Comprehension MCQ (5 x 2 marks)

Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

During a great famine, a rich man invited the twenty poorest children of the village to his house. He brought out a large basket of bread and said to them, "There is a loaf of bread for each of you. Take it home and come back here every morning to collect your share from this basket." Immediately, the children rushed to the basket and in their haste, they began to quarrel and hit one another, as each wanted to take the biggest loaf. They left without thanking the rich man for his kind deed.

John, a timid boy, did not join in the rush for the loaves. He took the last one, the smallest that was left in the basket, went up to the man and thanked him before returning home.

The next day, the same thing happened and John returned home with the smallest loaf again. As his mother broke the loaf into two, out fell a number of gold coins. She was very surprised and worried. "Take all these back to the man immediately," she told John. "I'm sure there must be some mistakes." John took the loaf and the gold coins back to the rich man. He told John, "No, there is no mistake. Give the coins to your mother. I gave orders that some gold coins be placed in the smallest loaf. You are patient and contented with the smallest loaf so you should find something more than the others."

Choose the correct answer and write its number (1, 2, 3 or 4) in the brackets.

Comprehension Open Ended (5 x 2 marks)

Read the passage below and answer questions that follow. Write your answer in complete sentences.

One moment she was playing at the beach with her colleagues; the next, she was doubled up in pain.

Trina Ng, 19, was enjoying an afternoon on Sentosa beach when she was bitten by a mysterious sea creature so venomous that the bite turned her toe purple within minutes. That was a week ago.

Still in hospital, her right toe remains discoloured and she is unable to walk. What bit her remained a mystery.

She told the Straits Times yesterday, "I didn't feel any pain, I just remembered stepping on something rocky and suddenly my foot was going numb."

Trina, a customer service executive, had gone to Sentosa on August 11 for a three-day Company retreat held at Rasa Sentosa Resort. At 5 p.m., she and her colleagues were on the beach, wading in knee-high water about 20 metres away from the shore.

Then she was bitten.

Her colleague, Mr Leong, 25, was standing in front of her. He said, "I could see her face change. We helped her to shore and she was dripping with blood all over the sand."

Trina was taken to Singapore General Hospital by a colleague. By then, her entire foot was numb. She was given two injections to stop the poison from spreading but by 1 a.m., she could not feel anything below her knee.

The next day, her whole leg was swollen.

"I was so frightened I would lose my toe," she said. "The doctors said that if it turned black, they would have to cut it off. They did not know what to give me as they did not know what had bitten me."

She thinks it is a stonefish, a poisonous fish camouflaged in sand.

Luckily, the strong antibiotics worked. Still, she has to stay in hospital for two more weeks, as the poison remains in her body.

The Straits Time, August 19, 2000

Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow. Write your answers in complete sentences.

Q17. What was Miss Trina Ng's occupation?

Q18. What caused her right toe to be discoloured?

Q19. Where did the accident take place?

Q20. "The doctors said if it turned black, they would have to cut it off." What does the word "it" in the sentence refer to?

Q21. Did Miss Ng know what had bitten her? Which sentence in the passage tells you so?
