

Mark Scheme (Provisional)

June 2021

Pearson Edexcel International Advanced Level
In English Language (WEN01)

Unit 1: Language, Context and Identity

Edexcel and BTEC Qualifications

Edexcel and BTEC qualifications are awarded by Pearson, the UK's largest awarding body. We provide a wide range of qualifications including academic, vocational, occupational and specific programmes for employers. For further information visit our qualifications websites at www.edexcel.com or www.btec.co.uk. Alternatively, you can get in touch with us using the details on our contact us page at www.edexcel.com/contactus.

Pearson: helping people progress, everywhere

Pearson aspires to be the world's leading learning company. Our aim is to help everyone progress in their lives through education. We believe in every kind of learning, for all kinds of people, wherever they are in the world. We've been involved in education for over 150 years, and by working across 70 countries, in 100 languages, we have built an international reputation for our commitment to high standards and raising achievement through innovation in education. Find out more about how we can help you and your students at: www.pearson.com/uk

General Marking Guidance

- All candidates must receive the same treatment. Examiners must mark the last candidate in exactly the same way as they mark the first.
- Mark schemes should be applied positively. Candidates must be rewarded for what they have shown they can do rather than penalised for omissions.
- Examiners should mark according to the mark scheme not according to their perception of where the grade boundaries may lie.
- All the marks on the mark scheme are designed to be awarded. Examiners should always award full marks if deserved, i.e. if the answer matches the mark scheme. Examiners should also be prepared to award zero marks if the candidate's response is not worthy of credit according to the mark scheme.
- Where some judgement is required, mark schemes will provide the principles by which marks will be awarded and exemplification/indicative content will not be exhaustive.
- When examiners are in doubt regarding the application of the mark scheme to a candidate's response, a senior examiner must be consulted before a mark is given.
- Crossed out work should be marked unless the candidate has replaced it with an alternative response.

Specific Marking Guidance

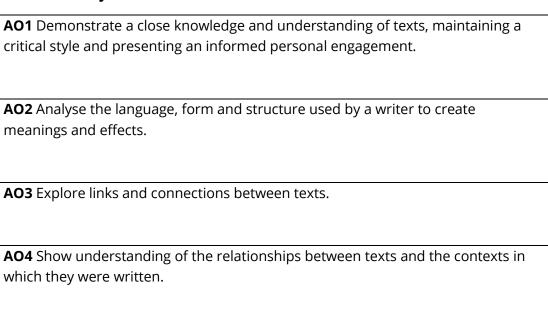

When deciding how to reward an answer, examiners should consult both the indicative content and the associated marking grid(s). When using a levels-based mark scheme, the 'best fit' approach should be used.

- Examiners should first decide which descriptor most closely matches the answer and place it in that level.
- The mark awarded within the level will be decided based on the quality of the answer and will be modified according to how securely all bullet points are displayed at that level.
- Indicative content is exactly that they are factual points that candidates are likely to use to construct their answer.
- It is possible for an answer to be constructed without mentioning some or all of these points, as long as they provide alternative responses to the indicative content that fulfils the requirements of the question. It is the examiner's responsibility to apply their professional judgement to the candidate's response in determining if the answer fulfils the requirements of the question.

Placing a mark within a level

- Examiners should first decide which descriptor most closely matches the answer and place it in that level. The mark awarded within the level will be decided based on the quality of the answer and will be modified according to how securely all bullet points are displayed at that level.
- In cases of uneven performance, the points above will still apply. Candidates will be placed in the level that best describes their answer according to the descriptors in that level. Marks will be awarded towards the top or bottom of that level depending on how they have evidenced each of the descriptor bullet points.
- If the candidate's answer meets the requirements fully, markers should be prepared to award full marks within the level. The top mark in the level is used for work that is as good as can realistically be expected within that level.

Assessment objectives

Unit 1: Language: Context and Identity

Section A

Text A develops the identity of Jamaica born Raheem Sterling as he reflects on his early life growing up in multicultural London and the racial abuse he later suffered as a successful footballer. He asserts that he has only ever experienced racism in the context of football. Sterling presents as a concerned individual, determined to raise awareness of racism in football and to challenge the stereotypical representation of black players in the media, which he feels fuels this racism. Sterling is a young man, aware of the power of social media to convey his message and generate support for his campaign to punish racism on and off the football field with decisive action. The role of the author (Mance) in shaping the text and integrating the directly quoted words of Sterling clearly drives the article and the presentation of Sterling within it. Mance's stance on the issue is clear.

Text B develops the identity of Ghanaian footballer, Kevin-Prince Boateng, as he delivers a speech to the United Nations on the 'International Day for the Elimination of Racial Discrimination'. Boateng presents as a man fully aware of his power and responsibility as an international sporting 'celebrity' to instigate change. As such he identifies with others in the public eye, such as musicians and artists, and calls upon them to challenge racism in any form and thereby influence the behaviours of those that follow them. He cites famous sportsmen, such as Muhammad Ali, as exerting a power for change that equals or even exceeds that of any politician.

	Text A	Text B
Mode (Method of Communication)	Online magazine article.	Transcript of a speech, incorporated (in full) into newspaper article.
Field (Subject Matter)	 field of multicultural London society and education field of premiership football field of international football field of social media. 	 field of disease and contagion as metaphor for racism and its spread field of 'popular' celebrity field of historical – and current – black politics black sporting figures as drivers of political change.
Function (Purpose)	 presents the background and experiences of Sterling as representative of migrants presents the multicultural nature of London society in a positive light contrasts his childhood experience with his later professional encounters with racism presents sport (here football) as a means of escape from poverty for black youths 	 to formally address the UN on the issue of racism in sport and in broader society to reflect on and to honour black political activists to highlight the power of those with 'celebrity' status to exert influence for change a call to all to speak out against racism.

Audience (Relationship between writer/speaker	 establishes and then challenges racial stereotypes makes statements relating to the nature of representation of black people in British sporting and public life to highlight imbalance challenges football's governing bodies to take firm action against racism. readers of the Financial Times Magazine: Lifestyle & Arts and its affiliated website football fans 	off the
and reader/listener)	 followers of Raheem Sterling those interested in issues related racial discrimination and abuse in football. dual audience of those present and the wider audience reached publication of the speech those interested in the work of issue of racism in sport, and in international) society. 	ed by f the UN d with, the wider (and
Pragmatics (How context shapes extended texts and variation in meaning)	intervention of Mance, shapes structure, sequence and content details of the early life of Sterling give insight into the experiences of migrant families reflections on London give insight into the positive aspects of multiculturalism on-field experiences of Sterling relay the nature of racial abuse in football critical comments on the media reflect its perceived perpetuation of stereotypes Sterling's use of social media reflects its potential to reach and mobilise Mance's summary (and inclusion of Sterling's comments) conveys the perceived racial imbalance in British society the closing invitation to comment reflects generic form and convention.	context and and his es the n sts nt political gives equal n terms of ce of the spheres of nsibility of
Graphology (Presentation of	 the title and attribution adopt the conventions of an article the speech is framed by conve opening and closure 	ntional
language)	 time references and closing invitation to contribute signal online context opening and closure sections transition according to content 	o focus and paragraphing follows shift in discourse markers structure and sequence topic/perspective the speech parentheses to clarify paragraphing, particularly the short, one use of direct and reported speech to sentence paragraphs, reflect the rhetorical incorporate and integrate the voice of uses of pause and emphasis in speech. Grammar/Syntax grammar conforms to Standard grammar conforms to Standard English (The rules that English employs rhetorical devices: tripling: 'on govern the occasional rhetorical device: tripling: the streets, in your office and in football structure of 'each other's beliefs, each other's stadiums'; contrasting pairs: '... voice language, faiths, colours': metaphor: 'melting heard/ mute' sentences and the formal structures of initial address relationships opening declaratives summarise concede to status and convention between words in Sterling's early background tenses are alternated to emphasise the sentences) use of parenthesis to clarify or qualify link between historical and current racial past tense predominates in opening issues and mid-sections to present Sterling's use of modal forms to project possibilities: past experiences 'can be seen'/'could become infected' shift to present tense in latter stages use of pronoun to unite, especially in to reflect on current issues of terms of collective responsibility representation in the UK complex structures to relate repetition/parallel syntax for personal/historical experiences emphasis: 'in a multicultural city, in a declaratives to define the issue and the multicultural school'; 'each other's stance of the speaker: 'there are no beliefs, each other's faiths' tolerable quantities of racism' closing interrogative/imperative imperative tone at the close: 'we have a invites contributions. duty ...'. Lexis/ lexis linked to English Premiership formality of opening references: 'Madame Semantics and international football Pillay'/ 'esteemed colleagues' (Vocabulary and the language of Boateng is consistently the language of Sterling is often its meaning) colloquial: 'kind of'; 'there were times formal in concession to the UN context that I felt like...' lexis linked to disease and contagion Mance often deploys low frequency extend the metaphor of racism positive referencing of historical activists: lexemes with the nature of his audience in mind: 'lucrative'; 'incredible'; 'inspiration' 'glorified' personification, especially of racism, as abuse conveyed through aggressive device: 'face racism and fight it' verb forms: 'attacked', headbutted' juxtaposition: 'dangerous and infectious'/ lexis linked with social media: 'posts'; 'indifference and inaction' for emphasis 'likes' linked to Sterling's effect of the non-specific references to communication method of choice 'skin colour' and the reasons behind this. issues of representation via lexis associated with 'high' office: 'minister'; 'manager'; 'shareholder'.

Social / Cultural Concepts and Issues

- the violent nature of the death of Sterling's father reflects the nature and impact of gun crime
- accounts of Sterling's early life in London reflect positively on multiculturalism
- references to the media (including social media) highlight its power to influence opinion
- sport is presented as a means of escape from poverty
- observations on representation in broader British society reflect the imbalance in racial terms.

- recollections of the battle against disease in Ghana reflect on African context
- reference to activists places the issue into historical and political context
- the transformative effect of Boateng's meeting with Mandela
- the separation of politicians from the wider public is implied by Boateng's assertions about the greater influence of 'celebrities'.

Explore connections across data (AO4)

Connections and contrasts can be made using any of the contextual, linguistic features and social / cultural concepts and issues outlined above. Connections can also be made on the broader issue of presentation of identity. Points made may include:

- both texts are taken from online articles, affiliated to newspapers, but the format and content is different
- both texts are clearly linked by the issue of racism and their campaign to combat it
- the voice of Sterling is shaped by authorial intervention; Boateng's speech is quoted directly
- there is a clear contrast in the register of the voices of Boateng and Sterling
- Text A focuses on personal experience of racism within football
- Text B extends beyond football to sport in general and wider society
- Text A mostly relates to UK context; Text B has broader international scope
- both reference personal experiences.

.

AO1	Apply appropriate methods of language analysis, using associated terminology and coherent written expression.
AO2	Demonstrate critical understanding of concepts and issues relevant to language use.
AO3	Analyse and evaluate how contextual factors and language features are associated with the construction of meaning.
AO4	Explore connections across texts, informed by linguistic concepts and methods.

Level	Mark	AO1 = bullet AO2 = bullet AO3 = bullet AO4 = bullet point 1,2 point 3,4 point 5 point 6,7
	0	No rewardable material.
evel 1	1 - 7	Descriptive
		Knowledge of methods of language analysis is largely unassimilated.
		Recalls limited range of terminology and makes frequent errors and technical lapses.
		 Knowledge of concepts and issues is limited.
		Uses a narrative approach or paraphrases with little evidence of applying understanding to the data.
		Lists contextual factors and language features.
		Makes limited links between these and the construction of meaning in the data.
		Makes no connections between the data.
Level 2	8 - 14	General understanding
		Uses methods of language analysis that show general understanding.
		Organises and expresses ideas with some clarity, though has lapses in use of terminology.
		Summarises basic concepts and issues.
		Applies some of this understanding when discussing data.
		Describes construction of meaning in the data.
		Uses examples of contextual factors or language features to support this description.
		Gives obvious connections. Makes links between the data and applies hasia theories and concents.
Level 3	15 - 21	basic theories and concepts. Clear relevant application
LEVEI 3	13-21	Applies relevant methods of language analysis to data with clear examples.
		Ideas are structured logically and expressed with few lapses in clarity and transitioning. Clear use of terminology.
		Clear understanding of relevant concepts and issues.
		Clear application of this understanding to the data.
		Explains construction of meaning in data Makes relevant links to contextual factors and language features to support this explanation.
		Identifies relevant connections across data. Mostly supported by clear application of theories, concepts and methods.
Level 4	22 - 28	Discriminating controlled application
		Controlled application of methods of language analysis supported with use of discriminating examples.
		Controls the structure of response with effective transitions, carefully chosen language and use of terminology.
		 Discriminating selection of a range of relevant concepts and issues.
		Discriminating application of this understanding to the data.
		Makes inferences about the construction of meaning in data Examines relevant links to contextual factors and language features to support the analysis.

		Analyses connections across data. Carefully selects and embeds use of theories, concepts and methods to draw conclusions about the data.
Level 5	29 - 35	 Critical and evaluative Critical application of methods of language analysis with sustained examples. Uses sophisticated structure and expression with appropriate register and style, including use of appropriate terminology.
		 Evaluative selection of a wide range of relevant concepts and issues. Evaluative application of this selection to the data. Evaluates construction of meaning in data. Critically examines relevant links to contextual factors and language features to support this evaluation. Evaluates connections across data. Critically applies theories, concepts and methods to data.

Unit 1: Language: Context and Identity

Section B

Question	Indicative Content
Number 2
	Candidates are expected to demonstrate their own expertise and creativity in the use of English.
	Features of candidates' writing on this task may include but are not limited to:
	application of conventions of a magazine article awareness of a reading and school/college-based audience predominantly Standard English lexis and grammar varying syntax for effect use of rhetorical and persuasive devices use of appropriate lexical field for audience adaptation of material from the Source Booklet through techniques such as reshaping of factual and contextual detail.

AO5	Demonstrate expertise and creativity in the use of English to communicate in different ways.

Please refer to the specific marking guidance when applying this marking grid.
Level	Mark	AO5 = bullet point 1, 2, 3
		No considerate del
	0	No rewardable material.
Level 1	1 - 3	Descriptive
		Writing is uneven. There are frequent errors and technical lapses.
		Shows limited understanding of requirements of audience and function.
		Presentation of data is formulaic and predictable.
Level 2	4 - 6	General understanding Writing has general sense of direction. There is inconsistent technical accuracy.
		Shows general understanding of audience and function.
		Some attempt to craft the presentation of data, with general elements of engagement.
Level 3	7 - 9	Clear, relevant application
		Writing is logically structured. There are few lapses in clarity.
		Shows clear understanding of audience and function.
		Clear awareness of appropriate presentation of data, with some engaging and original elements.
Level 4	10 - 12	Discriminating, controlled application
		Writing is effectively structured. Writing is consistently accurate.
		Consistently applies understanding of audience and function.
		Presents data in an original and consistently engaging manner.
Level 5	13 - 15	Critical and evaluative
		Writing is controlled and confident throughout. Writing is consistently accurate.
		Demonstrates discriminating understanding of audience and function.
		Crafts data in an assured and original response.