

Examiners' Report January 2011

GCE Government & Politics 6GP03 3C

Edexcel is one of the leading examining and awarding bodies in the UK and throughout the world. We provide a wide range of qualifications including academic, vocational, occupational and specific programmes for employers.

Through a network of UK and overseas offices, Edexcel's centres receive the support they need to help them deliver their education and training programmes to learners.

For further information, please call our GCE line on 0844 576 0025, our GCSE team on 0844 576 0027, or visit our website at www.edexcel.com.

If you have any subject specific questions about the content of this Examiners' Report that require the help of a subject specialist, you may find our Ask The Expert email service helpful.

Ask The Expert can be accessed online at the following link: http://www.edexcel.com/Aboutus/contact-us/

ResultsPlus

ResultsPlus is Edexcel's free online tool that offers teachers unrivalled insight into exam performance.

You can use this valuable service to see how your students performed according to a range of criteria - at cohort, class or individual student level.

- Question-by-question exam analysis
- Skills maps linking exam performance back to areas of the specification
- Downloadable exam papers, mark schemes and examiner reports
- Comparisons to national performance

For more information on ResultsPlus, or to log in, visit www.edexcel.com/resultsplus. To set up your ResultsPlus account, call 0844 576 0024

January 2011

Publications Code UA026406

All the material in this publication is copyright $\ensuremath{\mathbb{C}}$ Edexcel Ltd 2011

Introduction

This paper, the third of the new specification, was a mixture of the familiar and the new. With the exception of the second question on minority representation in Congress, all of the short answers had appeared in similar form in recent sittings, and very few candidates should have struggled to find three to answer. Somewhat in contrast, the three long answer questions were all new angles on familiar topics, and to do well, candidates were required to do some quick thinking to adapt what they knew to the question in front of them.

Predictably, the unfamiliar question on minority representation was by some way the least popular of the five short answer questions. Continuing the pattern of recent sittings, question six on affirmative action was the most popular long answer question, attracting nearly twice as many answers as the other two questions put together.

The new assessment arrangements are now well understood and nearly all candidates were aware of the synoptic requirement to consider more than one viewpoint on the issue raised (which may be ideological but more often, as in this paper's question seven for example, will not be). If anything, some candidates were over-eager to show this awareness, and their essays consisted of constant point and counterpoint, so that the structure assuming a zigzag pattern, and it was not always easy to discern the direction of the argument.

Some general points are worth making about candidates' approach. The distinguishing feature of an upper Level 2 or Level 3 short answer is the intelligent use of evidence to support the points being made. Answers in the middle of Level 2 and below tend to be generalised assertion, and this highlights again the importance of candidates following contemporary events as much as possible to find this sort of evidence. Time for short answers is tight, but it definitely adds quality to an answer if there is a short conclusion, summing up the preceding discussion. Finally, regarding introductions, these are unnecessary in short answers. In long answers they need to be two or three sentences at most, setting out the key issues and indicating the direction of the argument to follow. Some answers began with introductions which ran over a page, surveying, for example, the history of race relations since 1787, and usually offered very little to reward.

Question 1(x)

Third parties is a favourite topic of examinees and over 90% of the entry attempted this question. Most candidates were aware of what the question required of them, although some attempted to analyse the extent of the impact of third parties, rather than the factors which limit it. Given the familiarity of the topic, it is slightly surprising that the standard of answers was not higher; as indicated in the introduction, what limited many was their lack of evidence to support the points they made, or to attempt to evaluate their significance.

Indicate your first question choice on this page. You will be asked to indicate your second question choice on page 6.
Put a cross in the box 🛛 indicating the first question you have chosen. If you change your mind, put a line through the box 😹 and then indicate your new question with a cross 🛛 .
Chosen Question Number:
Question 1 🛛 Question 2 🖂 Question 3 🖂
Question 4 🖾 Question 5 🖂 Mor paries (US Green Pary) are at a disadvantage and are unable to cause animpact. siniary, this is also the in the UK and its smaller parties. Eactors that cause this unitation include
The electoral system, state
Baulot Access Laws, Finance and Media coverage.
The electoral systems promotes a two horse race, maining it aince impossible for a minonty party to gain an inguience.

State Barrot Access Laws can cost a party anything up to $12 million to appear an barrots

Such as Texas would also acquire many signatures Supporting the party.

Nany businesses see minor parties as wasted votes so do not provide themisith ginancial support. Hany cannot receive state benegits as they must have received at least 5% of votes in the previous election Host of the money minor parties do have would be spent on ballot access Laws.

Finally, the media does not offer coverage of the minor parties. This causes a lack of public recognition compared to the two main parties.

overau the main gactors that unit the electoral impact of minor parties are all linked However one of the

Examiner Comments

This answer is not untypical of the standard of answers produced for this question. There are four separate points but none is developed with any conviction - the figure of '$12 million' gives every appearance of being plucked out of thin air, for example - and the answer belongs towards the bottom of Level Two.

Short answer introductions: this candidate gives an overview in the first paragraph of the points they are going on to make. There is a waste of time; the points cannot be rewarded twice, and in this case they are barely developed beyond the initial summary anyway.

Question 2(y)

Given that 'extent of minority representation' is part of a fairly brief specification for Racial and Ethnic Politics, this question should not have come as too much of a surprise to centres, but it was evident that few, if any, candidates were prepared for it. Those that did tackle it did so presumably out of desperation, since hardly any made much advance into Level Two. A good proportion could explain the concept of a majority-minority district but after that rewardable points dried up for almost all; among other factors, the escalating cost of Senate campaigns and the nature of statewide electorates could have been explored. A number attempted to make something of relative incumbency rates, but in fact Senate incumbents are almost always proportionately less safe than their counterparts in the House.

Centres need to employ a little imagination when anticipating possible questions. On any given paper, there will always be some that are new, but the specification sets well marked parameters which must always be observed. It would be particularly prudent, for example, for centres to ensure that all the 'key concepts' of the specification are known and thoroughly understood by their candidates.

	Indicate your second question choice on this page. You will be asked to indicate your third question choice on page 9. Put a cross in the box 🛛 indicating the second question you have chosen. If you change your mind, put a line through the box 🗟 and then indicate your new question with a cross 🕅
	Chosen Question Number:
-	Question 1 🔀 Question 2 🖓 Question 3 🖂
-	Question 4 🖾 Question 5 🖾
	The Representation of numerities in the political process is something which here been growing in recent yours, reflected by the election of President Bewart O Lama who inchielly come from the Sunde Rowene dury his time the was the only black Scenter and after tim the way only one more. This accounts for 1% of this chamber. This is in 1% compared with the 12.820 of the population who are African their me
	This is compared with 1/2 m me Hora of Representations which is nuch attac close to a representative figure Plasse The reasons for this are not de jure' as in the cety 20th Certing but ite facto.

Emery the gulf in representation lies in the fact that Smate elections are hold on a statewide basis compared when the congressional districts for the name of Regreentaches. This majorky - michority district system allows for the state legislature to "gery-mender" the congressional districts every 10 years based on the population and. They are create districts which an brene Africa American nujerity southy energy the electeral success of African American and deter. This is not as states alone a single minority outweights the white population for this renor It is head for the posties to seeme areas for andidates who are of on ethnic bustes rand the possibility of deation This is linked to the Princy System which Fakes soutast from the centres flarty throughouter, and a result the supposed " smoke filled cooms of the barty Barry in places like Tammary Harl, New York, This mens the scheetin of cendidletes is done by the cleaborate not The party Unlike in the United Kingdom, the party at a motional level cannot "paradrate" a minority condidate into a sent, but the local people must devide who will represent them As "Tip O'Neilla said all politics is cocal" and it is different for minorities to represent states as they are ust homogeneous usually multicultural where the defferent varial graups do not mix in the methy pat idea but none separate. distinguished groups rebaining their organal ethnicity This is known as the 'salad bowl' concept which copplains My ashock's unight not reprease people state wide level bet an a Cocally drawn district it easier Rug way find ate's ele bian mere bure. On state · Vepi fo. Arent uninor ty Groups fer Althour Fost First l'udfred e to Parst Past he does Lichs. Abst Aro locul land naune Vesult a. and rector aquesting of result As when Kn want to be the Vhite Suil The low Mmortios his boot 0 Mow, County the to p Creente minority - negos by

ResultsPlus

Examiner Comments

This answer is typical of many to this question in its limited content. The point on the second side about primaries has a promising feel but it is never really brought out.

> Results Plus Examiner Tip

Question selection: before you finally commit yourself to a question, mentally run through the list of points you can relevantly make. Ideally you need at least three, and if your list stops at two - or one - have another look at the other questions.

Question 3(x)

Like question one, initiatives and propositions are a very familiar topic, which appeared on this route in its earlier guise several times before. Most candidates have been studying US politics for barely more than a term, and so it is unsurprising that at times they want to fall back on their AS knowledge; it is rarely successful though, and factors relating to UK referendums are of only limited application in a US context. This is another topic where well chosen evidence instantly lifts the quality of the answer, and references, for example, to the double negative in proposition 8 as an illustration of the disadvantages of propositions, were well rewarded. Another way of sharpening any answer which discusses advantages and disadvantages is to make it clear for whom or what an alleged (dis)advantage is supposed to operate, since often it can be both; the cost of signature gathering and campaigning, for example, can be claimed to be a disadvantage for ordinary voters, since it puts the cost of a viable campaign out of their reach, but it may well be an advantage for large corporations who can thereby exploit the initiative process to bypass elected politicians.

Indicate your first question choice on this page. You will be asked to indicate your second question choice on page 6.
Put a cross in the box 🛛 indicating the first question you have chosen. If you change your mind, put a line through the box 🔀 and then indicate your new question with a cross 🛛
Chosen Question Number:
Question 1 🖂 Question 2 🖂 Question 3 🔀
Question 4 🖾 Question 5 🖾
Initratives / propositions are used in 24 states in America.
Regardente They are where the electorate can add an idea to the ballot paper that has not yet been decided or discussed by state legislatur
They are much like regerendums but the electorate miliates the mainer decision usually anound 20% of the electorate are needed to add an initiature to the balled paper that astronges a petrode Many argue there are significant aduantages of propositions. The most important perbeing it is the public who can initiate the change This is man so important because to attacoustice even is state legislature is ignoring a subject - the electorate can force vote on it. Eurthermore, it is another form of direct democracy - this means the electrorate can get a direct say in decisions which affect them and those around them. Issues on abortion rights and gay manyarge are often decided this way 11 is also ensures another form of participation in the political system - and convoversial issues promote higher tumout. The 120000 initiatives in California and Ohion gay marraye Ohion equally had almost as higher humoul as the general election! These packors all resendence terre are enhance democracy - porting as outcomes have tegitiment higher regilimacy and representation // However, baces a more recent interpretation argues (House propositions have significant problems. The most important failing hes with money broken mostly these decisions are run by wealthy special interest groups which none can mislead the voters, they also often have more opportunity and easier access to these voters, so the argument may be one sided. This argument is so the important because it is the second of th the system can be undernovated Furthermore, throw any a proposition is passed it is very difficult for it to be amended in light of any difficulties or propposes with wording - while this does mean the state governments can not change its meaning for for their own benefit it does also doesn't allow for desize the same debating process used for nonnal legislation

1

This the arguments against outline key dradiantages with the instative system and the production of the but

ResultsPlus

Examiner Comments

This is a very characteristic mid-upper Level Two answer. There is a good range of points on both parts of the question, but a shortage of evidence to support them. If the candidate was able to find a good example of a wealthy interest group manipulating the initiative procedure, and evaluate its significance, it would almost certainly lift the answer into Level Three.

Evidence: a range of contemporary examples is crucial to moving your answer from Level Two to Level Three, since they provide the evidence to back your points up.

Question 4(z)

This question was a straightforward version of a popular topic and was attempted by a good proportion of candidates. Once again, the factor which limited answers to Level 2 was the lack of development; lobbying is in its nature is a covert activity, but it has nevertheless received plenty of coverage in recent years which could have been profitably used. The Abramoff scandal, the ban President Obama imposed on the employment of lobbyists (and its alleged attenuation subsequently) and the role lobbyists played in the passage of health care (see for example http://www.youtube. com/watch?v=otyuLfBC6Vg&NR=1) could all have been adduced and discussed.

Indicate your third question choice on this page.
Put a cross in the box 🛛 indicating the third question you have chosen. If you change your mind, put a line through the box 🗟 and then indicate your new question with a cross 🖾 .
Chosen Question Number:
Question 1 🛛 Question 2 🖾 Question 3 🖾
Question 4 🛛 Question 5 🖂
The impact of lobbyid has been tainly conbroversial arer de years.
Firstly are factor is that lobby ists such as the National Kitle Associations Chris W. For can become excessive. One representive occasion was Jack Abrahmolt who was railed frombery which was unelical lobbying. This can trentsh the way petrices are node and nake people more suspincous at the petitical system and nin as utagnéy.
Furdence, pres lobby of strem pressure groups car become parts at the 'power elite' and are able to affluence US policies. For instance menses of Re'neo-conservation' American & Entreprise troublete where is corporated into Re Buch admis trute and were able to heavy intherea US foreign policy.
Tishon been seen to be controversial as it undering reprodected dengency and it als reproses a aber minorly of secrety.

Additionally have is the revaine- door syndrome brovery as elected of frails take which as bough if they loose beir seat in an mary by lobby groundt cast is contreversal election. This to have brack odificeurs who have just been rejected by societor who rd I grave people to work the for them and PLOSER Wal represent them are shill getting payed to influence the policy-marking system inchurad Maeger the decisions 10 bby st strend to farair by promesses such as cil can who want registation to know representative democracy as laborists are not representative of society and as t on are unelected and berefore unrepresentative. Therefore it can be said Bat many policies which come out of Cagress are not democratic and not what de ordinary person desires. This is confirmented as it creates another cumargist be public and adds comphated the American political system which people resent.

Results Jus

Examiner Comments

This answer has the merit of a clear structure and some good use of supporting detail. Some of the expression could be more precise, but overall it belongs at the top of Level Two.

ResultsPlus

Examiner Tip

Clarity of structure: plan your answer briefly (if only in your head) before you start writing, and work out which points you are making, and in what order.

Question 5(z)

It continues to be a puzzle why questions on parties are less popular than they are, since they offer candidates unrivalled scope for drawing on their own knowledge, rather than relying on their textbooks. The stronger answers showed a really impressive grasp of both current events and recent history. It has also to be said that a good proportion of answers relied on a rather formulaic recital of the values and policies of the same three factions within the party, the Blue Dogs, the Democratic Leadership Council and the 'internet left', sometimes with little reference to their influence, which was after all the question. Press reports of the demise of the DLC in February (see for example http://www.latimes.com/news/politics/la-pn-democratic-leadership-council-20110208,0,2842242. story) suggest that these answers will require updating next time round.

this page. Left Winy Progressives DLC. Criteria Indicate your third question choice on this page. adents BUCNES h or s of Put a cross in the box 🛛 indicating the third question you have chosen. If you change your mind, put a line through the box 😹 Jua wfside Gragess and then indicate your new question with a cross \boxtimes . ISN'T Chosen Question Number: Numbers. Question 1 🔀 Question 2' Question 3 🕅 Question 4 Question 5 The definite left Wing of the Democratic Party pare the Progressive faction, as they are the most liberal faction. Aughting for walth care the Poor and ethnic many factors which they are - for example, whether have an alle with the Prosident, Policies managod to pass, positions of they have power and how well known they are For example, the President Barack Obama farous the Progressives, therefore increasing their influence as have the same ideas about lots of paucies such as the health care report. They are the largest faction in the Democratic Porty with approximately 80 in numbers . They have a large Opproximately 80 in numbers . They have a large influence in Sub-committees and committees as Progressives chair a possible 10 of 20 committees. hunder influence is conflicting with that of the right wings, casting a shadow on their attempts influence the executive and pass policies

The key word in this question is 'influential' and, although the expression could be sharper and some more evidence adduced, this answer does have the merit of keeping influence fairly tightly in focus.

> Results Plus Examiner Tip

Keep using the key word or words of the question in your answer, as it will help keep your response directly linked to the question.

Question 6

ī.

As indicated earlier, race maintained its recent position as most popular essay topic, a complete reversal from a few years ago. An important requirement of this question was to establish, at least implicitly, what the aims of affirmative action were (and are), against which its success and failure could be measured. Without this, a lot of the discussion of the attitudes of the 'extreme left' and the 'moderate right' lacked focus, and indeed read like answers to a different question. Similarly, the evidence produced of continued racial profiling, and discrepancies in mandatory minimums for 'black' and 'white' offences, was potentially relevant but was very often not made so; continued racial profiling may not be evidence of the failure of affirmative action, for example, if the elimination of racism from the police force was never part of its aims.

Many answers drew on the same narrow range of sources, with the consequence that they sounded very similar and conveyed little sense of personal engagement. The reliance on statistics of doubtful provenance, highlighted in last summer's report, continued unabated; it is worth repeating that, without attribution, statistics add very little substance to an argument. Combined with the anecdotal feel to a number of points often made - e.g. 'affirmative action makes blacks lazy' - there was a notable lack of rigour in many answers.

	Put a cross in the box 🛛 indicating the question you have chosen. If you change your mind, put a line through the box 쮼 and then indicate your new question with a cross 🛛
	Chosen Question Number:
	Question 6 🛛 Question 7 🖾 Question 8 🖾
	Agginative action was an issue of massive importance in the 1960s and TOs, and is still a hotly debated issue today. Despite its apparent success in this time period, it curved be joy jogotter that bearge Wallace, white my supremaist, was over 13% of the presidential wate any many Souther states in 1968, showing the opposition
N	-touty dearly, especially as Wallace jought as an independent
	7 Results Plus
	Examiner Comments
in t arg affi thir or f	introduction is important for an essay; it should clarify any key terms he question, outline the key issues it raises, and indicate the line of ument the essay is going to follow. Although it does at least mention rmative action, this introduction unfortunately fails to do any of these ngs. By focusing on opposition to affirmative action, rather than its success failure, the candidate immediately gives the impression that they have an wer they intend to deliver, irrespective of what the question is.

Question 7

Election outcomes are usually a popular topic, but the small numbers attempting it, and the generally moderate performance of those who did, suggest this question caught candidates unawares. 'The outcome of recent elections' features unambiguously in the specification, and, as this question shows, they can be asked about in a way which allows a synoptic discussion. A number of the answers seemed to have been written with the question set in the summer on the significance of midterms in mind, with the consequence that they were in good part unrewardable. The question did ask about elections in the plural, and those answers that could only refer to 2010 were unable to progress beyond Level Two for AO1.

Put a cross in the box 🛛 indicating the question you have chosen. If you change your mind, put a line through the box 😹 and then indicate your new question with a cross 🛛 Chosen Question Number: Ouestion 6 Question 7 🕅 Question 8 🔀 0 The HOR onure este es was a direct reaction to Busk's poor handley of The Municip Hatsing disaste This it ungered that, because votes vote that them rospectively. The Presidents portoman is Maria referending thing up for effect Furthermorp, These cout seeningly realized by the Congressme as well 2010 milton, Dereratie Daring the Blue By Deneverat is perticide) were wqu Ohene not to come to their state, see is failing in the first two years won the outside of their elation. This Congresses, also realize that mind tens are hugely effe by a President and their performing the analyst ague, on just -Utocat determined Preside tid performing Analyst ague that due to Obama's failure , Thi The Brownets lost The 2010 al angue las be shown two-fold; - ability to satisfy and mobil Thu grass-roots of the party d are singly half - hearted approval to railing reforms. Jin Madematt and other Programme Devocats were discogginited with his boalth Cap Congi energy Lalie epono . And Say my 2010 Brozentie donly with nielton twood being extremely low (between 2 and 4%) grass - not of the party wast inpressed eit Secondly Obanias securi tare by is betwee history canoed a retreat as right of certas independed but to the Republic, party Analysts argue Therefore that Obance word able to place the right or left of his party, cousing disillusured and defeting of independent water that water they is 2008. Thus Obarre's performance was responsible for the Denorestic las is 2010 and this they any is that the 2010 midtens were a weter on File dans Presidency, a repudiation and Thus a refreshing Henerer other political connectators would suggest that this 2010 p defect was it a pepidiation of Obana rake that has privery victory was a regulation of Buch. They argue that you in 2006 and 2008 a lot of the Congressions set we are of the back of ange at But heren once the Bush region ended these to be the Regulting we always going to shift back regardless of Openeis performance. This they argue can be son through the rise of the Isa Party Rot and starter diving Dog, well before ite Mid Time suggesting that , as son as Buch had gne, The Republican went about finding a new way to win back Their votes Thes analysi aque that it would a referreding on Obany, rather a realition of conservative independent will their old but reinverted party buttermore , analyst paint to analyse as an overiding determinent of midlen election, In 1998, 983 % of The House of Representation And were (MOR) That were waking re-electric won Air reat. This phenominal Actistic sugged that regardless of Preschetich performing incurlency will always have the majority of the sead devided or safe. This is further shown through the 2010 increation rating being 87% is HOR and 84% in the fearthe Yes some voter may have voted against the parties because of Oben but truth be told , The regarity of seats (that it love Man casual) were raifely recaptured by incurbed. These analysis angue that had the 2010 and 2006 millers been a true referredun on Obona al Bush potermanas, the survives would have been and toner und higher In addition, analyst point out that way is a and a national is a set up that determinent of Congressional detring. Thus, is 2010, analyst stor paid and that a let of Renorat loss were by Blue By Brunst The suggest that a lot of the people in those states why had previously been control ist de state policie put à place by M Devocatie Congressmen. This each state decided to rote Land in a depublices to regain a more Conservative political state - hoodemore states like California would take into account institute Congression and there policies on may inpilet True such as immigration but also affinitive action (reputations of it through CCRI (1496) What more overding rational issues carly the provide fluence the other of midden Andyes won because the population were supporting But but rather the overding rational since of the time att was noticed security This is which took over the political some between 2002 and 2005 (and continues being a prominent is sue) has always been seen as an issue best dealt with by the Republican Connetites argue that the people like the 'security Mans always prefer the Republic and Their more militaristic as a cupe option Thus it is argued that the President way inclevent but star it was The party and their poling as a whole on Actual Securit That same Then conversingly with the 2002 mid-terry & the 2004 Congression b To conclude, one must not use one rid-terry as The example to prove The point. It is quite that le 2006 Cen was a re 60 cus elino 0 24 2005 Ca 0 ťà ~e Le 200 CR orma 54 Ca 12 Gron Ø IS esu

20

2

This is an unusually strong answer to this question. Although the candidate focuses, not unreasonably, on 2010, there is certainly enough on previous elections to place the answer in Level Three.

Examiner Comments

Question 8

Pressure groups are traditionally the most popular topic on this route, and indeed its AS equivalent, but either the new found popularity of race, or the unfamiliar angle of this question, meant this question was only answered by a relative few. Somewhat like question six, this question required candidates to adapt familiar knowledge to an unfamiliar context and it was a task beyond the majority who tried, with the consequence that Level 3 answers were few and far between. Pressure groups have always had a role in setting the political agenda and, since it is arguable whether this has increased or declined in recent years, there was plenty of scope for synoptic debate. Centres would do well to remind candidates that answering the question is their first priority; many candidates reproduced their prepared answer on pressure groups' contribution to democracy with only a cursory nod in the direction of the question in front of them, and consequently could not be placed above Level 1.

Overall I believe that influence and dominance of prossure groups in US society 5 greatly overestimated by the media. Whil ableto have a significant impact by raising issues, such as H advocation Wade, these cases are rare and do no the current US political suster towards transparency. e aroups ntial if they are 'e meaning they and resources of a Campaig to the me pressure has also red rece indu Iron Triangle relationship voids an committees Congressional inferent no longer prominent Government departments thanks 10 Obama to decisions by those SUC acco bying money and barning his ag The. Triangle ibuiton (periously CEO of the company and tan Service Department would be mi less pon In today's society than in 2004. Similarly the revolu door syndrome of previous executive employees going to work for lobbying firms has been redu Obama's ban for all current employees. Pres cases each as Marc Racicot, Previous Leader of going to work for American Insurance Association To conclude pressure groups rarely define political issues but rather advocate and support concerns and offer to help to increase augureness. limits the role of Today Society

Results Plus

Conclusions are as important as introductions. The conclusion is the opportunity to give a final restatement of the thesis which has been argued for throughout the essay. This conclusion is longer than it need be, but it is nevertheless a very effective summing up of the arguments which have been deployed.

Conclusions; a conclusion rounds your essay off. Your conclusion shouldn't say anything new or come as a surprise, since you should be clearly signalling throughout the essay in what direction your arguments are going, but it is a final opportunity to summarise them and reinforce your central thesis.

Grade Boundaries

Grade boundaries for this, and all other papers, can be found on the website on this link: http://www.edexcel.com/iwantto/Pages/grade-boundaries.aspx

Further copies of this publication are available from Edexcel Publications, Adamsway, Mansfield, Notts, NG18 4FN

Telephone 01623 467467 Fax 01623 450481 Email publications@linneydirect.com Order Code UA026406 January 2011

For more information on Edexcel qualifications, please visit www.edexcel.com/quals

Edexcel Limited. Registered in England and Wales no.4496750 Registered Office: One90 High Holborn, London, WC1V 7BH

Llywodraeth Cynulliad Cymru Welsh Assembly Government

