Scenario

You have always wanted to work for yourself and have dreamed of running your own business. You have recently received a legacy from one of your grandparents of £10 000 and feel that the time is right to fulfil your dream and open up a small business, operating as a sole trader or a partnership.

You realise that the legacy will not be sufficient to cover all the costs of starting up the business, and that you will need to obtain additional finance from another source. It does, however, provide you with a starting point.

You have decided to carry out detailed research and planning, then assemble the information in a business development plan and present it in a professional format. This should clearly demonstrate your business idea as a potentially viable concern worthy of investment. Your business development plan should clearly explain your idea and the related costs to a potential lender/investor.

You must produce the following assessment evidence for this unit.

You must create a business development plan in order to convince a potential lender/investor. It is important that your business development plan clearly shows the following:

- Your business idea with reasons for your choice and the research accompanying this, together with how you have used the research findings. The marketing/promotional strategies associated with your chosen idea and any analysis and evaluation undertaken to further justify the development of your business idea.
(28 marks)
- The physical, financial and human resources required to establish and develop the business, together with a consideration of relevant aspects of the law applicable to your chosen idea. Coverage of how quality assurance will be included and monitored, particularly in relation to potential customers and of how the human and financial aspects will be managed effectively as the business develops.
(14 marks)
- Financial details to include sources of finance, start-up budgets, annual cash flow forecast for the first year, opening balance sheet, forecast profit and loss and break-even forecast. Suitable analysis of the projected figures and evaluation of any potential changes (economic, legal, political, social) likely to impact on the business in the first and subsequent two years' trading.
(27 marks)
- Projection of the business position over the subsequent two years. Consideration of financial elements, the difficulties of estimating future positions with regard to cash flow, profitability and liquidity considerations. Analysis of the key ratios and evaluation of these outcomes, together with reasons for the importance of such measures of business performance as the business develops.
(21 marks)

There are no restrictions on formative research that is undertaken in advance of the controlled conditions. The extent of preliminary research however, must be outlined in the 'Declaration of Assessment Conditions' form on page 5.

Work must be carried out under controlled conditions which provide an effective way of verifying coursework authenticity. Controlled conditions are defined as follows.

- Candidates may have access to the task stimulus, research notes and dictionary.
- Candidates must not access the internet under any circumstances while working under controlled conditions.
- Candidates will know the coursework task in advance of the controlled conditions and may spend time identifying a valid business opportunity in preparation for the controlled task.

- There are no restrictions on formative research that is undertaken in advance of the controlled conditions. The extent of preliminary research however, must be outlined on the 'Declaration of Assessment Conditions' form.
- The business development plan created during these controlled conditions should be of a suitable quality to submit to a provider of finance as in line with the Assessment Criteria.

- Candidates should spend no more than a total of 15 hours completing the business development plan.
- The controlled conditions may be spread over a number of days or weeks.
- In the likely event that the work is not completed in a single session the teacher must store it securely until the next controlled session.
- A record must be kept of when and under what conditions the work in the candidate's folder was completed. Please complete the 'Declaration of Assessment Conditions' form found in this document on page 5 which must be used for this purpose.
- In order to assess work accurately and measure the degree of the candidates' business understanding, centres are required to make a formal declaration of source and support materials used including traditional and online dictionaries. Centres must also maintain a copy of centre devised worksheets, website pages and copies of relevant pages from text books used. The use of this material must be captured on an information log or the 'Declaration of Assessment Conditions' form.
- Teachers and candidates are required to authenticate the business development plan as the candidate's own work on the front of the mark record sheet which should be enclosed with the candidate's work.
