subsequent year will be assessed on a different special study theme and resource material from those of their original assessment. There is no opportunity to be assessed on the same theme and resource material in subsequent years, unless the same theme and resource material is used in subsequent years.

Centres and candidates may wish to consider this when deciding in which series to enter for the special study unit and when considering whether, and when, to re-sit a special study unit.
