Read the passage carefully.

Once there was a beautiful queen who loved cats.

Queen Bella had all kinds of cats in her palace. There was a cat that she loved most. It was brown with dark green eyes. The cat kept its fur clean and beautiful by licking it with its tongue.

One warm morning, Queen Bella and her maids went to a river to bathe. She took the cat along. "Come, my lovely pet. You should wear my rings on your tail. I will tie them on your tail so that they will not fall off," said the queen. The cat wanted to protect the rings so it did not chase the butterflies. When Queen Bella had finished her bath, she realised that her cat's tail was crooked. She felt sorry for it.
