Mark Scheme

2008 examination - June series

Mark schemes are prepared by the Principal Examiner and considered, together with the relevant questions, by a panel of subject teachers. This mark scheme includes any amendments made at the standardisation meeting attended by all examiners and is the scheme which was used by them in this examination. The standardisation meeting ensures that the mark scheme covers the candidates' responses to questions and that every examiner understands and applies it in the same correct way. As preparation for the standardisation meeting each examiner analyses a number of candidates' scripts: alternative answers not already covered by the mark scheme are discussed at the meeting and legislated for. If, after this meeting, examiners encounter unusual answers which have not been discussed at the meeting they are required to refer these to the Principal Examiner.

It must be stressed that a mark scheme is a working document, in many cases further developed and expanded on the basis of candidates' reactions to a particular paper. Assumptions about future mark schemes on the basis of one year's document should be avoided; whilst the guiding principles of assessment remain constant, details will change, depending on the content of a particular examination paper.

Further copies of this Mark Scheme are available to download from the AQA Website: www.aqa.org.uk

GENERAL PRINCIPLES

Assessment Unit 1 asks candidates to answer two questions based on a thematic Anthology that they take into the examination room. The first focuses on the prescribed poems in Section One of the Anthology; the second on a selection of other texts from the Anthology. This second question will require candidates to answer on texts of their own choice from Section Two of the Anthology. Candidates will usually be asked to answer on:

- the language of the chosen texts
- the form, structure and genre of the chosen texts
- the ideas, attitudes and values conveyed by the texts.

Examiners should first be aware of the relevant Assessment Objectives, as described in the specification and printed in this Mark Scheme. Candidates will be required to demonstrate achievement in these Assessment Objectives in their answers.

Candidates will be expected to demonstrate appropriate expertise in the following

Main Criteria

- the application of linguistic framework(s) to texts
- the description of how texts vary in form and structure
- the understanding and identification of how language, form and structure create and shape the meaning of texts
- the understanding and identification of the importance of context in creating and shaping the meaning of texts.

The Main Criteria above and the AS English Language and Literature Marking Template pages that follow are the indicators that will guide examiners in judging how satisfactorily candidates have achieved this different Objectives.

Question 1 tests Assessment Objectives AO1, AO2i, AO3i, AO5

Question 2 tests Assessment Objectives AO1, AO2i, AO3i, AO4

AO1	communicate clearly the knowledge, understanding and insights gained from the combination of literary and linguistic study, using appropriate terminology and accurate written expression
AO2i	in responding to literary and non-literary texts, distinguish, described and interpret variation in meaning and form
AO3i	respond to and analyse texts, using literary and linguistic concepts and approaches
AO4	show understanding of the ways contextual variation and choices of form, style and vocabulary shape the meanings of texts
AO5	identify and consider the ways attitudes and values are created and conveyed in speech and writing

The focus for each question is shown by some indicative content. It is, of course, possible that some candidates may respond in ways different than those listed, yet whose answers contain appropriate and valid insights. If examiners believe that such scripts satisfy criteria for high achievement, then those scripts should be rewarded accordingly. Examiners are encouraged to mark positively, rewarding strengths and achievements.

- 1 Look again at 'The Need of Being Versed in Country Things'. With careful reference to this and to one other poem from Section One of the Anthology, show how Robert Frost writes about the relationship between human beings and nature.

You should write about:

- how the language used conveys Frost's ideas
- Frost's use of form and structure.

INDICATIVE CONTENT

NB. The following list of ideas is not exhaustive. Any valid suggestions supported by textual reference should be accepted.

Ideas

Nature appears indifferent to human feelings

Human beings anthropomorphise Nature

Nature a regenerative force

Birds use destroyed human artefacts

Possible contrast between experienced country people and others in their response to Nature.

Language

Concrete description

Details of life/activity before and after the fire

Images of growth/renewal

Images of destruction/emptiness

Pun in title and final stanza

Focus on birds/'fronting' of for them.

Form/structure

Simple stanzaic form

Contrasts between destruction/renewal found in all stanzas

Pivotal yet in 1. 17

Cumulative effect of repetition of and in penultimate stanza

Link between title and final stanza.

Each of the poems would appear to provide candidates with an opportunity to answer this question.

A candidate who answers on only one poem cannot be awarded more than 18 marks.

- 2 Choose two texts from Section Two of the Anthology in which writers create a character (or characters).

What methods do the writers employ to do this?

INDICATIVE CONTENT

NB. The following list of ideas is not exhaustive. Any valid suggestions supported by textual reference should be accepted.

Not every text Section Two of the Anthology is suitable to answer this question. The most promising would appear to be: 'To Dr Lewis', Family Matters, Request Stop, 'Growing Up', The Diary of Samuel Pepys and, perhaps, Our Town. A case could be made for 'The Key Note' if Coketown itself is regarded as a character. Examiners should, of course, be alert to other relevant responses from candidates.

Methods

These may include:

- what a character does/thinks/says
- how a character speaks – direct, indirect, free indirect speech, etc
- how a character relates to other people/situations
- appearance and dress
- how other people react to them/what they say about them
- situations they encounter/environments they are found in
- anecdotes
- authorial comments.

A candidate who answers on only one text cannot be awarded more than 18 marks.

MAIN CRITERIA FOR ANSWERS

Examiners should not require candidates to fulfil all the descriptors before they place a candidate in a particular mark band. They should use a 'best-fit' model.

Examiners should also remember that they are marking the work of AS, not A Level candidates.

30 – 35 The best answer that can be expected of AS candidates under examination conditions

- clear, detailed and undivided focus on the question
- shows good and detailed understanding of the content of the texts
- shows good and detailed understanding of the context of the texts
- shows good and detailed understanding and analysis of how language in the texts works
- supports and develops points consistently with examples from or reference to the texts
- shows good and detailed understanding of attitudes conveyed in the texts
- consistently accurate use of language and terminology

24 – 29 Very good answers that display many of the qualities of the top band, but with some lack of consistency or thoroughness. Many more strengths than weaknesses

- maintains consistent focus on the question
- shows sound and clear understanding of the content of the texts
- shows sound and clear understanding of the context of the texts
- shows sound and clear understanding of how language in the texts works, including detailed discussion and analysis of some points
- develops most important points through examples from or reference to the texts
- shows sound and clear understanding of attitudes conveyed in the texts
- accurate use of language and terminology

18 – 23 Answers in which there is a balance of strengths and weaknesses

- maintains focus on the question to a large extent
- understands the content of the texts
- understands the context of the texts
- shows understanding of how language in the texts works, including some detailed discussion and analysis of some points
- develops some important points through examples from or reference to the texts
- understanding of attitudes conveyed in the texts
- generally accurate use of language and terminology

12 – 17 Answers that address the question, but with a number of weaknesses

- some focus on the question
- shows some general understanding of the content of the texts
- shows some general understanding of the context of the texts
- includes some general discussion and understanding of language use in the texts
- some feature spotting
- may contain some description
- develops a number of points through examples from or reference to the texts
- some understanding of attitudes conveyed in the texts
- some accurate use of language and terminology

6 – 11 Answers that contain a significant number of weaknesses; may contain irrelevance or misunderstanding

- occasional focus on the question
- includes some thin or sketchy discussion of the content of the texts
- includes some thin or sketchy discussion of the context of the texts
- includes some thin or sketchy discussion of language use in the texts
- reliant on feature spotting
- much more description than analysis
- includes little support from examples in or reference to the texts
- some limited comment on attitudes conveyed in the texts
- some inaccurate use of language and terminology

1 – 5 Answers that are little more than rudimentary and fail to address the question in any relevant manner. Fragmentary

- little or no focus on the question
- shows no or rudimentary understanding of the content of the texts
- shows no or rudimentary understanding of the context of the texts
- includes no or rudimentary discussion of language use in the texts
- includes no or very little support from examples in or reference to the texts
- very rudimentary comment on attitudes conveyed in the texts
- very inaccurate use of language and terminology.
