Real life – unhappy christmas

On Christmas Eve 2001, the Lloyd family popped next door for a Christmas drink.

'I didn't give the fairy lights a second thought,' says Pauline Lloyd, 'only to think how nice they looked.'

It's an oversight Pauline wishes she could forget.

The fairy lights set light to the curtains. Luckily a neighbour spotted the flames and raised the alarm.

'We had a miserable start to the New Year,' says Pauline. 'The front room was ruined. I'm so careful now – I never leave any lights on when I go out. It's not worth the risk.'

Celebrate safely

PROTECT YOUR HOME FROM FIRE

Celebrations are an excuse to have fun, not an excuse for a fire!

Fire safety is the last thing on your mind when you're celebrating. But think about it – lots of guests, extra decorations, people smoking – all the everyday fire risks get bigger.

Don't let fire safety stop you enjoying yourself – know the risks and plan ahead.

DECORATIVE LIGHTS

Decorative lights don't get used every day so give them a bit of extra thought.

- Check the maximum amps that can be handled by the fuse in the plug.
- If bulbs blow, replace them.
- Turn decorative lights off at night and when you go out.
- Don't let bulbs touch anything that can burn easily, like paper or fabrics.

CANDLES

Treat candles as you would any other flame.

- Don't leave them unattended.
- Put them out completely at night.

- Keep them away from anything that can catch fire, like Christmas trees, decorations, curtains and so on.
- Make sure they're in secure holders on a heat-resistant surface.

DECORATIONS

Given half a chance, paper decorations will burn.

- ✓ Use your common sense and keep decorations and greeting cards away from heaters, lights, the fireplace and candles.

FIREWORKS

Don't fool with fireworks – they're explosives not toys.

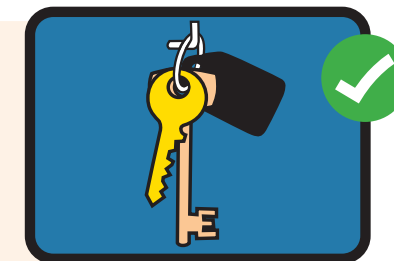

- ✓ Only buy fireworks marked with British Safety Standard 7114 and always read the instructions.

HAVING A PARTY

Do yourself and your visitors a favour – don't leave fire safety to the morning after!

- Let your guests know where to find door and window keys.
- Look out for elderly people, children, and anyone with problems getting about.
- Make sure exits are kept clear.

- If people are smoking, put out extra ashtrays and make sure all cigarettes are put out properly.

It's hotter than you think – cigarettes can burn at temperatures of over 700°C.

Remember – it's easy to be careless when you are tired or if you have been drinking.
