4CN0/01R Paper 1: Listening

Principal Examiner's Report 2016

Overview

This listening paper counts for 25% of the qualification. It is assessed through an examination paper which lasts for 40 minutes, with an extra 5 minutes of reading time. The total mark for the paper is 50. Both Cantonese and Mandarin options are available.

The examination covers a range of topic areas as follows:

- home and abroad
- education and employment
- house, home and daily routines
- the modern world and the environment
- social activities, fitness and health

Students are required to listen to a range of factual and non-factual material of varying lengths, in different contexts and in different registers.

Comments

Questions 1, 2, 3, 6, 8

These were picture-based box-ticking questions. Q1, Q2 and Q3 were short sentences, and Q6 and Q8 were longer and more complicated. Almost all students did well in these questions and scored full marks; very few students failed to identify the correct information and lost marks in these questions.

Questions 4, 5, 7, 9

These were multiple choice questions with verbal content. Students were required to listen to a range of factual and non-factual material of varying lengths, in different contexts, read questions and make some choices in Chinese, selecting the correct answers accordingly.

The majority of students managed these questions well.

Question 10

This question was set in the target language and required answers in Chinese characters; the full mark was 7.

This was the most challenging question of this listening paper. Students were required to quickly identify relevant and accurate information from the densely compacted extract, and provide answers in a correct written form.

The majority of candidates secured two or more marks in this question, from 10(i) in which numerical answers (九年級/9年級) were accepted, and 10(vi). Candidates with good language ability also scored well for 10(ii), 10(iv) and 10(vii).

The strongest candidates managed to score well in 10(iii) and 10(vi).

For 10(iii), the key word for the correct answer was 大部分/很多学生是外国人.

10(vii) required the ability to identify the most relevant information and provide accurate, lengthy answers. The correct answer was '(常常)带狗去海边玩'.

Candidates who scored highly in this exam not only had good listening comprehension skills but were also able to write Chinese characters accurately.
