

IMPORTANT NOTICE

University of Cambridge International Examinations (CIE) in the UK and USA

With effect from the June 2003 examination University of Cambridge International Examinations will only accept entries in the UK and USA from students registered on courses at CIE registered Centres.

UK and USA private candidates will not be eligible to enter CIE examinations unless they are repatriating from outside the UK/USA and are part way through a course leading to a CIE examination. In that case a letter of support from the Principal of the school which they had attended is required. Other UK and USA private candidates should not embark on courses leading to a CIE examination after June 2003.

This regulation applies only to entry by private candidates in the UK and USA. Entry by private candidates through Centres in other countries is not affected.

Further details are available from Customer Services at University of Cambridge International Examinations.

You can find syllabuses and information about CIE teacher training events on the CIE Website (www.cie.org.uk).

LAW

Advanced Level

Subject 9084

INTRODUCTION

The main aim of the course is to provide a grounding in the main principles of the law prevailing in England and Wales. It will enable candidates to develop knowledge, understanding and critical awareness of the structure, personnel and operation of the English Legal System and of two areas of substantive law as well as encouraging them to develop skills of analysis and problem solving through the application of legal rules.

Certification Title

This syllabus will be shown on a certificate as
GCE AS Level Law/GCE Advanced Level Law

Rationale for Syllabus Design

Paper 1: The Structure and Operation of the English Legal System

This paper is based on a number of compulsory topics surrounding the structure and operation of the English Legal System, grouped under the headings

- Sources of Law
- Machinery of Justice
- Legal Personnel

Together, these topics provide a detailed insight into the origins and development of law, the functions and procedures of legal institutions and of the roles of those working within those institutions. Study of this component will provide candidates with a thorough understanding of law and the legal process.

Paper 2: Data Response: The English Legal System

Candidates study the same content as for Paper 1 but in Paper 2 the candidate's ability to analyse a given case is tested. Candidates are expected to apply their knowledge and critically examine the case in question.

Paper 3: Law of Contract

- Formation of Contracts
- Contents of Contracts
- Vitiating Factors
- Remedies for Breach of Contract

Paper 4: Law of Tort

- Negligence
- Occupier's Liability
- Private Nuisance and Rylands v Fletcher
- Trespass
- Remedies.

AIMS

The aims of the Advanced Level syllabus are set out below. They describe the purposes of a course in Law for the examinations, but are not listed in priority order.

The aims are:

- To provide an introduction to legal concepts and rules and the machinery involved in their introduction, application and enforcement.
- To encourage candidates to explore and understand the substantive rules of law.
- To explore and critically assess the value of legal rules, processes and institutions.
- To develop skills of communication, interpretation, reasoning and analysis.

ASSESSMENT OBJECTIVES

Advanced level candidates are expected to demonstrate:

Knowledge and Understanding

- recall, select, use and develop knowledge and understanding of legal principles and rules by means of example and citation

Analysis, Evaluation and Application

- analyse and evaluate legal materials, situations and issues and accurately apply appropriate principles and rules

Communication and Presentation

- use appropriate legal terminology to present logical and coherent argument and to communicate relevant material in a clear and concise manner.

SCHEME OF ASSESSMENT

Advanced Level

Paper	Type	Duration	Numbers of questions	Maximum Mark	Weight
1	Essay	1 hr 30 mins	3 from 6	75	30%
2	Data Response	1 hr 30 mins	1 from 2	25	20%
3	Essays and Problems	1 hr 30 mins	3 from 6	75	25%
4	Essays and Problems	1 hr 30 mins	3 from 6	75	25%

Paper 1 will assess the section of the syllabus entitled Structure and Operation of the English Legal System.

Paper 2 will assess the section of the syllabus entitled Structure and Operation of the English Legal System from the perspective of case analysis.

Paper 3 will assess the section entitled Law of Contract.

Paper 4 will assess the section entitled Law of Tort.

The AS/A Level Advanced Level qualification will be available for first examination in June 2004, again in November 2004, and at every June and November examination session thereafter.

Description of Papers

Paper 1

The paper consists of one section.

There are six essay type questions. The questions may be drawn from any of the three sub-divisions of the section of the syllabus entitled Structure and Operation of the English Legal System. Candidates will be required to answer three questions from this section.

The duration of the paper is one hour and thirty minutes.

Paper 2

The paper consists of one section.

There are two data response questions that are based on case analysis of the section of the syllabus entitled Structure and Operation of the English Legal System. Candidates answer only one question.

The duration of the paper is one hour and thirty minutes.

Paper 3

The paper consists of two sections, A and B.

Section A will contain three essay type questions and section B will contain three scenario-based problem questions. Candidates will be expected to answer one question from each of sections A and B and one other, making a total of three. Questions may be drawn from any of the topics in that section of the syllabus entitled Law of Contract. The duration of the paper is one hour and thirty minutes.

Paper 4

The paper consists of two sections, A and B.

Section A will contain three essay type questions and section B will contain three scenario-based problem questions. Candidates will be expected to answer one question from each of sections A and B and one other, making a total of three. Questions may be drawn from any of the topics in that section of the syllabus entitled Law of Tort. The duration of the paper is one hour and thirty minutes.

Specification Grid

The relationship between the Assessment Objectives and the individual components is detailed below. The objectives are weighted to give an indication of their relative importance, rather than to provide a precise statement of the percentage mark allocation to particular assessment objectives.

Assessment Objective	Paper 1	Paper 2	Paper3	Paper 4
Knowledge/Understanding	50	30	50	50
Analysis/Evaluation/Application	40	60	40	40
Communication/Presentation	10	10	10	10

TEACHERS' NOTES

Many Centres will be familiar with the previous Advanced Level Law syllabus 9084. The new syllabus reflects concerns expressed by examiners and Centres about the breadth of that syllabus. It differs from the syllabus it replaces in a number of respects, including the following:

- The syllabus content is more focused, with fewer topics to be covered.
- The syllabus content has been more clearly divided into discrete areas that will remove overlap in examinations.
- The examination format has changed; in particular, data response questions are now included in the examination paper and essay and scenario-based problem questions will appear in both Papers 2 and 3.
- Greater emphasis is given to skills-based learning, and it is recommended that Centres take particular note of the assessment objectives.

There is also marked continuity with the previous syllabus. Key topics of the English Legal System, Law of Contract and Law of Tort have been retained in the new syllabus, albeit in tighter, more streamlined formats. Overall, the examinations will continue to test broadly the same skills as previously.

The Structure and Operation of the English Legal System is the sole focus of Paper 1 and builds on Centres' experience of Paper 1 of the previous syllabus. It comprises three units. Teaching and learning strategies will need to reflect the style of the examination paper which will call upon candidates to not merely recall facts, but also to evaluate procedures and processes, discuss and comment on legal developments, assess contributions made by key personnel or institutions etc. The English Legal System evolves constantly; candidates will be expected to be aware of changes to systems, procedures and practices that have either been proposed or taken place up to twelve calendar months prior to examination. A good knowledge and understanding of all units will serve as a good foundation for further study of the subject.

Papers 2 and 3 consist of eight units deriving from the substantive areas of the laws of contract and tort, both of which were to be found in the previous syllabus. The two examination papers will contain both essay and scenario-based problems, but no candidate will need to tackle more than one scenario-based problem on each. Each examination paper addresses a discrete legal topic, thus making preparation for it less onerous for the candidates than has been the case for Paper 2 of the previous syllabus.

There are three examination papers for the syllabus. Paper 1 has a different format from that used for Papers 2 and 3 and Centres are advised to study the rubric requirements carefully and ensure that candidates are fully aware of these requirements before they sit the examination. Practising the different types of question – essay, data response and scenario-based problem – both during the academic year and at revision time would be an essential part of the preparation of candidates for the examinations.
