Text A2

Sasha wants to buy a travel card and looks at this web page.

The screenshot shows a web browser window with the address bar containing 'http://www.travel.web'. The browser interface includes navigation buttons (back, forward), a search icon, and window control buttons (minimize, maximize, close). Below the address bar is a toolbar with a star icon, a search box, a home button, and a print button. The main content area features a navigation menu with five items: 'Information', 'Buy Online', 'Tickets & Prices', 'Offers', and 'Contact Us'. The main heading is 'How to Buy a Travel Card'. The text below the heading reads: 'Buying a travel card will save you money. The quickest and easiest way to buy your travel card is online. All you need is a colour passport sized digital photograph and your credit or debit card details. If you are buying a student travel card you will also need your course details.' This is followed by the instruction 'Follow these simple steps:' and a bulleted list: 'click on the box marked Buy Online', 'fill in your details', 'confirm your details', and 'upload your photograph.' Below the list, the text says: 'If you do not wish to buy your travel card online you can go to one of our travel shops or agents. To find the nearest one to you just enter your postcode in the box below.' At the bottom of the page, there is a search box containing the text 'enter your postcode' and a 'Find' button.
