

Guidance for centres wishing to design their own coursework programme

Do you want to design your own coursework programme or follow an 'off-the-peg' Edexcel designed coursework programme? Edexcel designed coursework Centre designed coursework Edexcel designed coursework programmes can be Teachers wishing to design their own found in the Getting Started Guide. These programme will need to seek approval. programmes can be adopted without seeking approval. You may also extend an Edexcel designed coursework programme or adapt the tasks without seeking approval. If you have Is the centre designed coursework specific queries regarding an Edexcel coursework programme being 'carried over' from an programme please email Edexcel Curriculum 2000 GCE History gcehistory@edexcelexperts.co.uk course or is it a brand new coursework programme? Centre designed coursework programmes being Brand new centre designed coursework 'carried over' from curriculum 2000 programmes Do you need early approval in order to plan There is no need to seek re-approval of the your course? coursework programme by following the formal Coursework Programme approval process. Would you like to receive early feedback? Teachers currently offering Edexcel Curriculum 2000 centre-designed programmes based on a period of at least 100 years should use the Yes electronic Coursework Continuation Form (C2000-GCE2008) - electronic submission which Outline Planning Form - electronic can be found on the Edexcel website submission (not compulsory) (www.edexcel.com). The form should be emailed to Edexcel via the 'Ask the Expert' service by Before completing a Coursework Approval emailing a copy of the form to Form teachers may wish to submit gcehistory@edexcelexperts.co.uk electronically, an early outline of their proposed coursework programme, in order to receive early feedback. The form should be emailed to gcehistory@edexcelexperts.co.uk No Brand new centre designed coursework programmes Teachers wishing to design a brand new coursework programme will be required to electronically submit a

If you have any queries about GCE History coursework or the coursework approval process please email your query to gcehistory@edexcelexperts.co.uk completed Coursework Programme Approval Form. This can be found on the Edexcel website at: www.edexcel.com. The form must be emailed to Edexcel via the 'Ask the Expert' service to gcehistory@edexcelexperts.co.uk