Q.7 Kamal Associates won first contract of the financial year on April 1, 2001 for destruction of a group of ten buildings of similar size and technical specification for a price of Rs 2 million. The work was to be completed within six months of an award of the contract failing that a penalty of 6% per annum of the contract price would be paid to the customer for the delay.

Following information was available as at June 30, 2001; the date on which Kamal Associates close their financial year. On that date five buildings were demolished.

Site labour Rs 200,000; site supervision Rs 150,000; material used Rs 250,000; depreciation on plant used at site Rs 100,000; general and administration costs Rs 50,000; research and development costs Rs 25,000; selling costs Rs 25,000; Other construction overheads Rs 200,000.

The management of Kamal Associates compared above information with budgeted cost of the contract and was satisfied with performance except that it would require four months to complete the rest of the contract. Due to delay in completion and inflation, cost over run would be as follows:

Increase in wages of site labour by 10%. Escalation in material cost by 15%. Other construction overhead would increase by 20%. Research and development cost by Rs 5,000.

Subsequent to June 30, 2001 Kamal Associates was notified of a claim of Rs 50,000 from a third party for damage done to a building next to the one demolished by Kamal Associates. Kamal Associates accepted the claim.
