Section F: Comprehension MCQ (5 × 1 mark)

Read the passage below and answer questions 21 to 25.

Congkak is a popular Malay game amongst women and children. This game is believed to have been first played by digging holes in the ground with sticks for placing stones. These stones were later replaced by rubber seeds. Today, the stones and rubber seeds have been replaced by multi-coloured marbles which are commonly available from neighbourhood shops.

Congkak players of today no longer need to dig holes in the ground as congkak boards which are made of wood can be bought from handicraft shops. The ordinary congkak boards are flat but there are some with designs of animals and vehicles.

It is an interesting game which is easy to play. Basically, two players will move simultaneously. If either of the player reaches a hole with no more playing seeds, the player has to stop. The player who has the most number of seeds wins the game.

There are three types of congkak. The five-hole congkak are popular with children while the seven-hole, with adults. The nine-hole set is mainly for display and rarely played because it takes up too much time.

Congkak is believed to have been played for at least two centuries. The exact date when it was first played is not known as there are no historical records of the game.

For each question from 21 to 25, four options are given. One of them is the correct answer. Make your choice (1, 2, 3 or 4). Shade your answer (1, 2, 3 or 4) on the OAS.

21. A congkak player of today needs a _____ to play this game.

'Jamel' is an Arabic word for camel which means God's gift. Indeed, the Jamel has been very important in the (40) _____ of a desert dweller. The camel is suited to desert condition. Its lips and mouths are thick and tough. The camel has double sets of eyelids on each eye, which have long curly lashes to (41) _____ sand from being blown into its eyes. The camel's nostrils and mouth can be closed tightly. The ears of the camels have thick hair to filter sand.

Perhaps the most important is the camel's (42) _____ to travel with heavy loads for many days without water. When water is available, it drinks in large amounts. It does not sweat as many animals do. The camel's milk can be used for (43) _____ and the hair for weaving.

Nowadays, the camel is not used as it once was. Modern transportation such as the four-wheel drive has replaced the camel.

Passage 2

There are 4 blanks numbered 44 to 47, in the passage below. Fill in each blank with a suitable word.

The emperor strode into an inn after a tiring day of hunting. He was extremely (44) _____ and demanded that the cook prepare something special for him to eat. ## Section K: Comprehension Open Ended (5 × 2 marks)

Read the passage below and answer Questions 52 to 56.
Your answers must be based on the passage.

Mr Tan, lived in a room in Chinatown. Recently, he had fallen ill and lost his job. As a result, he owed the landlady two months rent. One day, the landlady swaggered towards Mr Tan's room and screamed at the top of her voice. She demanded that Mr Tan pay what he owed her immediately.

The witty man began playing on his recorder. "Please excuse me. I have to play on my recorder for an hour. Otherwise money will not grow in my wallet and I won't be able to pay you my rent," explained Mr Tan politely. "You mean, the recorder can provide you with the money you need simply by playing on it?" asked the curious landlady.

"Certainly. This is a magic recorder," said Mr Tan.

The gullible landlady believed Mr Tan. "If you give me your instrument, I shall forget your debt," she said.

Mr Tan handed the recorder to the landlady. "Remember this! You must keep the recorder for a week before you can play on it or else you will not get any money," warned Mr Tan.

The landlady could not wait and spent the whole day at home blowing on her recorder. Hour after hour, she checked her purse. Nothing appeared! Shaking with rage, she confronted Mr Tan. He asked if she had obeyed his instructions. The landlady turned red with embarrassment and admitted that she was impatient. Mr Tan chided her for her impatience. He was laughing to himself for tricking the greedy and unsympathetic landlady.

ALL ANSWERS MUST BE IN COMPLETE SENTENCES.
