the l	C has a hotel that has 10 rooms and a small restaurant. The restaurant provides a que dining experience and high quality food, however it is expensive. It can cater 20 diners at a time and is usually fully booked. Many of the diners are staying at hotel, but others come just for the dining experience.
	ers pay, on average, £80 for a meal, for which the cost of buying the food and ing staff is £50.
The	management team is considering extending the restaurant to hold 30 diners.
(b) ((i) Assuming it is full each evening, state how much extra profit the restaurant would make in one evening if the extension is built.	(1)

The extension would cost £100 000 to build. To fund this, the club will have to borrow £90 000 for two years. Each year it will have to pay back 5% of this in interest. HLCC estimates that it would also lose £200 each week because of disruption caused by the building works, which should take 13 weeks.

(ii) Calculate the total cost to the club of building the extension. Show your working in the space provided.
