Introduction

Edexcel International, in collaboration with Sage (UK) Limited, has developed an additional module in Computerised Accounting to supplement the London Examinations IGCSE Accounting (4305) specification. This module reflects the changing nature of accounting, where most work is now carried out using standard accounting software. Candidates will benefit from learning how to use such software, and this skill will be highly valued by potential employers.

Sage-Edexcel Computerised Accounting is not a required part of the IGCSE in Accounting. It is an optional and additional examined component designed to give candidates the opportunity to develop skills in using standard accounting software.

A knowledge of manual accounting systems is still essential because manual systems still exist, and because knowledge of the manual systems and processes gives candidates an underpinning knowledge of the computerised processes and systems. For instance, it is recommended that candidates cover the double entry system manually (including original documents and subsidiary books) before studying computerised accounting.

Sage (UK) Limited, the leading accounting software manufacturer, has agreed to provide participating centres with up-to-date accounting software, Sage Instant Accounts. Participating centres will be able to buy this software from Edexcel International at a reduced price. The usual Sage users' licence fee will be waived. Edexcel International will provide training for teachers in the use of the software by means of a supporting CD-ROM, as well as teacher training courses. See Appendix 3 for information about ordering the software, and the conditions of its use.

For the examination, Edexcel International will send a disk to the centre containing a case study. In the one-hour examination, candidates will be required to use the Sage software to perform the tasks described on the examination paper. The resulting printouts will be sent to Edexcel International for marking.

Provided that the candidate achieves at least a grade G in IGCSE Accounting, the candidate's certificate will be endorsed with the words "With Computerised Accounting", and graded Pass, Merit or Distinction. If the candidate does not achieve a pass mark in Computerised Accounting, no endorsement will be printed on the candidate's certificate.

Key features

- developed in collaboration with Sage (UK) Ltd, the leading accounting software producer
- centres will be provided with Sage accounting software at reduced cost
- Edexcel International will provide a disk with a case study
- examination can take place any time within a specified period
- during that period, batches of students can use the centre's facilities to sit the examination
- supported by a CD-ROM, with lesson plans and self-assessment tests.

Availability of examination sessions

The Sage-Edexcel Computerised Accounting module is only available to candidates who have been entered for IGCSE Accounting (4305). Initially, the module will be examined once a year in a 6-week period starting at the beginning of April. The exact date for each examination period will be published annually by London Examinations.

Computerised Accounting is available to all candidates, but centres wishing to make entries should note the following:

- each candidate will need a standard personal computer or laptop to complete the examination. The computers may be stand-alone, or linked to a network;
- since the candidates may sit the examination in batches, there is no need to have enough computers for the number of candidates (see page 4);
- centres must provide printing facilities for candidates to print out their answers at the end of the examination;
- the examination room needs to be set up by someone who understands the IT requirements, and ideally conducted by someone who has taught the course;
- centres which are unsure about their competence to offer this course should contact Edexcel International for further details (see page 29).

Scheme of assessment

Candidates' work will be externally assessed by Edexcel International against these three broad assessment criteria:

Accuracy Understanding Performance

Students will be required to sit a single examination.

Examination paper: Sage-Edexcel Computerised Accounting (4305/02)

1 hour (plus 10 minutes' reading time)

Note: Computerised Accounting (4305/02) cannot be taken in isolation from IGCSE Accounting. Candidates will not be awarded a grade for Computerised Accounting unless they have achieved at least grade G for IGCSE Accounting. Candidates may carry forward their Computerised Accounting award once in any 12-month period if they wish to re-take IGCSE Accounting.

Candidates will need to be taught the use of the Sage Instant Accounts software before entering for Computerised Accounting. The examination must not be taken by candidates using other accounting software. To obtain the software, please use the order form in Appendix 3.

The examination paper will be based on a case study. Data will be provided by London Examinations on a disk, and the examination supervisor will need to load the data on the disk onto the candidates' computers before the examination starts (see Instructions to Examination Supervisors on page 10). Candidates will have 10 minutes to read through the examination paper before the start of the 1-hour examination.

The printouts from each candidate must be sent to London Examinations for marking, along with the Candidate Cover Sheet (see Appendix 2).

Printing may be undertaken after the examination has finished. Candidates must be directed to the Instructions to candidates on the front of the examination paper for information on how to identify each candidate's work.

Only the printouts arising from the examination and the Candidate Cover Sheets should be submitted. No additional work should be included.

Centres may choose the exact time of the examination within the published 6-week period. This is to allow centres to use facilities and equipment to the best advantage for the number of candidates. It may be necessary for candidates to sit the examination in batches, but centres should keep the number of separate examination sittings to a minimum.

Candidates need not be kept separated from those who have already taken the test. There is no advantage to be gained by candidates if they communicate with others who have taken the examination on an earlier occasion within the 6-week period, since it is the skill in applying the software to solve accounting problems which is being assessed.

Assessment criteria

Errors cost time and money and the business world would seek to eliminate errors from the production of accounts. To reach the pass standard for Computerised Accounting, candidates will be allowed only a small number of errors. Errors and the ways in which they will be identified by examiners are given below.

Accuracy, understanding and performance will be assessed separately.

 - contains a character which is incorrect, or illegible for any reason
 - has omitted or additional characters or spaces
 - has no space between it and the following word.

The same error appearing more than once counts as one fault only.

- (b) Additions, inaccuracies and omissions. One fault will be given for each instance of
 - customer, supplier or nominal ledger record not amended or amended incorrectly
 - customer, supplier or nominal ledger record amended without instruction
 - transaction date entered incorrectly.
- (c) Presentation errors. No more than one fault per paper given for each of the following items
 - inconsistent use of upper and lower case characters
 - inconsistent use of initial capitals.

- (d) Additional, incorrect and omitted figures. One fault will be awarded for each instance of
 - invoice or credit note monetary amounts entered incorrectly
 - cheque and/or cash monetary amounts entered incorrectly
 - monetary amount amendments entered incorrectly.

2. Understanding

Understanding faults will be identified against selecting correct accounts and records, use of correct codes and use of correct processes.

- (e) Additions, omissions and transactions. One fault will be given per instance of
 - previous transaction amended incorrectly
 - transaction posted to the wrong nominal ledger account
 - transaction posted to the wrong bank or cash account
