General Marking Guidance

- All candidates must receive the same treatment. Examiners must mark the first candidate in exactly the same way as they mark the last.
- Mark schemes should be applied positively. Candidates must be rewarded for what they have shown they can do rather than penalised for omissions.
- Examiners should mark according to the mark scheme not according to their perception of where the grade boundaries may lie.
- There is no ceiling on achievement. All marks on the mark scheme should be used appropriately.
- All the marks on the mark scheme are designed to be awarded. Examiners should always award full marks if deserved, i.e. if the answer matches the mark scheme. Examiners should also be prepared to award zero marks if the candidate's response is not worthy of credit according to the mark scheme.
- Where some judgement is required, mark schemes will provide the principles by which marks will be awarded and exemplification may be limited.
- When examiners are in doubt regarding the application of the mark scheme to a candidate's response, the team leader must be consulted.
- Crossed out work should be marked UNLESS the candidate has replaced it with an alternative response.

Section C

Marking principles

Misspelling is tolerated as long as it does not lead to ambiguity, for example drought misspelled as drowght would be acceptable but misspelled as draught would be unacceptable as this would lead to ambiguity.

Learners are likely to write variants on the acceptable answers listed and these should be considered as acceptable if they convey the same intended meaning.

Translation is successful if an English speaker would understand the translation without having understood the text in its original language.

10	Increasing digitalisation			(1)
	will change work places			(1)
	and people will be able to			(1)
	work alongside robots.	side by side together hand in hand		(1)
	However the question often arises	It is often asked		(1)
	whether these changes will be entirely positive.			(1)
	Will there be effective collaboration	cooperation		(1)
	between humans and robots or			(1)
	will jobs be lost?			(1)
	According to a study there is			(1)
	currently no cause for concern in Germany.			(1)
	The use of robots in German industry			(1)
	has increased by 9 %			(1)
	between 2012 and 2014.			(1)
	However most employees do not believe			(1)
	that workers will be replaced	are being replaced		(1)
	as a result of technical progress.	because of		(1)

	On the contrary every other person thinks	every second person thinks		(1)
	their own performance at work has been improved			(1)
	by new technologies.			(1)
