Dear support group and health and social care professionals,

I feel I must write to thank you for your support with my five year-old son, James.

Six months ago I had a difficult child who caused a lot of upset in the family. I hated his behaviour as he argued with everyone and was aggressive. He ran everywhere and could not concentrate long enough to finish an activity. He wanted everything immediately and had a tantrum if he did not get his own way. He would not do as he was told, e.g. wash his hands, come for food or go to bed.

With your help James has changed from being a spiteful child to a loving, well behaved little boy.

Yours faithfully,

Kristina
