Comprehension MCQ

Read the passage below and answer questions 26 to 30. Your answer must be based on the passage.

Once upon a time, there lived a king who ruled over a rich kingdom. He had a beautiful queen, four wise chief ministers and a royal astrologer who helped him make decisions.

However, neither the king nor his four chief ministers knew anything about magic which was necessary for victory in a battle. As he got older, the king was worried that if an army should invade his kingdom, it might easily be conquered. 5

One day, the king decided that it was time that he learnt magic. He heard of a great and famous magician living in a faraway kingdom. So, he set off on a long journey with his wife, four chief ministers and the astrologer. 10

When they found the master of magic, the king and his group were taught magic practices. They learnt how to change themselves easily into all kinds of animals and heavenly beings. Once their training was done, it was time to return to their own kingdom.

Unfortunately, after three days from the time they had set off, they got lost in a huge forest. As they had eaten all the food they had brought with them, they began to eat all the roots and berries they could find. Worried that they would die of hunger, the king then gathered everyone to solve the problem. The royal astrologer thought very hard. Soon, he suggested that they should all turn themselves into a tiger which would make it easier to catch other animals to eat. Everyone agreed. 20

Immediately, the four chief ministers turned into the four legs of the tiger, the astrologer into the tiger's tail while the queen into the tiger's body. The tiger's head being the most important was left for the king himself and within seconds, the king and his companions transformed into a tiger! 25

Section 1 (6 x 2 m)

Comprehension Open

Read the passage below and answer questions 55 to 60. Your answer must be based on the passage.

Once upon a time, there was a little boy named Henry who had always wished that he could fly. At the local zoo, he saw the storks flying gracefully. Ever since, Henry had this dream that he too could fly like a bird.

There was another little boy named Norman who was physically disabled. He had always wished that he could walk and run like other little boys and girls. 5

One day, Henry saw Norman playing in the sandbox. He ran over to Norman and asked him if he had ever wanted to fly like a bird.

"No," replied Norman. "However, I have wondered what it would be like to walk and run." 10

"That is very sad," said Henry. "Do you think we could be friends?"

"Sure," said Norman.

The two little boys played for hours until Norman's father came with a wheelchair to pick up his son. Henry ran over to Norman's father and whispered something into his ear. 15

"That's fine with me," said Norman's father with a smile on his face.

Henry ran over to his new friend and said, "You are my only friend and I wish that there was something that I could do to make you walk and run like other little boys and girls but I can't. Instead, there is something else that I can do for you." 20

Henry told his new friend to slide up onto his back. He then began to run across the grass. Henry ran as fast as his legs could carry him. Soon the wind just whistled across the two little boys' faces.

Norman's father began to cry as he watched his beautiful son beaming and flapping his arms up and down in the wind, yelling at the top of his voice, "I'm flying, Daddy. I'm flying!" 25
