An operation in the late eighteenth century

This cartoon shows an amputation. It was drawn in 1793.

Source B

A painting of the great German surgeon, Theodor Billroth performing an operation. It was painted in 1890.

Theodor Billroth (1829-1894) was Professor of Surgery in Vienna from 1867. He was described at the time as 'one of Europe's best and most trusted surgeons'. He developed many new surgical procedures. This painting recognises the importance Billroth gave to the training of surgeons.
