Read the passage and answer the questions that follow.

YOU ARE A HERO

Don't look to others to rescue you.

Find your strength from within, writes Enhle Dhlamini.

- 1      Mariah Carey sang one of the most uplifting and truthful songs in the early 1990s. It is titled Hero and its lyrics are about finding the hero within yourself. A hero is described in the dictionary as a person who is admired for having done something brave or having achieved something great.
- 2      What does it take to be a hero today? Do you have to play soccer well or be rich to be called a hero? Do you need to have been part of the political struggle many years ago or must you have lots of physical strength? People have many definitions of a hero. 5
- 3      I believe that a hero is someone who lives his life with honesty. Being honest with yourself and with others takes courage and strength. Let me give an example: many people live with HIV/Aids or in poverty or in abusive relationships and yet only a few speak up about what they are going through. 10
- 4      Speaking up means facing the facts and having the courage to talk about your situation and how it has affected you. Imagine having to tell the world that you are living with HIV/Aids or to report to the police that your partner abuses you. It is not easy. 15
- 5      Speaking up about something that others may see as unacceptable takes courage, because you risk being rejected by those you love. However, the reward for speaking up about the problems and the pain you face is that you become your own hero. Instead of relying on others to rescue you from the pain and shame, you dig deep within yourself to find a hero. 20
- 6      What you probably don't know is that you also become a hero in the eyes of others. People admire the courage of those who speak out because they realise what enormous effort it takes. Many people are trapped by fear and cannot find their voices. By telling your story, you give others hope that life can be fulfilling, no matter how dim the situation seems. You can become a giant and a light for others. 25

A teacher in a class of his own

- 1 When Sibusiso Maseko gives lessons, he taps a foot and raps out questions to a swaying rhythm. The crowded classroom joins in and, like a music teacher conducting a choir, Maseko raises their chanting teenage voices to a peak. Then at a swift show of his hand, they all stop. Silence is restored.
- 2 Maseko is a 44-year-old science teacher at Zwelibanzi Secondary School. The school's lack of facilities – it has no laboratory equipment – has not stopped Maseko from inspiring a new generation of scientists. So successful has he been that, when the University of Cape Town called for its students to nominate their most influential teacher, Maseko's name came out tops. 5
- 3 Recently he received the institution's Tim Clark Teacher's Award at a function attended by Education Minister, Naledi Pandor, and about thirty of Maseko's former pupils. 10
- 4 'It's very rewarding when someone tells me, "Through your efforts I am where I am today," ' said Maseko.
- 5 His dedication has produced doctors and engineers who acknowledge their debt to him. Dr Susan Mazibuko, a GP who runs a practice outside Empangeni, was taught by Maseko. She says, 'Mr Maseko is a very passionate teacher. His lessons were a lot of fun, he got people involved, like it was a game. When he taught, everyone was excited, they were completely absorbed.' 15 20
- 6 An electrical engineer with Eskom, Sibusiso Mbatha, is another former pupil whose affections for Maseko run deep. 'He was more than a teacher to me: he was like a father,' said Mbatha.

Imagine that the following diary entries are from your diary. Read what has been written and answer the questions below.

Monday 7 January

I was very nervous about starting at a new school but things went really well. The staff – the security guard at the gate, the school secretary, the teachers and even the principal are so friendly. I felt a bit lost at first because I couldn't find anything. The laboratory, the library, the hall and the classrooms – they have so many wonderful facilities! I had more classes today than yesterday and most of the teachers are really cool. The Travel and Tourism teacher looks strict but we'll see. I look forward to the two-week tour to Mozambique that he is taking us on – it seems as if staff members organise all kinds of trips.

Tuesday 8 January

I am proud to be part of a school that is tops in every kind of sport. They have sports that I never thought I would do, like hockey and basketball. There are so many kinds, that I don't know what to choose. It's so exciting.

I have found a good friend whom I met on the school bus. She really is fun. I think Angie will like her. I am really impressed by the school transport. They have their own buses to transport learners. Transport was always such a drag at my former school.

If you wanted to write a postcard to a friend to tell him/her about your new school, you would have to give a summary of what you wrote in your diary.
