Editor's letter

How to look good on holiday – a subject we tackle at some length in this issue – is surely one of life's biggest conundrums. I, for one, seem to wheel out a selection of old fashion chestnuts year after year in a way I would never dream of doing in everyday life. It's as if one goes into a sort of fashion twilight zone where normal rules about length (holidays are the only time I wear a mini skirt), fashionability

(some of the pieces in question date back to the 1980s – need I say more?) and so on, are completely ignored. 1 & 2 This year, however, I am determined to drag myself into the present and am going to replace my tired old BIKINI with this perky new number from Boden, top £22, bottoms £19, and my passé KAFTAN TOP with this stylish number from Banana Republic, £55. 3 All I'll need then is a chic new BAG, such as this practical but gorgeous Emporio Armani number, £589, and I'll be away. It's nice, too, to bring a summery feel to your home at this time of year. 4 Check out Ian Mankin's great new OILCLOTH collection – perfect for kitchen tables or, better still, outdoor cushions (see this and other great ideas for fresh-air entertaining on page 188). 5 Talking of the alfresco life, no party should be without my delicious new discovery, Godminster's flavoured VODKAS, £22 each. The elderflower flavour is heaven and the newly launched rhubarb a great one to try, too. Go easy though – they're as lethal as they look.
