INTRODUCTION

The AS General Paper is multi-disciplinary, its subject matter drawn from across the curriculum. The syllabus encourages in candidates the ability to make cross-curricular links; to develop a maturity of thought appropriate to students at this level; and to achieve an understanding and usage of the English language which enables them to express arguments, ideas and opinions in a reflective and academic manner.

An awareness of the wider implications of particular issues will enhance the quality of the candidate's response to the questions set. However, the AS General Paper is not a test of general knowledge. The key objective must be for the candidate to convey information or opinion in a way that is thoughtful, perceptive and immediately intelligible to the reader.

AIMS

The aims of the AS General Paper are to:

- promote the skills of rational thought, persuasion, analysis, interpretation and evaluation;
- encourage candidates to explore and appraise social, cultural, economic, philosophical, scientific and technological issues;
- promote maturity of thought and clarity of expression;
- promote understanding and appreciation of individual, societal and cultural diversity;
- encourage independent, critical, reading.

ASSESSMENT OBJECTIVES

The Assessment Objectives relate to the skills of knowledge understanding analysis application communication evaluation.

In order to meet the requirements of the AS General Paper, candidates will be expected to demonstrate:

- knowledge and understanding in relation to the topic areas identified in the syllabus;
- knowledge of methods and techniques appropriate to a specific task;
- the ability to identify, select and interpret, through reasoned consideration, material (including knowledge) appropriate to a specific task;
- the ability to apply knowledge, understanding and analysis in relation to a specific task (e.g. in drawing inferences, providing explanations, constructing and developing arguments, understanding the implications of a suggested course of action or conclusion, etc.);
- the ability to exercise evaluation and discrimination in assessing evidence, ideas and opinions in order to formulate a supported conclusion;
- the ability to communicate information, ideas and opinions in a clear, concise, logical and appropriate manner.

GCE (AS) Subject 8004 (June and November)

One 2-hour question paper will be set. It is intended primarily to be a test of the extent to which the candidate has achieved a maturity of thought and expression appropriate to sixth-form students in their second year, rather than a test of general knowledge. Questions will be general in nature, demanding discussion and evaluation. Response should normally be in the region of 500–600 words. In awarding marks, Examiners will consider the ability of candidates (a) to use their specialised knowledge to answer questions on the broad aspects of school subjects, (b) to discuss general topics which are not directly related to school subjects, and (c) to use the English language.

The question paper will be divided into three sections with five questions in each. Candidates will be required to answer two questions. These must be taken from two different sections. Questions will not necessarily be set on every topic.

It is important to note that the topic areas listed below are cross-curricular and comprehensive; some will appear in more than one section. Teachers should be aware that they do not need to cover all the topic areas in teaching the course. Candidates are expected to be able to draw upon knowledge and understanding gained in relation to other subjects which they have studied. The possible areas for consideration (in italics below) are suggestions only. They are intended to provide assistance to teachers in devising and planning the course.

Section 1: Historical, social, economic, political and philosophical topics.
