

Sample F1A

SECTION A: UNSEEN POEM

You must answer Question 1 in the space below.

Shel Silverstein tries to describe his messy room to the reader, in the poem a Messy Room.

The writer describes himself going through his own room, but not recognising it as his own because of the mess. He does this most clearly when he puts "His workbook is wedged in the window". He uses alliteration in this sentence to get the reader more interested. The writer is always going on about it being "His" room, this could show the writer as trying to blame someone else and not admit to the blame being his.
