MARK SCHEME

A General Introduction to the Assessment of CCEA's GCSE English Language/English

The style of assessment

The exams will be marked using positive assessment; crediting what has been achieved. The mark schemes emanate from the Assessment Objectives and are designed to support this positive approach.

The relationship between tasks, mark schemes and Levels of Competence

Each task is designed to test a specified series of Assessment Objectives.

Every task has an individual mark scheme built around three components:

1. a task specific checklist
2. Levels of Competence strands and descriptors
3. a mark grid.

The Competence Levels, which detail increasing levels of proficiency, are made up of three strands. These are derived from the task specific Assessment Objectives and each of the strands focuses on important characteristics within the response.

The job for each examiner is to identify positively what has been achieved and then match each candidate's level of proficiency to the appropriate descriptors.

Writing: an outline of the marking process

Two discrete assessments have to be made.

The first assessment will be used to gauge the candidate's performance in Writing (i) and (ii) of the Assessment Objectives. The second assessment is measured against the remaining Assessment Objective Writing (iii).

The assessment of Task 1 begins with the examiner highlighting what is creditworthy as well as marking the errors in SPG. At the conclusion of the response, the examiner will evaluate the candidate's achievement and then select the appropriate mark from the mark grid.

The required process, standard and style of marking will be the business of the standardising meetings. Pre-marked exemplar scripts will be distributed to all examiners at these conferences. These 'benchmark scripts' have been marked and annotated by the senior examining team prior to each standardising meeting.

Studying Written Language (Reading): an outline of the marking process

The assessment of an individual response begins with the examiner highlighting what, within a response, is creditworthy. Then, at the conclusion of the response, the examiner will evaluate the candidate's achievement before selecting the appropriate mark from the mark grid.

These procedures, which have been outlined above, are described in detail overleaf.

Section A: Personal Writing

The Assessment Objectives

Writing

- (i) Write to communicate clearly, effectively and imaginatively, using and adapting forms and selecting vocabulary appropriate to task and purpose in ways that engage the reader.
- (ii) Organise information and ideas into structured and sequenced sentences, paragraphs and whole texts, using a variety of linguistic and structural features to support cohesion and coherence.
- (iii) Use a range of sentence structures for clarity, purpose and effect, with accurate punctuation and spelling.

All are being assessed. The examiner will be required to make two distinct assessments: one for Writing (i) and (ii) and a second assessment for Writing (iii).

The two required assessments

- 1 Each response will be assessed on the basis of a single reading and annotated using the three e-marking tools: underlining, circling and wavy underlining.

The following method and style of marking is to be used:

➤ the underlining tool to indicate creditworthy material.

➤ the circling facility which serves two purposes:

(a) to highlight spelling mistakes with each error being circled only once – (alot) / happend.

(b) for indicating minor and/or occasional lapses in punctuation such as missing apostrophes, commas and full stops – run's / ...two three or four / ...to me it was not long after...

➤ Wavy underlining to denote failings in syntax. When used vertically in the margin this will indicate ongoing issues, for example, failings in grammar/lapses in sentence structure – He seen yous threw the open door

- 2 Using the method and style of annotating outlined above in conjunction with the Competence Levels and Mark Grid for Writing (i) and (ii), the examiner will assess, positively, the features of that response.

This process (a worked example follows on the next page) will be carried out in this order:

- (a) The examiner will carefully read and annotate the response.
- (b) The three Competence Level strands that best match the candidate's achievement will be noted.
- (c) Only after selecting and noting the three Competence Level strands will the examiner turn to the mark grid to establish the mark to be awarded. Where the mark grid calls for an examiner judgement, the extent to which a candidate has met the overall requirements of the particular Competence Level will determine the mark to be awarded.

In exceptional circumstances the standard of a candidate's work might range across more than two strand levels. Such an eventuality is not covered by the mark grids. Where this happens, the examiner should decide the mark to be awarded on a 'best fit' basis. The support of the supervising examiner could usefully be sought

- 3 Stages (b) and (c) above will then be repeated using the Competence Levels and Mark Grid for Writing (iii).

Here is an example of this style of annotation in action for Task 1a (this should be read in conjunction with the relevant Competence Level strands on p. 8):

The response is positively assessed against each of the three strands that make up the Competence Levels for Writing (i/ii). Let's assume it can best be summarised by the following descriptors:

- “Deliberate approach to development that uses a straightforward style” (Development and Style CL 3)
- “Logically organised leading the audience through the response... supported by some straightforward use of structural and linguistic features” (Structure/Linguistic and Structural Features CL 3)
- “Some overall, basic sense of purpose and audience” (Purpose and Audience CL 2)

These individual strand levels are noted at the end of the response in a text box -

a.	332

The next stage in the process is to check these ‘strand scores’ on the mark grid for Task 1a. This indicates a score of 9 marks.

This score would then be entered against No. 1a in the scoring facility at the bottom, right corner of the screen.

In order to assess Task 1b, the same process (step 2 above) is used to make this second assessment using the Competence Levels that relate to Writing (iii).

Here is an example of this style of annotation in action (it should be read in conjunction with the relevant Competence Level strands on p. 9)

The response is positively assessed against each of the three strands that make up the Competence Levels for Writing (iii). Let's assume it can best be summarised by the following descriptors:

- “Controlled straightforward sentence structure with generally secure basic punctuation” (Sentence Structure and Use of Punctuation CL 3)
- “Generally accurate spelling of regular, straightforward words” (Spelling CL 3)
- “Some conscious attempt to use vocabulary to enliven” (Range of Vocabulary CL 3)

a.
b.	333

The next stage in the process is to check these ‘strand scores’ across the mark grid for Task 1b. This indicates a score of 5/6 marks.

The selected score would then be entered against No. 1b in the scoring facility at the bottom, right corner of the screen.

Write an article for your school magazine about a meaningful gift or gifts you have given or received.

How Writing (i) and (ii) feed through to marks: use the task specific checklist to ascertain the extent to which a candidate has crafted language in order to:

- communicate clearly, effectively and imaginatively;
- use and adapt forms and select vocabulary appropriate to the task and purpose in ways that engage the reader;
- organise information and ideas into structured and sequenced sentences, paragraphs and whole texts;
- use a variety of linguistic and structural features to support cohesion and overall coherence.

The overall performance is then assessed against the three individual Competence Level strands. These are noted before the final stage in the process which is to match these 'strand scores' across the mark grid in order to decide upon a mark.

This task specific checklist outlines the skills associated with Writing (i) and (ii) that candidates at all Competence Levels may be expected to attempt to employ in their responses. Credit any other valid strategies used that are not mentioned below.

Communicate clearly and effectively and imaginatively, demonstrating:

- a handling of the topic in such a way as to attempt to positively develop the audience's interest
- use of a style that endeavours to build a positive relationship with the target audience
- possible use of anecdotes/humour to engage the audience.

Adapting form and vocabulary to task and purpose in ways that engage the reader, demonstrating:

- an awareness of the school magazine readership as audience
- a use of tone that is meant to engage and sustain the audience's attention
- use of a straightforward vocabulary that is in keeping with the task and audience and that, occasionally, may enliven the writing.

Organise information and ideas into structured, sequenced sentences, paragraphs and whole texts demonstrating:

- a sense of progression - the reader being taken through the writer's choice(s)
- an awareness of opening and closing paragraphs
- some use of topic/link sentences for different paragraphs
- development that uses organisation in an attempt to hold the reader's interest.

Use a variety of linguistic and structural features for cohesion and coherence demonstrating:

- some variety of sentence length for effect
- occasional use of connectives to give coherence to paragraphing
- the use of rhetorical devices - the rule of three, questions, hyperbole to attempt to create interest and connect with the audience.

How Writing (iii) feeds through to marks: use the task specific checklist to ascertain the extent to which a candidate has crafted language by using:

- a range of sentence structures for clarity, purpose and effect;
- accurate punctuation and spelling.

The overall performance is then assessed against the three individual Competence Level strands. These are noted before the final stage in the process which is to match these 'strand scores' across the mark grid in order to decide upon a mark.

This task specific checklist outlines the skills associated with Writing (iii) that candidates at all Competence Levels may be expected to attempt to employ in their responses. Credit any other valid strategies used that are not mentioned below.

The range and effectiveness of sentence structures:

- The wider the range and the greater the degree of originality and control in structuring sentences, the more opportunity the candidate gives him/herself to attempt to sustain the reader's interest.
- More control of sentences and variety in their structuring demonstrates a higher level of competence and will be rewarded accordingly.

The use made of accurate punctuation and spelling:

- Linked to the control of sentence structure is the control of a variety of appropriate punctuation. Here too competent usage can help to maintain the reader's interest. The greater the control and variation in the use of punctuation, the higher will be the reward.
- Accuracy in spelling, in isolation, can be misleading, it needs to be viewed beside the range and precision of vocabulary used. A limited vocabulary spelt correctly is unlikely to capture the audience's attention.
- Credit ambitious use of vocabulary where the word may not always be accurately spelt but has been chosen carefully for effect.

The 3 strands outlining the key qualities at each Competence Level for Writing (i/ii)

Task 1a
	Development and Style	Structuring/Linguistic and Structural Features	Purpose and Audience
CL 1	Disjointed and/or superficial engagement with little sense of a conscious style	Rudimentary attempt to structure a response	Some broad relevance in relation to purpose and/or audience	CL 1
CL 2	Simple and uncomplicated development that communicates in a basic, functional style	Basic structure with some attempt at progression; there may be some attempt to use simple structural or linguistic features	Some overall, basic sense of purpose and audience	CL 2
CL 3	Deliberate approach to development that uses a straightforward style in an attempt to respond positively	Logically organised, leading the audience through the response. This is supported by some straightforward use of structural and linguistic features	Recognition of purpose and audience giving a straightforward direction to the writing	CL 3
CL 4	Generally effective development supported by an increasingly fluent style which engages and develops interest	Combines clear structuring with a conscious effort to use some structural and linguistic devices in order to develop the audience's interest	Purpose and audience is clear and underpins the response	CL 4

Task 1b
	Sentence Structure/Use of Punctuation	Spelling	Range of Vocabulary
CL 1	Some evidence of an attempt to make use of sentence structure	Some accurate spelling of some simple words	A very limited selection of language	CL 1
CL 2	Basic use of simple sentence structuring characterised by generally appropriate use of full stops	Usually accurate spelling of basic words	A narrow range of vocabulary that constrains communication to a basic, functional level	CL 2
CL 3	Controlled straightforward sentence structure with generally secure basic punctuation (full stops and commas)	Generally accurate spelling of regular, straightforward words	Some conscious attempt to use vocabulary to enliven the writing	CL 3
CL 4	Increasingly sustained competence with a variety of sentence structures where the basics of punctuation (full stops, commas, exclamation and question marks) are used to add clarity	Mainly accurate spelling, including some words with irregular patterns – credit attempts at ambitious usage	Greater precision in the use of a widening vocabulary that actively helps to engage the audience	CL 4

Section B: Studying Written Language (Reading)

The Assessment Objectives

- (i) Read and understand texts, selecting material appropriate to purpose, collating from different sources and making comparisons and cross-references as appropriate.
- (ii) Develop and sustain interpretations of writers' ideas and perspectives.
- (iii) Explain and evaluate how writers use linguistic, grammatical, structural and presentational features to engage and influence the reader.

The two tasks and how they meet specific elements of the Assessment Objectives:

- Task 2
- (i) selecting material appropriate to purpose/collating and making cross-references
 - (ii) dev. and sustain interpretations
 - (iii) explaining and evaluating how a writer uses linguistic, grammatical and structural devices to achieve effects
- Task 3
- (i) selecting material appropriate to purpose/collating and making cross-references
 - (ii) dev. and sustain interpretations
 - (iii) explaining and evaluating how structural and presentational features achieve effects and engage and influence the reader

Examiners will be required to make one assessment in respect of each of the two tasks.

The required process of assessment

Each response will be assessed on the basis of a single reading using the three e-marking tools: underlining/ticking/C & C button → C

- 1 The following style of marking and annotation is to be used:
 - use the underlining facility to highlight explanation and interpretation;
 - use the ticking tool to indicate relevant examples/evidence;
 - employ the C button in the margin to highlight comparing and contrasting;
 - ignore all errors in punctuation, syntax and spelling as they are not being assessed.

- 2 Using the style of annotation outlined above in conjunction with the Competence Levels and Mark Grids for Reading, the examiner will assess, positively, the features of that response.

This process (a worked example follows on the next page) will be carried out in this order:

- (a) The examiner will carefully read and annotate the response.
- (b) The three selected Competence Level strands will be noted.
- (c) Only after selecting and noting the three Competence Level strands – will the examiner turn to the mark grid to establish the mark to be awarded. Where the mark grid calls for an examiner judgement, the extent to which a candidate has met the overall requirements of the particular Competence Level will determine the mark to be awarded.

In exceptional circumstances the standard of a candidate's work might range across more than two strand levels. Such an eventuality is not covered by the mark grids. Where this happens, the examiner should decide the mark to be awarded on a 'best fit' basis. The support of the supervising examiner could usefully be sought.

- 3 A final check of the booklet:

- (a) Use the 'E' tool to indicate the end of the candidate's final response.
- (b) Stamp all blank or planning pages with the 'SEEN' tool.

Here is an example of this style of annotation in action for a Task 2 response (it should be read in conjunction with the relevant Competence Level strands on p. 15)

The response is positively assessed against each of the three strands that make up the Competence Levels for Reading in this task. Let's assume it can best be summarised by the following descriptors:

- “Mainly purposeful comment that supports appropriate interpretations” (Developing and Sustaining Interpretations CL 3)
- “Some straightforward explanation” (Explaining and Evaluating CL 2)
- “Relevant selection of examples... both texts... purposeful c-ref” (Selecting Material and Cross-referencing CL 3)

These individual strand levels are noted at the end of the response in a text box -

T2	323

The next stage in the process is to check these ‘strand scores’ on the mark grid for Task 2. This indicates a score of 11/12 marks.

This score would then be entered against No. 2 in the scoring facility at the bottom, right corner of the screen.

Here is an example of this style of annotation in action for a Task 3 response (it should be read in conjunction with the relevant Competence Level strands on p. 18)

The response is positively assessed against each of the three strands that make up the Competence Levels for Reading in this task. It is summarised as:

- “Some straightforward comment that supports uncomplicated interpretations” (Developing and Sustaining Interpretations CL 2)
- “Some straightforward explanation of how some presentational devices have been employed” (Explaining and Evaluating CL 2)
- “Relevant selection of examples... both texts... purposeful cross-referencing” (Selecting Material and Cross-referencing CL 3)

These individual strand levels are noted at the end of the response in a text box -

The next stage in the process is to check these ‘strand scores’ on the mark grid for Task 3. This indicates a score of 6 marks.

This score would then be entered against No. 3 in the scoring facility at the bottom, right corner of the screen.

Compare and contrast how language has been used in both texts to persuade the reader that these places will be enjoyable to visit.

How Reading (i), (ii) and (iii) feed through to marks: use the question specific checklist to ascertain the extent to which a candidate has:

- selected and evaluated evidence;
- developed and sustained interpretations;
- explained how a writer uses linguistic devices to achieve effects.

The overall performance is then assessed against the three individual Competence Level strands. These are noted before the final stage in the process which is to match these 'strand scores' across the mark grid in order to decide upon a mark.

Task specific checklist outlining the material that candidates at all Competence Levels may be expected to include in their responses. Credit fully any other valid suggestions/comment.

How words and phrases have been used to persuade:

- both texts use taglines to initially entice potential visitors: "Castle Espie" plays on the fact that it is a wetland centre to imply that other places are boring in comparison, "Makes other days out look a little dry" – use of humour; whereas "Streamvale" emphasises in a straightforward fashion, that a visit there will be a "...Real Farm Experience"
- both texts use imperatives to encourage potential visitors to visit and sample what's on offer in both attractions: "Castle Espie" – "Step into"/ "Come and enjoy"/ "Wander through"; "Streamvale" – "Relax with a good book and watch"/ "Come see"/ "View the Farm in Action"
- "Castle Espie" utilises superlatives and a flattering review to build up a sense of excitement and fun: "awe-inspiring"/ "award winning"/ "unforgettable"/ "simply one of the best"; whereas "Streamvale" emphasises their natural produce to appeal to the target audience: "delicious cakes...baked on site"/ "use our own milk...by hand"/ "the perfect treat!"
- "Castle Espie" uses positive, sophisticated language to maximise the appeal of their opportunities for wildlife/ birdwatching: "the largest collection of rare and exotic water birds in Ireland"/ "amazing wildlife... one of the best places on these islands to go birdwatching"; "Streamvale" also uses a positive approach to focus on hands-on farm-themed activities but employing a more straightforward, inclusive approach: "join in feeding our baby animals"/ "Cuddle Time"/ "Chick Holding"/ "our wee tractors"
- both texts highlight opportunities for visitors to get close to the animals: "Castle Espie" – "Get close to rare birds"/ "Witness up to 30,000 wintering geese"/ "Feed the birds from your hand"; "Streamvale" – "cuddle our baby chicks"/ "Everyone loves to get up close to our baby animals"/ "view the cows being milked"
- "Castle Espie" creates a sense of adventure with language such as: "Step into a wilder world"/ "exploration and adventure"; whereas "Streamvale" uses language to appeal to a wide audience: "will always find one that suits your taste"/ "suitable for all ages"/ "Everyone loves"/ "great fun for all ages"
- both texts focus on particular activities to persuade families with children to visit: "Castle Espie" uses a quote from "Alex, age 7" about her day out, "I liked the bit where you look through binoculars"/ "Experience our spring downy duckling tours"/ "Go wild with natural play at Wildwood Play"; "Streamvale" – "The Trail Blazer Playground is beside the café"/ "Children love all our wee tractors and diggers"/ "Rally round the indoor track"

- both texts utilise alliteration and rule-of-three to tempt potential visitors: “Castle Espie” – “magical mix”/ “woodland walks”/ “downy ducklings”/ “Explore...enjoy...embrace”; “Streamvale” – “Creamery Café”/ “cakes, cookies and tray bakes”
- both texts use direct appeal and inclusive language to entice their target audiences: “Castle Espie” – “wonderful ways to fill your day”/ “enjoy hands-on discovery indoors”; “Streamvale” – “we offer a wide selection”/ “We use our own milk...while you watch”/ “you can find out more about our history”
- “Castle Espie” emphasises the beautiful setting of this attraction: “Situated on the picturesque shores of Strangford Lough”/ “a haven for wetland creatures”/ “stunning views”; “Streamvale” focuses on the Morrow family farm: “...has lived and worked on this land for ten generations”/ “We continue with traditional farming”/ “grass-fed cows”
- both texts use facts to enhance the appeal of these places: “Castle Espie” – “Witness up to 30,000 wintering geese on Strangford Lough”; “Streamvale” – “We produce around one million litres of milk”

The 3 strands outlining the key qualities at each Competence Level for Reading

Task 2 Language use in Multi-Modal Texts
	Developing and Sustaining Interpretations	Explaining and Evaluating	Selecting Material and Cross-Referencing
CL 1	Some reporting that offers a basic attempt at rudimentary interpretation	Some basic sense of how language has been used for a purpose – in a specific example or at a broad overall level	Some obvious examples – there may be some very broad and/or basic linking across the texts	CL 1
CL 2	Some straightforward comment that supports uncomplicated interpretations	Some straightforward explanation of how some linguistic devices have been employed	Generally appropriate selection of some examples supported by straightforward cross-referencing	CL 2
CL 3	Mainly purposeful comment that supports appropriate interpretations of how language has been used	Overall consideration of how linguistic devices achieve their effects – there may be some attempt at focused explanation/ evaluation	Relevant selection of examples of language from both texts – some used for purposeful cross-referencing	CL 3

Compare and contrast how presentational devices are used in both texts to add to the appeal of these two places. In your response comment on the use of images, colour and layout.

How Reading (i), (ii) and (iii) feed through to marks: use the question specific checklist to ascertain the extent to which a candidate has:

- selected and evaluated evidence;
- developed and sustained interpretations;
- explained how a writer uses structural and presentational devices to achieve effects.

Task specific checklist outlining the material that candidates at all competence levels may be expected to include in their responses. Credit fully any other valid suggestions/comment.

The use of images, colour and layout:

- the opening section of "Castle Espie" is dominated by an appealing close-up image of a pair of ducks; whereas "Streamvale" uses amusing cartoon drawings of farm animals to convey a friendly image and to appeal to children
- "Castle Espie" uses an attractive stylised drawing of the wetlands as background in the opening section to add to the visual appeal; whereas "Streamvale" uses an eye-catching stylised sun image throughout, radiating "rays" in two shades of blue to enhance the sense of a fun and happy place
- both texts feature images of children having fun to convey the impression that these attractions offer enjoyable, action-packed family days out: in "Castle Espie" there are two pictures of children clearly enjoying petting a duckling and playing in Wildwood Play; pictures of children at "Streamvale" show children happily engaged in a range of activities such as riding a tractor, feeding and cuddling young animals
- both texts showcase images of the animals to be encountered: "Castle Espie" focuses on wild birds, including a cute duckling, to appeal to both birdwatchers and families with children; "Streamvale" also features a cute photograph of a fluffy chick and another of puppies to appeal to children as well as images of the farm animals to be seen there
- "Castle Espie" includes images which communicate a sense of adventure and discovery for children, e.g. the young people looking into an intriguing water tank/ the unusual thatched hide; whereas "Streamvale" shows images of a range of age groups looking happily involved in a variety of activities such as the "Trail Blazer", "Nature Trail" and "Cuddle Time"
- the predominant background colours used in both texts are shades of blue and green – this is intended to convey a sense of nature and healthy outdoor activities in both places
- "Castle Espie" uses a collage of images interspersed with text as the basis of its layout in order to generate excitement and anticipation; whereas "Streamvale" uses a more regular arrangement of photographs in each section supported by explanatory text to reinforce the impression of the wide variety of activities available
- "Castle Espie" uses two lists of bullet points in dominant central positions to draw attention to the wide choice of activities available; whereas "Streamvale" presents the experiences on offer in snapshots/thumbnails laid out systematically with accompanying text underneath

- “Castle Espie” highlights reviews about this place in blue to ensure the reader takes these positive comments into consideration, e.g. “I liked the bit...”; whereas “Streamvale” ensures key features are highly visible by utilising white writing on blocks of green, e.g. “The Creamery Café...”
- the names of the attractions are in dominant positions at the top of both first panels: “Castle Espie uses striking white lettering along with the WWT logo to capture the target audience; whereas “Streamvale” uses a distinctive, friendly font style and black lettering to enhance the visual appeal
- “Castle Espie” uses bold white text to draw attention to its website address; whereas “Streamvale” uses white handwriting to highlight a key attraction: “Ice Cream freshly made on site”
