ENVS1343 Planning History and Thought

Answer any TWO questions.

1. Critically discuss the conditions of urban areas in the nineteenth century and the responses of government towards the problem.
2. Evaluate the contribution of the Garden Cities movement to the birth of town and country planning.
3. Outline the form and content of the Second World War Wartime Reports in Britain (1940-46) and their legacy for a modernised planning system.
4. 'At least when the Luftwaffe knocked down our buildings, it didn't replace them with anything more offensive than rubble. We did that... planning turned out to be the continuation of war by other means.' The Prince of Wales, 1984. Critically discuss this perspective of planning between 1945 and 1970.
5. "The Thatcher governments generated a radical change in the approach for planning and for the state that have had long-term implications" (Thornley, 1993). Discuss.
