

Examiners' Report Principal Examiner Feedback

Summer 2019

Pearson Edexcel International Advanced Level In Law (YLA1)

Paper 1: Underlying Principles of Law and English Legal System

Edexcel and BTEC Qualifications

Edexcel and BTEC qualifications are awarded by Pearson, the UK's largest awarding body. We provide a wide range of qualifications including academic, vocational, occupational and specific programmes for employers. For further information visit our qualifications websites at www.btec.co.uk. Alternatively, you can get in touch with us using the details on our contact us page at www.edexcel.com/contactus.

Pearson: helping people progress, everywhere

Pearson aspires to be the world's leading learning company. Our aim is to help everyone progress in their lives through education. We believe in every kind of learning, for all kinds of people, wherever they are in the world. We've been involved in education for over 150 years, and by working across 70 countries, in 100 languages, we have built an international reputation for our commitment to high standards and raising achievement through innovation in education. Find out more about how we can help you and your students at: www.pearson.com/uk

Grade Boundaries

Grade boundaries for all papers can be found on the website at:

https://qualifications.pearson.com/en/support/support-topics/results-certification/grade-boundaries.html

Summer 2019
Publications Code YLA1_01_1906_ER
All the material in this publication is copyright © Pearson Education Ltd 2019

Introduction

This was the fifth paper in this 2015 new specification for International A-Level Law. The new Paper 1 contains 5 questions of 20 marks each. There is no question choice on the paper, candidates are required to answer all questions. The format of the paper is that the first two questions consist of short to medium response questions, the next two questions consist of multi-part, problem-solving questions and the last question on the paper is a problem-solving question. The paper is worth 50% of the total International A-Level raw marks. The subject content for the paper is selected from the nature, purpose of and liability in Law, and the sources of English law, its enforcement and administration.

Most candidates attempted all questions, although some candidates omitted to answer Questions 2(c), 4(b) and 4(c). This would appear to be because of lack of knowledge, rather than time issues.

Candidates are advised to read the whole paper before starting, as there were instances of repetition of information. Interpretation of questions and their command words need to be improved upon. Candidates must remember that each part of a question is marked in isolation, so if the correct information for part a of a question is put wrongly in the answer to part b of that question rather than in part a, no marks will be awarded for that information. That does not mean that candidates should put all they know on a topic down three times for each section of a question.

Candidates are also advised to ensure that their handwriting is legible and remains so for the entire paper. It is appreciated that candidates are rushing to complete the paper in a limited time, but legibility is important. Trying to decipher handwriting was somewhat of a problem this year.

General issues

Questions carrying 2 or 4 marks are asking candidates for points- based answers which means they could receive a mark for every correct accurate point made in answering the question. Space provided for answers should inform candidates of the length of the required response. Command words such as 'State', 'Describe' or 'Explain', gain marks for providing knowledge, description or explanation and providing examples for exemplification of specific legal concepts.

Questions worth 6, 10,12,14 or 20 marks are asking candidates to provide an explanation, assessment, analysis or evaluation of a given legal concept or issue using a combination of appropriate legal knowledge together with an assessment of the issue. Candidates answers are awarded a mark based on the level of response they display.

Questions asking for 'Analyse' require candidates to weigh up a legal issue with accurate knowledge supported by authorities or legal theories and to display developed reasoning and balance. Questions asking for 'Evaluation' additionally require a balanced and justified conclusion based on this reasoning.

Question 1a: (2 Marks)

This question is a points-based one where the candidate needs to state the meaning of 'ratio decidendi'.

Many candidates could only EITHER state the meaning OR give an example. This meant they were awarded 1 mark rather than 2, as in the example below.

	Answer AL	L questions.
	Write your answers i	n the spaces pro	vided.
(a) State the meaning o	f'ratio decidendi'.			(2)
ratio d'ecide	nti means.	lne reci	son of f	Le deasion th
		Ū

However, the example below, although rather difficult to read, scored 2.

	Answer ALL questions.	lfor
Writ	te your answers in the spaces provi	ded.
(a) State the meaning of 'rati	0	trace by sennin (2)
It is the	season why the	, Judge bostel his desision	on. This can be	shown in the autill cose	whoe the rate	decidentist was that an our	a can be mad	e to the whole

Q1(b): (6 Marks)

This was marked using a levels-of-response based mark scheme. The candidates' answers were assessed in their entirety and allocated a level based on where this best fitted the level descriptors.

The command word in this question was 'Briefly describe'. Candidates were required in their description to demonstrate understanding of how Judicial Precedent operates in the civil court system and illustrate this by providing examples.

Candidates' answers often just attempted to describe the terms 'ratio' and 'obiter', and to say that higher courts bind lower courts. These answers were usually very simplistic. Some answers contained nothing about the hierarchy but wrote about different types of precedent.

For level 1 candidates were only able to provide isolated elements of knowledge and understanding of the hierarchy.

For level 2 candidates provided several elements of knowledge supported an attempt at some illustration

For level 3 candidates demonstrated detailed understanding supported by relevant application and authorities.

The example below was a top of band 2 answer. If it had included a case example it could have been band 3.

(b) Briefly describe how judicial precedent operates in the civil court hierarchy. (6)
Judicial precedent is a decision formerly made in court that can be referred to in the hoping. They are binding to lower courts when the precedent is made by a higher court For example, a precedent made by the Court of Appeal binds the courts under it but doesn't bind the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court's precedent is my binding to all other courts but it is not bound by any on the supreme court is also not bound by itself but they ravely change their disagree with their previous decisions.
Fudicial precedents are only weed when a case with Principal details appear in court. Enterto one thigher courts are either able to follow preced decisions or overrule it.
,

Question 1(c): (12 Marks)

This question was marked using a levels-of-response based mark scheme. The candidates' answers were assessed in their entirety and allocated a level based on where this best fitted the level descriptors.

The command word in this question was 'Assess', which was looking for an extended answer, weighing up the advantages and disadvantages of the doctrine of judicial precedent. This should have included a balanced assessment, with some illustration. All too often responses were just in a brief numbered list, with vague points such as 'certainty' or 'rigidness' given without any expansion or illustration.

For level 1 candidates gave isolated elements of knowledge.

For level 2 candidates demonstrated some understanding and began to make connections.

For level 3 candidates demonstrated accurate understanding and attempts application using examples.

For level 4 candidates demonstrated thorough and accurate understanding, logical chains of reasoning and good application.

The example below is a top of band 3 answer. If some illustration or examples had been given it would have been top band.

Examiner tip

Try and identify the key issues/cases to enhance your mark. This will mean your answers will be more concise and focused.

Examiner comments
The answer below scored 9 - top of band 3. It assesses the position but needs illustration to be in the top band.

(c) Assess the advantages and disadvantages of the doctrine of judicial precedent. (12)The advantages of indizing precedent are consistency. This is because the similar fact of the case and dead can be reten to the present decision. Therefore, there who come to the fame will have Therefore, there is a consistency of the present for those who are tothe law. secondly, the advantages of present preceded is true commency. The langers Letter have to send for the ratio of the care as with the similar fact. This will be very time song as the godgement don't Lime to bestart allower again in the count. The third advertage is flexibility, Ans is send so as His florate flexible for pulyes to among the low with the wesitystime The disadvantages of indical precedent is it is commeand compressing. This is because there are many precedent me berg made theretone it is very difficult for langers to search for the native by prior Learners. Secondly, the processed precedent is rigid as the principle of it is to form the precedent exters is hed my priber become mound care the bud law to pepertual for a long period of time well sure omerbut prages amends to amended. Thindry, the marerel forecedent will promote learness of the proage. This is brance prage only has to apply the precedent bothe case and no even make his own approxim towards the case. The lastry, the Sister tayed to marie 1 preceded is unconstitutional. Parliament should be theory law making body. As now indges can make their precedent, this has nothingny the seperation of pover and undermeter perliametery soveneighty.

Q2(a): (4 Marks)

This question is a points-based one where the candidate needs to state any four stages that a bill must pass through to become an act of parliament.

The command word is 'state' which only requires knowledge, therefore an example for each stage was all that was required, not an explanation of each stage. Also stages prior to the bill were not required, nor was it necessary to get the stages in the correct order.

Therefore, the example below scored full marks.

Whereas the example below only scored 2 marks.

2 (a) State any four stages a bill must pass through to become an Act of Parliament.

(1) Corin Paper
(2) while paper
(5) 1st recoling
(4) 2nd reading

(4)

Q2(b): (6 Marks)

This question was marked using a level- of-response based mark scheme. The candidates' answers were assessed in their entirety and allocated a level based on where this best fitted the level descriptions.

The command word here is 'analyse' which requires candidates to weigh up the effectiveness of any ONE of the three statutory rules given, with accurate knowledge supported by authorities or legal theories and to display developed reasoning and balance.

For level 1 candidates were only able to provide isolated elements of knowledge.

For level 2 candidates provided elements of knowledge and understanding. For level 3 candidates demonstrated detailed understanding supported by relevant examples.

Candidates did well on this question. Below is an example of a top band answer.

- (b) Analyse the effectiveness of any one of the following rules of statutory interpretation:
 - · Literal rule
 - Golden rule
 - · Mischief rule.

(6)

The Mischies rule under the literal approach is known as the most effective and strongest rule among all. To the truly interpret statutes, there are four principles to be followed as given in the Heydon's Case. O What is the common law before passage of the Act. O What is the mischief which is not provided in by the common law. O What did the Parliament do to resolve the defect and O What is the true reason of Parliament giving the remedy. The Mischief rule is stated in the Law Commission's report as a 'rather satisfactory approach' among all the rules in literal approach. The Mischief rule helps is in filling loopholes of law, but at the same time it also encourages prejudices when judgus are free to include their opinion in interpreting statutes. If creates an infringement in separation of power.

Q2(c): (10 Marks)

This question was marked using a levels-of-response based mark scheme. The candidates' answers were assessed in their entirety and allocated a level based on where this best fitted the level descriptions.

The command word in this question was 'Assess', which was looking for an extended answer, weighing up the advantages and disadvantages of parliamentary law making. This should have included a balanced assessment with examples of statutes to illustrate both advantages and disadvantages.

For level 1 candidates gave isolated elements of knowledge.

For level 2 candidates demonstrated some understanding and began to make connections.

For level 3 candidates demonstrated accurate understanding and attempt application using examples.

For level 4 candidates demonstrated thorough and accurate understanding, logical chains of reasoning and good application.

The assessment in many candidates' answers was very simplistic, often unbalanced and without any examples or authorities for justification. Again, it was common to see a brief numbered list with generic statements such as 'slow process', or 'democratic', but with no illustration.

Below is an example of a top band answer.

Examiner tip

For an assess question there needs to be a balance between displaying a thorough understanding and application of the question topic and the need to show analysis and skills

Examiner comments
This scored 8 - band 4 marks. It assesses advantages and disadvantages and provides examples / illustration to points made.

In the English legal ryskm, it is considered tend (and making is the preszogative of palliament, parliament comprises of the house of commons and the name of pase of lords and the number of advantages. Firstly, since Parliament is considered to be a supreme law making body within the UK. Thy tive the Migria indefered Act. This wer they pass a law it is more likely to be tellared by and obered by the public comprises of MPS who are Herrocraftically elected. This supposes vokes and feelings of the general Public. In instance, we Abordia Act 1967 Stitued have a private member bill which reflected the century of the society. It additions bills suggested by the parliament undergoes from a runnbur of stages from 6'18st reading to second reading, committee stage, report stage, third reading take I conde on a leavy to the owner. This ensures precision and when constant check and balance Morreaver, the bill, two agreet the process of becoming on Act is debated upon, which mimplies that it is coved through different views and perespectives before broadly becoming along However, the problem with parliament law making is that they have reither the other thing rest the detailed view to pass nowious laws. The process is also very combusione and strusstul. It is also argued that wembers of the for ligner cives a many different life than most people of and as a result cannot make y laws which will benefit the Socilly: They are also said to cack technical and local branky. newebs furthereners, it is not possible fore the parliament to forsee every future needs of the society, are to much law making by the partiament benetis may be a succe since ux (au is based on Parliament Sovoreignity. (Total for Question 2 = 20 marks)

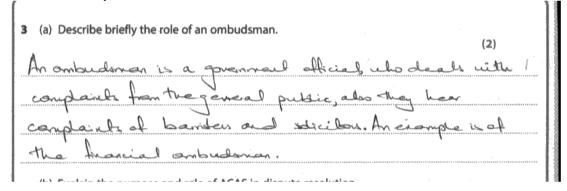

Q3(a): (2 Marks)

The command word is 'describe briefly' which requires candidates to provide an accurate description of the role of an ombudsman. One mark is awarded for the definition of a role and a further mark for expansion or example. The question was not done very well on the whole.

The example below was given 2 marks.

As was the example below.

Q3(b): (4 Marks)

The command word in this question was 'Explain', which was looking for a detailed answer explaining the purpose and the role of ACAS in dispute resolution.

This question is a points-based one where the candidate needed to explain the purpose for 2 marks and the role for 2 marks.

This question was very badly answered. Indeed, a number of candidates omitted the question completely. The answer below was given 4 marks.

The Advisory Conciliation and Arbitration services 1s formal in the process of conciliation 20 and has a vale in settling disputes which have may gone instead to the omployment tribunal.

When a dispute complaint is presented in the employment tribunal about equal pay or sox discrimination that a copy of it it's sent to the conciliator and he will try to solve the disputed before it goes to the employment tribunal.

The answer below scored 2 marks.

(b) Explain the purpose and ro	ole of ACAS in dispute res	olution.	(4)
The ACAS is a	n orbitation	institute in	the UK.
the purpose of th	e ALAS in	dispute 1	eso lutron is the arbitrate the	two partness	and help	thom
come up with a	solution to	the dopute	. The Acts provides legal advise	to such of	the parties	toffin than that the	,	o helps
both of the perties	privia ri	their dispute	es. The ALAS
one not stated by	protosional lan	yers.

Question 3(c): (14 Marks)

This question was marked using a levels-of-response based mark scheme. The candidates' answers were assessed in their entirety and allocated a level based on where this best fitted the level descriptions.

The command word in this question was 'Evaluate', which was looking for an extended answer with examples of the effectiveness of tribunals in the English Legal System.

Candidates were expected to set provide some detail and knowledge about the structure, composition and purpose of tribunals before explaining their advantages and disadvantages and drawing on evidence to then justify their argument as to their effectiveness. Candidates needed to weigh up the relevant issues and provide a conclusion.

Most candidates made general statements or comments about the composition and purpose rather than providing an evaluation and conclusion.

For level 1 candidates demonstrated isolated elements of knowledge For level 2 candidates demonstrated some elements of understanding and began to apply their knowledge to the question.

For level 3 candidates demonstrated accurate understanding of the question supported by relevant examples or authorities and attempted to balance reasoning and evaluate with a conclusion.

For level 4 candidates demonstrated thorough and accurate understanding and an awareness of competing arguments of the strengths and weaknesses with balanced interpretations, reasoning and a sound conclusion.

The answer below is an example of top band two/bottom band 3.

Examiner tip

Make sure you read and understand the command word in a question and the marks allocated. Check your answer regularly to make sure you stick rigidly to this.

The line inquish legal system, the tribunal site as a panel comprising of one tribunal chairman and 2 lay persons who possesses the televant expertise of the dispute are case at home for judge ment. Tribunal is another way of sett outside court settlement that aims to maintain a positive relationship between particulation after the dispute in is resolved.

The tribunaly works in lavour of the courts since it relieves the courts from heavy wareland, experiatly including areas of any regar of law reporting asylum and mental health. This means that tribunals works by may of an adjudicates in court, whereby evidence is listened and judged upon themselves. Due to this, tribunals are sais often described to be effective and higher ope tor in the commercial rector such as since the devisions given by the panel are to legally enforceable. No teaver, the tribun bring comprised of to by members preserving to bighty specialised expective in the fir disputation of tribunals in this sense; have the knowledge of mond be more effective than some judges in courts since they look know the technical details a beganding the laws of dispute arising in dispute Similar to court proceeds Proceedings lel by tribunals are also chapper and shorter than normal trial proceedings in court, thus, would be more effective in to as man socio mara people in society would be able to have access to it.

However, tribunals may not be effective since parties were are unable to if the parties are tried in courts. Thain legal aid from the state as apposed to the ability to do so in if they the
This may cause partie either or both parties to be at a financial imbalance of which may lead to justice net proporly served. Other than that, this realthough & the members of a tribunal men panel is of high expertise and is hig, meaning that they are specialized, it is still a passibility for the tribund chairments influence the decision or ap of the other 2 lay percons. This would result Such a judgement wool that is not of high imparticlity is not affective. Macaner Also, partles of a liquite may prefer a term sufflement of much is contidential. However, tribunance olving disputes by way of tribunal cannot satisfy that andition since tribunal hearings are open to public.
Overall, resolving Superture by way of tribunal is effective since it is formal, cost effective and can reach an early settlement unlike litigation. Duto However, the tribunal's powers are limited when it comes to awarding damages or serving panalties.
(Total for Question 3 = 20 marks)

Q4(a): (4 marks)

The command word is 'state' which requires candidates to show knowledge and provide an example for four ways of funding legal advice and representation.

This question is a points-based one where candidates were expected to provide 4 examples.

There was some confusion and some candidates answered the question wrongly, thinking it was about alternative dispute resolution (ADR).

Below is an example of an answer that scored 4 marks.

(a) State four ways of funding legal advice and representation. The four ways of funding legal advice and representation.	(4) tion are the state funding, insurance, legal funding from interested and private funding.	association
	[] ->===================================

The example below however scored no marks.

4 (a) State four ways of funding legal advice and representation.	(4)
Find Sali solicitors for legal advice.
Barristor can represent defendent on the court.
Must know some local knowledge of law.

Q4(b): (6 marks)

This question was marked using a level- of-response based mark scheme. The candidates' answers were assessed in their entirety and allocated a level based on where this best fitted the level descriptions.

The command word in this question was 'analyse', which was looking for candidates to weigh up the effectiveness of TWO ways of obtaining legal advice and representation to display developed reasoning and balance in a detailed answer with examples.

The question was badly answered. A lot of candidates gave answers solely based on alternative dispute resolution (ADR).

For level 1 candidates were only able to provide isolated elements of knowledge.

For level 2 candidates provided several elements of knowledge possibly supported by an example.

For level 3 candidates demonstrated detailed understanding supported by relevant examples.

Below are two examples of a band 2 answer.

(b) Analyse the effectiveness of two ways of obtaining legal advice and representation.
(6)
The conditional agreement could be one of the most effective ways of besting obtaining legal codvice as it encorages the representative to work better harder and more efficiently, have this these types of agreement are not oftenly made when the representative client presents a weak case.
The government appointed representatives are always evailable as longill as the government con confirm that the elient is not atte in a financial position to pay meaning it will not be available to everyone and the lawyers may be more relation to represent the chant as since effects they are not being pard by him.

By obtaining legal advice and representation under legal aid, the cocts are funded by state Besides. It increases the access of justice. Que to this aid by ATA 1999, underprivileged applicants can now acquire legal services.

Moreover, the nowin no fee agreement encourages the lawyers to fight for their clients. If the stip applicants are funded by private bodies, all the casts legal costs can be excluded if proved that the applicant does not have any means to bear the expenses. Phus than that the Howwer, there are some disadvantages brought by legal aid and private funding. First of all, applicants applying for the state funded legal aid may have issues taking claims as there is a budget allocated for the fund each year. The clients from applying from private funds may have issues. It is restricted and clients can only go with unat they provide.

Q4(c): (10 marks)

This question was marked using a levels-of-response based mark scheme. The candidates' answers were assessed in their entirety and allocated a level based on where this best fitted the level descriptions.

The command word in this question was 'Assess', which was looking for an extended answer using examples. The question required a balanced assessment of the advantages and disadvantages of alternative dispute resolution (ADR). Many candidates did not even specify or explain what was meant by ADR and again merely listed generic points e.g. cheaper, quicker, without providing examples to illustrate that they actually had knowledge of the subject matter of the question.

For level 1 candidates demonstrated isolated elements of knowledge For level 2 candidates demonstrated some understanding and began to apply their knowledge appropriately to the question.

For level 3 candidates demonstrated accurate understanding of the question supported by relevant examples.

For level 4 candidates demonstrated thorough and accurate understanding exemplified with appropriate, well explained and applied authorities.

(c) Assess the advantages and disadvantages of alternative dispute resolution. Alternative dispute resolutions are a range of measures used by litigants before Trecourse to the courts is deemed necessary. Evere are a remove of AD alterrative distribe Tresolution area case! orbitatore une makes an award based on either a heaving on Submission by the parties in dispute Mediation involves the appointment of a mediator who facilitates to encourage the discussion between forther is unne the cord' cratore property proposes a southor for the forthes in this pute before there me a chi a schutim. There is also resociation with a swift cost efficience method of resolving disputes. The ADD provides an amicable platform for parties to resolve their dispute. Atthination, medication and netaciation oure arick, cheap and efficient. They do not follow a sixed framewerey making it consignient for parties. It also saves time as there are not a prethotoge of time These to follow. The & Archikaboth and Mediators are often experts in technical matter fer offering crasing them to reach a service conclusion. Also since both of them we held privately, it respects confidenciality. However, west it will be difficult for to the treasure a caressian it a chiler howers over district arreas of law as Att' they were not lessel expects. In most coules porties right even find it heard to Reach a soution since decisions que not binding Morreaver, or most of the cases are judged or bask's of mouths of the case there may be inconsistencies since doctore of binding precedent does not apply. I where note ... Hickel 2 and et stated that although asternative disple resolutions over used by many litisant. they are sh'11 not a part of the courts ystem. Professor Genn also pointed out that many people would oft to use their methods just to save time and moneyou In carclusian, it is up to the litigants whether they lead that using alternative dispute resolution is more ested to produce a better overome than using the ciril Courts ore notyand will twerefore vary from person to Parson defending on theirs choice. (Total for Question 4 = 20 marks)

Turn over ▶

Examiner tip

Try and identify the key issues to enhance your mark. This will mean your answers will be more concise and focused.

Q 5: (20 marks)

This question was marked using a levels-of-response based mark scheme. The candidates' answers were assessed in their entirety and allocated a level based on where this best fitted the level descriptions. This is the question candidates need to spend some time on, due to the fact that there are no subsections to the question and therefore the total question marks of 20 are based around a single answer.

The command word in this question was 'Evaluate', which was looking for an extended answer. Candidates were expected to evaluate using decided case law, whether the concept of morality is certain and thereby enforceable. Candidates were expected to illustrate their answers and justify an argument and their conclusion.

Most candidates managed their time well to complete this last question on the paper, and it would appear that this a topic that is well known. However, some candidates did not use case law as required by the question, but obviously knew the theories and topic well. It is important to answer the question posed, not the one you want to answer, or have practised.

For level 1 candidates demonstrated isolated elements of knowledge relating to law and morality

For level 2 candidates demonstrated some understanding and began to apply their knowledge appropriately to the question.

For level 3 candidates demonstrated accurate understanding of the question supported by relevant examples.

For level 4 candidates demonstrated thorough and accurate understanding exemplified with appropriate, well explained and applied examples to reach a justified conclusion on the effectiveness of the case law on whether the concept of morality is certain and thereby enforceable.

5 Using decided case law, evaluate whether the concept of morality is certain and thereby enforceable.

Pas (page (2)) them was Thou short not will Thou shout not steal. The Har Boter the concept of muder and theft are Here mesessify is enforced. wrong and both se criminal offices as well Havener ture vare also attend where a caw is enforced which and respection with Horality Line in both strict speed whit of a cour in cortain areas should not exceed 30 mph, yet it is an offence. Morreaver, in the late 1950's people were worried about what was persented to be a decline in nonceseauality. The welforder report rend in trated the Hourt and Dercin Hebate, where Hort conceded that individuals should be left to do law Should not intervene with the private lives of the citizens. However, berlin argued that sit form of moraling with the basic arguments of good and en's away necessary to keep society to getween. There where cases m herich beruits grews were supported like in Svaw VIPP Here, Athehan was find to produce the cladies directory, wen'th contained advectisements of prastitution prostitutes, and the sexual offerces they practiced. Mossnaw was confricted for distruption Public morals. Also Physicia (knulve v DPP) defendant was herd to distrupt PUBLIC MORALLY BY MALIANTS IN CENTERAL SINCE MAGANIBE INVITATION OF SEBURAL PROCESSION O Also in K & Wibson the defendant, who was an archist, ephibited earlings made from freeze-dried foctures. ence again he was consided for outraging public decency. In addition, the appellants in RV Brown were homosexual men who had com willingup parch'u'palog in Sadamasachistic act and used stinging wires, sandpaper, safety pire etc wou'ce doingso. This was done in bublicow ter everyone's consent and all of the multer advits a yet the Hare of loads

(Total for Question 5 = 20 marks)

TOTAL FOR PAPER = 100 MARKS

Property of the second

Question Number	(Page3)
	uno: 5 (continuation) flast page] considered this a criminal offence, iroses pertie of whether it was done in public are not king
	it the act clearly wert against public Horals.
	On the ather hand, Hard's viewe was ource Supported in the case of Gillick V west Northix supported in the care of Gillick V west Nordsk accesed the health reportment where these Cillick was objected to have piren contraceptive adrice to girls aged below
	(6, without powertal adrice and she argued that this excaraged inderenge for Henrever, Mrs. ailick lost the cose as the have of loveds stated that this was justified
111111111111111111111111111111111111111	as it essentially deather with healter obligation.
	Similarly in Pe A children (2000), there were two adjusting twins where body A had to be PPPPRPRPRPRPRPRPRPRPRPRPRPRPRPRPRPRPRP	Killed in order to save baby B. since otherwise boten would die. The court here declared that 	tus was justible das it was a court of low!
	and not of morrous?
HIMMOOO	· may
.,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,	it was be said that there are arreas where

Turn over ▶

Question Number	rage (4)
	Morrality is enferred and it clearly coincides with law Hewever, there are also areas where
-8-5445	incrality clearly does not apply. Therefore
,44 14-442444444444	due to the fact that morals by evalues as a ratural feeling within the Society and charges with time and is likely to be different in for everyone; it may be concluded that henously is not (always certain and thereby rot always enforcease
	, [coolsing]
	The state of the s
	·
,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,
11144
	, '
	,
.,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,

Examiner comments

2

This scored 15 marks. It was a good answer, top band. It explained both law and morality well, their connections, theories and used case law to evaluate and come to a justified conclusion.

P56468A

Paper Summary

Based on their performance on this paper, candidates are offered the following advice:

- Read the questions and pay careful attention to what the command words are asking you to do. This will mean your answers will be more focused.
- Look at the marks allocated to the question and spend only the appropriate amount of time on the question based on the marks.
- In a question with several parts, read all the parts and decide what information to put in each part before starting part a.
- Use examples to illustrate definitions or points made in the short answer questions and additionally relevant case law and legislation to illustrate longer answers.
- Provide balanced answers when asked to provide advantages and disadvantages.
- Provide a conclusion for 'evaluate' questions.

There was a pleasing increase in the entry figure for this new-look examination this year compared to 2018.

All the candidates answered the required three questions and few if any displayed signs of problems relating to time or rubric infringement.

Even though the examination has changed many candidates still tend to write about or describe the topics/characters/events listed in question parts c and d rather than focussing on the question posed.

The new style part d question gave the candidate topics on which to use in their answer together with a statement that they should also use information of their own. Unfortunately, few candidates did. It is hoped that following this, examination Centres will take note of the new style question and prepare future candidates to make good attempts to answer the question fully.

Comments on individual questions

Q1

Most candidates were able to score 2 marks for question 1b on the ways that Cyclone Bhola affected the local population in 1970.

Many candidates were able to describe or identify some of the reasons why Sheikh Mujibur Rahman became unpopular but answers gave little emphasis in the way of explanation of why.

As a result, many answers were limited to a level 2 mark.

The Canal Water Dispute was a well-known topic and along with the additional material of the Indian control of the headworks and the refugee issue, most candidates were able to make an attempt at explaining their answers. However, few candidates went beyond the topics stated in the question as requested.

As a result, the maximum mark achieved was usually limited at the top of level 3.

Q2

Question 2 was a popular question, which required candidates to answer questions on Bengal.

The achievements of Hussain Shahi usually attracted 2 marks but the question on why the Sufis gained so many converts to Islam was not so well done. It was clear that candidates had a good knowledge of Sufis and Sufism but the question was specific in asking for reasons on why the gained converts.

As a result, high marks were not forthcoming from a majority of candidates who merely described all they knew about Sufis.

There was a good knowledge regarding the Pala and Sena dynasties and in particular the achievements of Dharmapala and Laksmanasena. There was lots of description but mixed with genuine attempts to answer the question. However, few candidates went beyond these two individuals by using their own knowledge and as result a top level 3 mark was the maximum that candidates were achieving.

Q3

This was also a popular question on the Mughal Empire. Most candidates were able to identify the reasons why the East India Company became involved in the sub-continent with most candidates scoring up to 2 marks. A large number of candidates displayed good knowledge on the work of Sher Shah but fewer on his actual achievements.

As a result most answers were limited to a mark within level 2. Shaista Khan was also a well-known individual with many candidates able to consider the achievements of his military conquests together with his construction projects at home. However most candidates did not go further than these topics and as a result, again a mark at the top end of level 3 was the maximum achieved.

Q4

Candidates had to answer questions on Bengal under British rule. Part 4b on the features of Bengal Renaissance was well known with many maximum marks achieved. Attempts to answer Question 4c on the reasons why Lord Cornwallis introduced the Permanent Settlement were not well done and a low level 2 mark was a common one.

Clearly this was not a well-known topic. There were some good attempts to answer the question on the reasons for the War of Independence. The Greased Cartridge incident was very well known but supplementary topics including the sepoys discontent and the imposition of English as a foreign language were not covered well. There was scant evidence of using candidates' own knowledge to explain further reasons for the conflict and a top level 3 mark was the maximum achieved.

Q5

This was a popular question on the topic 'on the road to partition.'However, the question was not answered well. Few candidates could state two terms of the Indian Councils Act of 1909 Q5(b) or why the Government of India Act of 1935 was a turning point in Hindu-Muslim relations Q5(c)As a result, marks achieved were not high.

Q5(d)

More surprisingly attempts to answer were poor. It was expected that a well-known topic as Congress Rule would have been a high scoring question but it seemed that few candidates were able to get to grips with it. Bande Matram, the nationalistic Hindu song and anti-Muslim riots were often ignored and irrelevant information was brought into candidates' answers. Even when candidates did address the topics given there was little explanation as to why these were disliked by Muslims.

Q6

This question asked candidates to answer questions on 'Bangladesh – the establishing the new country.' Begum Rokeya Q6(b) was well known and attracted 2 marks usually.

Most candidates knew of the work of General Ziaur Rahman and were able to explain why he brought about stability in Bangladesh. There were some top-level marks awarded for this question. However, question Q6(d) on the contribution of Bangladesh to world organisations including the United Nations and the Commonwealth were not answered well.

It was clear that many candidates' knowledge of this topic was of sufficient depth to score highly and as a result marks were usually limited to level 2.