Go-Go-Gym

Go-Go-Gym is a recreational and fitness business that was developed from small beginnings by Marcus Montgomery, in July 2005. It began as a hobby in the unused garage of his parent's home. It has grown extensively within Northern Ireland.

The business has premises throughout Northern Ireland with the exception of County Fermanagh. The organisation is very keen to establish itself in Enniskillen.

Simon McDonald, a young and very enthusiastic personal trainer in the County Tyrone Go-Go-Gym has five years experience in the personal health and fitness industry. Simon would like to be in control of his own gym one day. He is currently the Assistant Manager and is very highly regarded by the owner, his colleagues and gym clients.

Simon's attitude to work is incredibly positive. He is also very focused in his approach to his own fitness level. Throughout his career he has competed in many local, national and international sporting events achieving many awards as well as raising thousands of pounds for charity. He encourages his clients to take the same approach and is known for two statements, "no pain, no gain" and "reach for the stars".

Marcus anticipates the recreational, personal health and fitness market will continue to grow and is committed to having a total of 12 gym outlets throughout Northern Ireland by July 2020.
