BEST GMAT PREP COURSES BY MLIC

MLIC GMAT – THE BEST IN THE BUSINESS OF TEST PREP

G MAT is a standard requirement for admission consideration by Graduate Schools of Business the world over. If your goal is to enroll in one of the top 25 Business Schools in the world, then you should take the GMAT seriously, and work toward a GMAT score of better than 700. MLICETS GMAT preparation courses, using a patent-pending CPSD methodology, do not simply focus on any score improvement (if you improved your GMAT score from 450 to 460, Kaplan would consider it a great job, but we don't) but on a target GMAT score of at least 650, and work with you to achieve this decent target score so that your application will be considered very competitive at a top-10 Business School. The CPSD methodology (pronounced 'Kups-D' methodology) uniquely developed by MLIC imparts strong CONCEPTUAL understanding of GMAT-Specific core areas, trains you in using efficient PROCEDURES for maximizing your test-taking efficiency and effectiveness in a time-critical GMAT test environment, arms you with works-every-time STRATEGIES for picking the correct answer choices, and uses a unique DIAGNOSTIC approach to assessing each participant's unique weaknesses in GMAT-specific assessment areas and to help each one get up to speed in the core competency areas of GMAT. MLICETS GMAT prep courses – the gold standard for GMAT training and preparation. You cannot find a better value for your GMAT prep time or for your GMAT prep dollars. Guaranteed

Educational Training Services

(MLICETS) is an Educational training division of MLI Consulting, Inc., New York City based leader in Test preparation courses. MLIC GMAT has been offering goal-driven and skill-enhancing GMAT, GRE, and LSAT prep courses since 1991, and has defined the standards by which all other preparation courses ought to be judged. MLIC trains more GMAT test-takers each month in all the major markets than Veritas Prep, Manhattan GMAT, Kaplan, Princeton Review, PowerScore, and others. For instance, MLIC GMAT trains between 30 and 40 test-takers each month in New York whereas Veritas Prep, Kaplan, Manhattan GMAT, Kaplan, Princeton Review, and others train on average about 10 to 15 persons over a 2-month period. In London, MLIC trains between 40 and 60 persons over a 2 month period whereas Veritas Prep, Kaplan, and Princeton Review train about 10 persons over the same period. When it comes to GMAT training, no company beats MLIC GMAT prep. MLIC takes GMAT preparation seriously, so seriously that we back up our training with a 620+ Score Guarantee®, a unique concept in the industry. No other test-preparation company dare offer such a guarantee because they do not measure up, and because prep courses such as the ones offered by Kaplan, Princeton Review, Manhattan GMAT, and all other GMAT courses are mere Q&A sessions that focus on giving you some cheap short-cuts instead of arming with the tools and effective procedures required to shoot for and achieve a GMAT score of better than 700.

Why are MLIC GMAT Courses better than Kaplan, Princeton Review, Veritas Prep, MGMAT, and others?

Three simple reasons:

- BEST TRAINING MATERIALS which are frequently updated to reflect LIVE emphasis on current GMAT administrations.
- BEST TRAINING METHODOLOGY
- BEST INSTRUCTORS, WHO HAVE OVER 10 YEARS OF TEACHING EXPERIENCE IN THE GMAT ASSESSMENT AREAS.

MLIC GMAT Training Materials:

MLIC updates its training materials and study guides on an on-going basis in order to be relevant to the current GMAT. Contrast this with Kaplan, which makes up its own useless questions and whose study guides are based on a few tricks that do not work, or with Princeton Review, which trains you at the level of Joe Blogg, who is a moron with an IQ of 80, or with Veritas Prep that 'buys' its tests from 800Score.com, Arco, Cambridge, and that uses retired GMAT questions that are not relevant to the current GMAT, or Manhattan GMAT that relies on the OG for GMAT that can be purchased for $25. You can see why MLIC is a clear winner in this area.

MLIC uses patent-pending CPSD methodology and the best instructors to train you professionally.

THINK MLIC FOR GMAT PREP.

Why are MLIC GMAT Courses the best?

- ① Goal-driven, skill-enhancing, and industry-leading
- ② 120 hours of Training in GMAT assessment areas— compare this to pitiful 18/24 hours by Kaplan / PR/ Manhattan GMAT.
- ③ 620-Plus Score Guarantee® backed up by training that is most relevant to the current GMAT content
- ④ MLICETS uses professional tutors versus part-time, clueless kids that other companies use
- ⑤ Best study guides and GMAT training materials.

2 Best Training Materials, Best Training methodology, and Best Instructors – MLIC

Educational Training Services, a division of MLIC and the leader in GMAT preparation, offers a choice of three prep courses to prepare for the GMAT-CAT.

PREPROGRAM COURSE WORK FOR ALL TURBOPREP COURSES

All Turboprep® GMAT course participants are required to complete at least 120 hours of training in three distinct phases: pre-course training for 40-50 hours; in-class training for 40 hours, and post-class training for at least 40 hours. All participants registered to attend our Turbo-Prep Courses must complete to the best of their ability pre-course assignments. The purpose of the pre-course work is to have the participants begin to review the concepts and procedures covering the different assessment areas of the GMAT so that the participants can maximize the impact of program attendance. The Turboprep course will build on the pre-course work and also review the concepts so that the participants can receive reinforcement of their understanding of the GMAT concepts and procedures.

Pre-class Assignments are expected to carry a burden of 40 to 50 hours and include

- ☐ Review of Analytical Writing Assessment; Issue and Argument essays; procedures for writing the two types of essays; Complete 5 essays.
- ☐ Review of Basics covering Sentence Correction, Critical Reasoning, and Reading Comprehension.
- ☐ Review of Quantitative concepts such as Numbers theory, factors, ratios, proportions, probability, algebra, and statistics 101 covering Mean, Median, Mode, Standard Deviation; Review of Geometry formulas.

Completion of pre-course assignments is a requirement for validating our Score Guarantee. If you sign up close to the start of in-class training, your in-class instructor will give you instructions for completing some aspects of pre-class training after the completion of in-class training.

The order of the course schedule may be varied by the instructor if he or she determines that the make-up of the group is such that quantitative review must precede verbal training. Even though the order in which the training in different areas may be changed, the content of the training will remain the same, and the intensity of coaching will remain unaltered.

ONE-ON-ONE PREP COURSES

are available in New York, Chicago, London, Frankfurt, Munich, and Singapore. Advance Scheduling is required and the fee is US$2,950 for 40 hours of personal training and one on one support.

WHY IS OUR COURSE FAR SUPERIOR TO THE ONES OFFERED BY KAPLAN OR PRINCETON REVIEW OR VERITAS?

- ❑ We offer the best training for the GMAT and provide conceptual understanding so vital to making logical decisions in the GMAT concept areas. The other courses try to teach you worthless shortcuts and attempt to improve the 'odds' of picking the correct answer. Our programs, on the contrary, will give you the skill and conceptual understanding required to pick the correct answer with confidence and 'certainty'.

- ❑ We offer twice as many in-class hours as do Kaplan and Princeton Review. On top of the in-class training hours, our courses involve pre-course training lasting at least 30 hours, and unlimited post-course support.
- ❑ Kaplan and Princeton Review Courses are 'Self study' Courses. They literally 'throw' a bunch of books at you and have you review some useless tricks and strategies at your own pace and convenience. Because they charge you an arm and a leg for a set of books, they will allow you the luxury of showing up at six or eight classes each lasting about 2 hours, and ask questions of a student tutor who will do the course for 'beer money'. Our courses employ MBA qualified instructors who are required to take the GMAT at least once a year and score better than 750 each time. Time after time, the feedback we receive from participants who have been through Kaplan or Princeton Review or Veritas is that our program is vastly superior to any competing alternative, and offers the BEST VALUE FOR TIME AND MONEY.

- ❑ REGISTER TODAY. You could never ask for a better use for your money and time. Register using our SECURE form at <https://www.mlic.net/gmat/gmatregister.shtml>

4 Best Training Materials, Best Training methodology, and Best Instructors – MLICETS

GMAT ONLINE PREP COURSE

FLEXIBILITY, ONE-ON-ONE FOCUSED TRAINING, DEDICATED INSTRUCTOR, ABILITY TO PURSUE THE TRAINING AT YOUR OWN PACE: In a nutshell, the GMAT ONLINE COURSE is all of the above and more. MLICETS was the first company to introduce the ONLINE prep course for the GMAT. Others such as Kaplan have since introduced 'video tutors' who will read from the book supplied to you. Unless you have a reading handicap, you will benefit little from Kaplan courses.

What makes our ONLINE Courses your best online training option? The human component to the training. Each participant is assigned to a dedicated instructor who is charged with the responsibility for monitoring your progress and for arranging telephonic reviews with you at regular intervals. Your dedicated instructor will provide tailored and weakness-specific help in the GMAT assessment areas so that you will be aware of the pattern of subconscious mistakes that hold you back from the score you deserve and are shooting for. The net result is an outstanding training course in which you receive focused one-on-one help in all the assessment areas of GMAT. You could not ask for a better deal than that.

The program is based on 5 modules of study and assignment materials dealing with the three assessment areas of the GMAT. The study files will explain all the concepts tested in the GMAT from scratch and walk you through plenty of examples applying each element of each concept. You will then be required to complete assignments and return them to us for review. The purpose of this exercise is to ascertain your comprehension of the information provided in the study files and to determine whether you are consciously applying the rules or not. The study materials and files are sent to you as Word documents or as PDF files as e-mail attachments. You will complete work on the study files, complete work on the assignments, save the assignments as "your name-assignment.doc" and send them back to us for review. In the U.S.A and in Canada, we may schedule a mid-term review telephonically in order to discuss your specific weaknesses and to help you understand what mistakes you are making on a consistent basis. You will be provided a toll-free number for this purpose. Participants from other parts of the world can schedule such reviews by calling us at the appointed time.

Each participant is assigned to a dedicated instructor, who is responsible for monitoring your progress and for determining what additional assignments are required to get you up to speed. You will be given deadline dates for completion of assignments but you can request an extension should you feel that you cannot meet the deadline. This human component to the training (versus playing on computers that Kaplan and PR courses require) makes a big difference to the training and to the outcome. MLICETS ONLINE prep – your best training option.

The fee for this program is US$695.00 everywhere. The fee is not refundable once you are set up and once we have sent you the first set of files. The fee covers support over a 12 week period from the time of dispatch of first set of assignments. Participants can choose to extend the time frame by another 12 weeks for an additional fee of US$395.00

DURATION OF THE GMAT ONLINE PREP COURSE

The ONLINE prep course participants are required to complete at least 100 hours of training typically spread over 4 to 6 weeks. The Accelerated Version of ONLINE training can be completed in 3 to 4 weeks. The number of hours that participants are expected to spend per week working on study and assignment completion, and participation in telephonic or online review can be computed by dividing the 100 hours by the number of weeks over which you wish to be trained. If you choose the 3 weeks accelerated option, you will be required to spend $100/3 = 34$ hours per week. If you choose the 6 weeks option, you will be required to spend $100/6 = 17$ hours per week. For any other period up to 12 weeks, you can do the math.

Here is the typical training schedule for participants following the normal schedule:

WEEK 1:

Module I Review AWA Basics complete 5 Writing Tasks.

WEEK 2:

MODULE IV Review Critical Reasoning Subject/Scope/Qualifier strategy; understand illogical and logical arguments; internalize the procedure for dealing with different types of questions covering logical and illogical arguments; Complete Critical Reasoning Diagnostic assignment involving 5 Exercises (100 arguments).

WEEK 3:

Receive Feedback on Week 2 assignments; Work on follow on CR exercises.

Do a final review of all concepts, and take several practice tests.

6 Best Training Materials, Best Training methodology, and Best Instructors – MLIC

3-Day Intensive Preparation Program for the GMAT

- ❖ A Crash Course in GMAT Readiness that gets you up and running. All GMAT prep courses offered by MLICETS require participants to complete 100 hours of training in the GMAT assessment areas, and the training is split in three distinct phases: Preprogram course work lasts 40 hours; in-class training lasts 24 hours; Post-course training lasts 40 hours.
- ❖ All MLICETS prep courses for the GMAT use our patent-pending CPSD methodology that uniquely identifies your specific weaknesses so that we can coach you in the relevant areas and get you to deal with the GMAT assessment areas competently and confidently.

Completion of preprogram assignments is a mandatory requirement for validating the score guarantee. In addition to preprogram assignments, you will also be required to complete assignments on day 2 and day 3 of the program and some post program assignments as well.

- ❖ Fee: US$1195 in U.S.A, C$1,195 + HST/GST in Canada, and US$1,595 elsewhere in Europe and in Far East including Australia, Singapore, Hong Kong, and Japan. The 3 Day intensive program is not offered in Bombay or in Delhi, India.
- ❖ Fees are not refundable for any reason (including no-show) once your participation is confirmed. Please bear in mind that we deny admission to interested participants on the basis of confirmation sent to you and also send you preprogram materials in advance of the program. Cancellation privilege is open to abuse and we do not allow it.

Who should attend the 3 Day program?

- ❖ Those who desire a quick pick-me-up and have the discipline to follow through the learning process with practice exercises and post program assignments will find this program a great value for their time and money. Those who have done some study on their own with some half-decent materials such as the OFFICIAL GUIDE TO GMAT PREPARATION and require additional training to smooth the rough edges and to gain insights into the concepts not explained in the Official guide alluded to above will also benefit from our program. If you have been through a program such as offered by Kaplan or Princeton Review, you might have to 'unlearn' some bad habits you might have learned at these 'trick factories'. Therefore, you may not choose the 3 Day intensive option but go for the 5 Day Turbo Prep option.

NOTE: The 3-day intensive GMAT prep course may not be appropriate if you are rusty in math or if your fluency in English language is not good. Choose the Turboprep course or the ONLINE prep course option.

How does the Score Guarantee work?

If, after completing all the mandatory preprogram, during-the-program, and post program work as required, and after attending the program without missing a session, you fail to reach a score of at least 620 when you take the test within 4 weeks after finishing the program, your subsequent prep support is free. No other liability or obligation, including but not limited to refund of fee paid, is implied in this guarantee.

We will decide in what form subsequent prep support will be provided. In some cases, we will ask you to attend another program and receive reinforcement and in other cases, we may work with you via online assignments and telephonic review.

FAQ's & ANSWERS

1. Do I need to be "computer-literate" to do well in the GMAT-CAT?

The only computer-skills you need to possess are (1) your ability to move a mouse, position the cursor, and do a mouse-click; and (2) your key-board skills. (You will be required to type out your AWA essays). If you do not have access to a computer at home or at work, you may want to practice using a type-writer so that you can type-out or word-process your essay with reasonable speed during the test. The testing will be preceded by a short tutorial on how to use the mouse and the key-board but you are advised to get familiar ahead of time with "word-processing" using the computer key-board. If you practice using a typewriter key-board, you may want to keep in mind that some of the keys on the computer key-board are unique and some others are placed differently.

Other than these "computer skills", you do not need to have any other "expertise" to do well in the GMAT-CAT.

The "Adaptivity" allows the computer to determine whether your skill as demonstrated by your response to a 'pool of questions' belongs at the 'above average' or 'below average' or at the 'average' level of a GMAT test-taker and makes it bring up questions that match your 'comfort level'. MLICETS preparation courses for the GMAT will train and coach you in the concept and procedural areas that are tested at the high difficulty level of the test in order to help you score better than 700 when you take the test. 2. Will I be allowed to use scratch paper and pencil or pen to work out my math problems?

YES. You will be given a special set of plastic sheets with fine-tipped felt pen for use during the test. Initially, you get about 6 sheets of scratch plastic sheets but you can get more if you need more.

3. Is guessing a wise strategy if I do not know the answer to a question?

You will be required to answer a question whether you know the "answer" or not. Which means that you will have to make an educated guess to pick an answer choice if you did not know how to set up the problem and work it out. Also, the test is front-loaded in that the questions appearing at the beginning of the test count for more than the ones that appear toward the end. In fact, you can get a very high score by completing only about 32 problems in quantitative assessment and about 36 questions in the verbal assessment. Also, remember that the initial set of questions will include questions that are not scored. If you get stuck on a problem – even if it happens at the beginning of the test – cut your losses and move on. Pacing is as critical as accuracy.

Pacing and confidence will improve if you are thoroughly prepped in the conceptual and procedural aspects of GMAT. This is where, we believe, MLIC coaching program can be of immense help to you. We train you using 'live' GMAT questions, not some made-up or retired questions as Kaplan, Princeton Review, Veritas Prep, Manhattan GMAT, and all others do. Choose MLIC for the best GMAT training.

4. Why should I choose your 5-day course when Kaplan and others offer 6-week course? (We get asked this a lot)

GMAT tests logical reasoning, and you should consider our 5-day courses that require you to complete 120 hours of prep (including about 42 hours in-class) with the 6-week 18-hour useless tricks sessions offered by Kaplan, Princeton Review, and others. Do not compare 5-days with 6 weeks. Compare 18 hours over 6 weeks with 120 hours of kick-ass training MLIC offers. You will see why MLIC is the best.

5. How have the scores changed since the switch to the new vendor – Pearson Vue?

We have noticed that the percentile ranking corresponding to a raw score – both scaled and total – have dropped for some test scores. For example, in the past, a score of 600 would have given you a percentile ranking of 80th percentile. Now it puts your score in the 70th percentile. This is the reason why MLIC has changed its Score Guarantee from 600+ to 620+. MLIC cares for you and will continue to provide the best GMAT training. Choose MLIC.

6. What is the Registration procedure for the GMAT?

If you want to register to take the test, the best option is to visit <http://www.mba.com> and sign up using the online form. If you want to register by phone, call 1 800 717 GMAT from within the USA / Canada. If you are in Continental Europe or in England, call +44 (0) 161 855 7219. If you are in Asia-Pacific Region, call +61 294 78 5430. You can register to take the test in India by calling +91 120 532 GMAT(4628). Read about other areas by going to <http://www.gmatpreparation.com/allaboutgmat.html>

7. Why is working with the Official Guide to GMAT review not good enough to get the top score?

Because, the official guide will not disclose the newer types of questions coming up on the test, because, if it does the integrity of the test will be compromised. We monitor the test and prepare you for the newer types of questions appearing on the test. Also, we will show you the most effective way to get a handle on all concept areas tested on the GMAT. The explanations provided in the official guide are meant for academic scholars, not for the out-of-an-academic-setting GMAT taker. We demystify the GMAT concept areas for you, and help you get a grip on all of the three assessment areas as no other program is capable of doing. We offer the best prep program for the GMAT. No doubt about it.

9. I have taken the other courses offered by Kaplan and Princeton Review. Do you use the same coaching methods?

MLICETS offers the BEST coaching program for the GMAT. For starters, we offer 100 hours of training in all training options. (the training hours are split in three distinct phases in our in-class training options). Compare this to the pitiful 18 to 24 hours of Q&A sessions run by Kaplan, Princeton Review, Manhattan GMAT, et al and using part-time students who may never have taken the GMAT ever. MLICETS uses the best training materials and coaching methods, and our training materials and study guides are frequently updated to reflect the changes taking place on the GMAT. MLICETS trains you to be competent and confident in the HIGH DIFFICULTY areas of the GMAT so that you can shoot for and achieve a GMAT score of 700 or better. Remember that if you choose Kaplan, Princeton Review, Manhattan GMAT, or any other GMAT prep you are choosing self-study options with the 'privilege' of showing up for some useless Q&A tutorial sessions. Only MLIC GMAT uses the CPSD methodology to uniquely identify your weaknesses in order to coach you in the relevant areas. MLIC GMAT – The best GMAT prep course.

This small, compact group size allows us to apply our CPSD methodology and to coach you in the GMAT assessment areas. [Enroll in the industry-leading MLIC GMAT prep courses today!
