Once upon a time, there was a king who needed someone to guard his treasure. He asked his wise servant to find him an honest watchman.

The servant prepared a feast and invited those whom he felt might be suitable to be a watchman. When the guests arrived, they had to walk through a dark passage to reach the dining room. As the guests were walking along the dark passage, they saw many small boxes filled with precious stones. There were also huge boxes filled with gold coins. At the end of the passage, there was a big treasure chest full of jewellery.

When the feast was over, the old servant asked everyone to dance. All of them lied that they were too full and gave reasons to leave except for a young man.

The wise servant went up to him and told him that he was an honest man. The young man was then chosen to be the king's watchman.

Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

John was not born blind. He met with an accident when he was five years old. The doctor told him that he might not be able to see again. John was very sad at first. He would miss watching his favourite cartoon or play his favourite sport, basketball. Later, John began to understand that he might not be able to see again. He began working harder than any normal person who can see and read.

John's parents placed him in a special school for the blind. John soon learnt to read Braille, a special language for the blind. He learnt very fast because he was a very smart kid.

John still enjoyed his favourite cartoon. While listening to the sounds, he was able to imagine the cartoon characters running around in his mind.

John was a very determined boy. He did not give up hope although he was blind.
