Enter our exciting new competition

We are looking for ideas for a new Action Adventure film which will appeal globally to family audiences. It is important to us that this high budget film is a box office success in different countries across the globe.

We want a film which has a strong narrative with an engaging storyline. We want to avoid relying too heavily on computer generated special effects to create excitement. Instead, we want believable and realistic characters which audiences across the globe will engage with.

For the film to have universal appeal we need more than just courageous characters. You need to think carefully about the locations and settings that will be used. It is up to you to decide on its title and synopsis.

We are planning for a release to coincide with the school holidays when families have an opportunity to spend some time together. Your remit is to come up with a pitch that meets our challenge.
