Greenwich Park

About Greenwich Park

Greenwich Park includes the Old Royal Naval College and National Maritime Museum, which, together with Greenwich Park, are part of a World Heritage Site.

Where is it?

Greenwich Park is on the south bank of the River Thames in south east London. It is a great place to see views of central London and the Docklands.

Mainline trains and the Docklands Light Railway make it easy to get to and from central London and other London 2012 venues.

Getting ready

A temporary cross-country course is being designed for the park. The course will be created in 2012.

A temporary main arena for 23,000 spectators will be built for the 2012 Olympic Games within the grounds of the National Maritime Museum.

During the Olympic Games

Greenwich Park will host the Equestrian and Modern Pentathlon events. Crowds of 23,000 in the main arena and more in the park will be able to enjoy the competitions. The site is accessible by rail at two corners of the park.

Local residents

We currently are talking with local residents about our plans.
