Linda returned home from school and went to look for her mother.

"Mother! I have something to tell you!" shouted Linda excitedly, as she ran into the kitchen. Mother had just tossed a fish into the frying pan. Before Linda could finish her sentence, Mother quickly gave her a gentle push and told her, "Don't disturb me now, dear. I am busy preparing dinner. Please wait outside."

After dinner, Mother was talking on the telephone with Linda's father who was working overseas. Linda sighed and went back to her room.

After one hour, Mother looked into Linda's room. "Did you want to tell me something, darling?" she asked. There was no reply. Linda had already fallen fast asleep. Mother walked over to kiss her little girl goodnight. She noticed a gold medal on the table. Linda had won the first prize in the National Storytelling Competition. She was waiting all night to share her joy and pride with someone she loved.

Tears welled up in Mother's eyes. She gently bent over to kiss her girl goodnight.
