Description

The Learning for All Fund was established in April 2002 as a partnership between the four North East Learning & Skills Councils and the Northern TUC. With £1/2m set aside to support local and regional trade-union led learning and training initiatives, the LfAF is very different to the Union Learning Fund as it is much more localised and accessible. It is unique to this Region. There are currently 20 ongoing projects of varying sizes, involving many different trade unions and across industrial sectors throughout the Region. The dissemination event is to highlight the success of the fund and to case study several of the projects. Speakers include Ivan Lewis; Minister for Adult Learning & Skills, Frances O'Grady; TUC Deputy General Secretary, John Rodger; Managing Director of York Consulting.
