2b. Translate the following passage into French.

My two cousins arrived here this evening to spend a week camping in our huge garden. Armand is older than his sister and works in Paris. Sandrine is seventeen and she is still at school. I think she is pretty as she has long hair and blue eyes. I helped them put up their tents and when we had finished, Armand lit a fire and threw the match on the ground.

“Oh,” I said, surprised. “That’s extremely dangerous in the summer. It hasn’t rained for two months and everything is very dry.”

Immediately he put the match in a cup of water, saying, “I’m sorry. I forgot.” After eating we listened to Armand who played his guitar. It was fantastic. Sandrine and Armand don’t know this region, so during the holiday, my brother and I are going to show them our favourite walks in the countryside.
