| | Political | | | | |
| | Actions of governments can have major effects on business and markets, including creating and reducing demand for products and services. (L1) Governments set public spending levels, allocates funds, controls taxation, interest rates, responsible for intro of new laws, regulations and licence agreements. Local authority spending (cost of renting business units for office space), etc. | | | | |
| | Economic | | | | |
| | Distribution of wealth and level of income. Amount of money people have to spend linked to inflation, taxation, employment, rate of exchange and mortgage rates. Recessions – amount of disability payments, linked to wealth and time factors for carers. | | | | |
| | Social | | | | |
| | Social trends – eg, ageing population. Importance of recognising the size of the disabled market – and tapering products and services to suit their needs. | | | | |
| | Demographic changes – sizes of political markets (linked to amount of leisure time available). | | | | |
| | Technological | | | | |
| | Developments in technology for new products and services within the market – linked to the provision of such items in the disabled market. This creates links also to techno facilities for bookings through CRS and other computerised systems. (L2) These new technological features will benefit both customer and organisation, however, they must be installed correctly and cannot be viewed in isolation as other elements of PEST will also have an impact(L3). | | | | |

| 2(e) cont'd | Branding gives a product or service a distinctive identity and helps to create a unique image that will make it easily identifiable and distinct from its competitors. (L1) Used for logo, advertising, packaging, price and the use of specific colours. Re-Branding is a powerful marketing tool because it has a strong influence over the products and services that we buy helping to draw our attention to each product (L2). This may assist in gaining a higher market share, help to position the organisation in the market and overall sell more holidays oversees and to the UK centres. However, there are cost and time of implications eg, of companies where re-branding has caused more problems than positives such as British Airways (tail design). Staff may be unhappy to implement changes. This can have a negative effect in the market and can lose market share by re-naming or changing brand – can lose current market and slip in the minds of the targeted public (L3). | | | | | |
| 3(a) | Suggest three guidelines for the production of a press release. One mark for each correct identification up to a maximum of three identifications. | | PR officer helps with the planned and sustained effort to establish and maintain goodwill and mutual understanding between an organisation and its public. Includes: • media inclusion • community relations • lobbying • corporate communications. PR Officers organise media inclusion for different organisations (L1) this means that an organisation such as Vitalise can get coverage in the press that can be free (L2). PR officers role is vital for dealing with Corporate communication to an org as this can contribute to the planned and sustained promotion that benefits the org by increasing the brand/product and therefore indirectly by increased sales (L3). | | | | | |
